[TWENTY-FIRST YEAR]

THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS

ALMANAC AND YEAR-BOOK

• FOR

1905

COMPILED BY JAMES LANGLAND, M. A.

ISSUED BY THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS COMPANY

[Copyright, 1904, by The Chicago Daily News Co.]

PREFACE.

The Daily News Almanac and Year Book for 1905, like the twenty volumes preceding it, is intended to be a handy and comprehensive book of reference for busy people. It aims to answer questions relating to politics, commerce, education, history, chronology and many other subjects briefly and correctly; to supply information that cannot in all cases be readily secured elsewhere, and to supplement encyclopedias and similar publications by summarizing and recording current events of importance. In seeking to do this the world has been included within the scope of the book, but the needs of the average American have been kept steadily in view. The data to be found on the following pages relate for the most part to the United States, but no country of any consequence has been slighted, as will be seen by referring to the index at the end of the volume. The usual amount of space has been devoted to information of more particular interest to residents of the central west, of Illinois and of Chicago.

Chicago Daily News Almanac and Year Book. 1905.

NOTE.—The time given in this Almanac is local mean time, except when otherwise indicated.

ECLIPSES.

In the year 1905 there will be four eclipses, two of the Sun and two of the Moon.

I.—A Partial Eclipse of the Moon, February 19-20. Invisible. Visible to Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia.

II.—An Annular Eclipse of the Sun, March 6. Invisible. Visible to Australia, Polynesia and the South Indian Ocean. The path of annulus passing through the southeastern part of Australia.

III.—A Partial Eclipse of the Moon, August 14-15. Visible generally throughout the whole to North and South America and the Atlantic Ocean, and in part to Europe, Africa and the Pacific Ocean.

IV.—A Total Eclipse of the Sun, August 30. Visible to Europe and the North Atlantic Ocean, and to the eastern portions of North America, the western part of Asia, and the northern half of Africa.

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN AUG. 30, 1905.

When the sun rises in Chicago Aug. 30, 1905, only a little more than one-half of the orb will be visible, the unobscured portion resembling a crescent as shown in figure 1.

The moon strikes the sun's disk at 4:40 a. m., central time, and as sunrise in Chicago does not occur until 5:12 o'clock on the date mentioned the first contact will be invisible. When the eclipse is greatest, which in this latitude will be at 5:34:07

At 6:28:14 the eclipse comes to an end, the moon leaving the lower edge of the sun's disk at the point "c" as shown in figure 3.

The total duration of the eclipse is 1 hour 48 minutes and 14 seconds and the time of visibility in Chicago 1 hour 16 minutes and 14 seconds.

ECLIPSES OF THE MOON IN 1905.

Lunar eclipse of Feb. 19-20 as it will be seen in the Philippine Islands. At Manila the first contact will occur at 1:58 a. m. of the 20th; the greatest eclipse at "b" at 3:04 a. m. and the last contact at "c" at 4:11 a. m.

Lunar eclipse visible in the United States on the evening of Aug. 14 and morning of the 15th. Point of first contact at "a," greatest eclipse at "c" and last contact at "b."

NOTE.—To ascertain any day of the week first look in the table for the year required and under the months are figures which refer to the corresponding figures at the head of the columns of days below. For Example: To know on what day of the week July 4 was in the year 1895, in the table of years look for 1895, and in a parallel line, under July, is figure 1, which directs to column 1. in which it will be seen that July 4 falls on Thursday.

*1752 same as 1772 from Jan. 1 to Sept. 2. From Sept. 14 to Dec. 31 same as 1780 (Sept. 3-13 were omitted).—This Calendar is from Whitaker's London Almanack, with some revisions.

*Or at sunset, Sept. 29.

The year 5665 is the third of the 299th cycle of 19 years since the beginning of the era. It is an embolismic year and contains 13 months; the added month being Ve-Adar or 2d Adar, containing 30 days, making 385 days in this year. When two dates are given for the beginning of a month in the preceding calendar, the last one is always reckoned as the date of beginning (Rosh-Chodesh).

*Peculiar to Russia. †The day set apart for the commemoration of the crowning of the emperor refers, of course, to the coronation of the present czar, and when his successor is crowned the date will be changed. Sept. 12, St. Alexander Nevsky, is in honor of a former ruler, born in 1219, a national hero, who defeated the invading Swedes in 1240 on a branch of the river Neva, and hence his surname Nevsky. Except in the time of observing Easter, the Greek church and catholic holy days practically agree. It is quite probable that the Russian people will get in touch with the rest of the civilized world before long and adopt the Gregorian time.

HAGUE DECISION IN THE VENEZUELA CASE.

The Hague arbitrators, to whom were referred the claims of various countries against Venezuela, announced their decision Feb. 22, 1904. They declared that the three blockading powers, Great Britain, Germany and Italy, were entitled to a preference of 30 per cent of the customs duties at Puerto Cabello and La Guayra. After the money due these nations shall have been paid the other claims shall be taken up in the order of filing and satisfied. It was also decided that the litigants must pay their own costs in the procedure and divide equally the expense of the tribunal. The arbitrators imposed upon the United States the duty of carrying out the decision in so far as it related to the payment of the costs.

LONGEST NONSTOP RAILROAD RUN.

The longest railroad run in the world without a stop is that on the Great Western railroad in England from London to Plymouth, a distance of 246 miles. A daily train, called the "Cornishman limited express," makes the journey in each direction in 265 minutes. This calls for an average speed of 55.69 miles an hour.

UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE.

(Civil-service act approved Jan. 16, 1883.)

Officers—Three commissioners are appointed by the president to assist him in classifying the government offices and positions, formulating rules and enforcing the law. Their office is in Washington, D. C. The chief examiner is appointed by the commissioners to secure accuracy, uniformity and justice in the proceedings of the examining boards. The secretary to the commission is appointed by the president.

General Rules—The fundamental rules governing appointments to government positions are found in the civil-service act itself. Based upon these are many other regulations formulated by the commission and promulgated by the president from time to time as new contingencies arise. The present rules were approved March 20, 1903, and went into effect April 15, 1903. In a general way they require that there must be free, open examinations of applicants for positions in the public service; that appointments shall be made from those graded highest in the examinations; that appointments to the service in Washington shall be apportioned among the states and territories according to population; that there shall be a period (six months) of probation before any absolute appointment is made; that no person in the public service is for that reason obliged to contribute to any political fund or is subject to dismissal for refusing to so contribute; that no person in the public service has any right to use his official authority or influence to coerce the political action of any person. Applicants for positions shall not be questioned as to their political or religious beliefs and no discrimination shall be exercised against or in favor of any applicant or employee on account of his religion or politics. The classified civil service shall include all officers and employees in the executive civil service of the United States except laborers and persons whose appointments are subject to confirmation by the senate.

Examinations—These are conducted by boards of examiners chosen from among persons in government employ and are held twice a year in all the states and territories at convenient places. In Illinois, for example, they are usually held at Cairo, Chicago and Peoria. The dates are announced through the newspapers or by other means. They can always be learned by applying to the commission or to the nearest postoffice or custom house. Those who desire to take examination are advised to write to the commission in Washington for the "Manual of Examinations," which is sent free to all applicants. It is revised semiannually to Jan. 1 and July 1. The January edition contains a schedule of the spring examinations and the July edition contains a schedule of the fall examinations. Full information is given as to the methods and rules governing examinations, manner of making application, qualifications required, regulations for rating examination papers, certification for and chances of appointment, and as far as possible it outlines the scope of the different subjects of general and technical examinations. These are practical in character and are designed to test the relative capacity and fitness to discharge the duties to be performed. It is necessary to obtain an average percentage of 70 to be eligible for appointment, except that applicants entitled to preference because of honorable discharge from the military or naval service for disability resulting from wounds or sickness incurred in the line of duty need obtain but 65 per cent. The period of eligibility is one year.

Qualifications of Applicants—No person will be examined who is not a citizen of the United States; who is not within the age limitations prescribed; who is physically disqualified for the service which he seeks; who has been guilty of criminal, infamous, dishonest or disgraceful conduct; who has been dismissed from the public service for delinquency and misconduct or has failed to receive absolute appointment after probation; who is addicted to the habitual use of intoxicating liquors to excess, or who has made a false statement in his application. The age limitations in the more important branches of the public service are: Postoffice, 18 to 45 years; rural letter carriers, 17 to 55; internal revenue, 21 years and over; railway mail, 18 to 35; lighthouse, 18 to 50; life saving, 18 to 45; general departmental, 20 and over. These age limitations are subject to change by the commission. They do not apply to applicants of the preferred class. Applicants for the position of railway mail clerk must be at least 5 feet 6 inches in height, exclusive of boots or shoes, and weigh not less than 135 pounds in ordinary clothing and have no physical defects. Applicants for certain other positions have to come up to similar physical requirements.

Method of Appointment—Whenever a vacancy exists the appointing officer makes requisition upon the civil-service commission for a certification of names to fill the vacancy, specifying the kind of position vacant, the sex desired and the salary. The commission thereupon takes from the proper register of eligibles the names of the three persons standing highest of the sex called for and certifies them to the appointing officer who is required to make the selection. He may choose any one of the three names, returning the other two to the register to await further certification. The time of examination is not considered, as the highest in average percentage on the register must be certified first. If after a probationary period of six months the name of the appointee is continued on the roll of the department in which he serves the appointment is considered absolute.

Removals—No person can be removed from a competitive position except for such cause as will promote the efficiency of the public service and for reasons given in writing. No examination of witnesses nor any trial shall be required except in the discretion of the officer making the removal.

Salaries—Entrance to the departmental service is usually in the lowest grades, the higher grades being generally filled by promotion. The usual entrance grade is about $900, but the applicant may be appointed at $840, $760 or even $600.

RATES OF POSTAGE AND MONEY ORDERS.

DOMESTIC.

Embraces the United States and island possessions, including Hawaii, Porto Rico, the Philippines, Guam and Tutuila.

FIRST CLASS.—Letters and all written or partly written matter, whether sealed or unsealed, and all other matter sealed or otherwise closed against inspection, 2 cents per ounce or fraction thereof. Postal cards issued by the government sold at 1 cent each; double, or reply cards, 2 cents each. Cards must not be changed or mutilated in any way and no printing or writing other than the address is allowable on the address side. "Private mailing cards" (post cards) require 1 cent postage. These cards must conform in shape and quality and weight of paper used to the cards issued by the government. Each card must be an unfolded piece of cardboard not exceeding 3 9-16 by 5 9-16 inches, nor less than 2 15-16 by 4 1/2 inches, and must bear at the top of the address side the words "Post Card." Advertisements and illustrations may be printed on either side provided they do not interfere with the distinctness of the address or postmark.

Among the articles requiring first-class postage are blank forms filled out in writing; certificates, checks and receipts filled out in writing; copy (manuscript or type-written) unaccompanied by proof sheets; plans and drawings containing written words, letters or figures; price lists containing written figures changing individual items; old letters sent singly or in bulk; type-written matter and manifold copies thereof, and stenographic notes.

SECOND CLASS.—All regular newspapers, magazines and other periodicals issued at stated intervals not less frequently than four times a year, when mailed by publishers or news agents, 1 cent a pound or fraction thereof; when mailed by others, 1 cent for each four ounces or fractional parts thereof.

THIRD CLASS.—Books, circulars, pamphlets and other matter wholly in print (not included in second-class matter), 1 cent for each two ounces or fractional part thereof. The following named articles are among those subject to third-class rate of postage: Almanacs, architectural designs, blue prints, bulbs, seeds, roots, scions and plants, calendars, cards, press clippings with name and date of papers stamped or written in, engravings, samples of grain in its natural condition, imitation of hand or type written matter when mailed at postoffice window in a minimum number of twenty identical copies separately addressed; insurance applications and other blank forms mainly in print; printed labels, lithographs, maps, music books, photographs, tags, proof sheets, periodicals having the character of books and publications which depend for their circulation upon offers of premiums.

FOURTH CLASS.—All matter not in the first, second or third class, which is not in its form or nature liable to destroy, deface or otherwise damage the contents of the mailbag or harm the person of any one engaged in the postal service, 1 cent an ounce or fraction thereof. Included in fourth-class mail matter are the following articles: Blank books, blank cards or paper, blotters, playing cards, celluloid, coin, crayon pictures, cut flowers, metal or wood cuts, drawings, dried fruit, dried plants, electrotype plates, framed engravings, envelopes, geological specimens, letterheads, cloth maps, samples of merchandise, metals, minerals, napkins, oil paintings, paper bags or wrapping paper, photograph albums, printed matter on other material than paper, queen bees properly packed, stationery, tintypes, wall paper and wooden rulers bearing printed advertisements.

UNMAILABLE MATTER.—Includes that which is prohibited by law, regulation or treaty stipulation and that which by reason of illegible or insufficient address cannot be forwarded to destination. Among the articles prohibited are poisons, explosives or inflammable articles, articles exhaling bad odors, vinous, spirituous and malt liquors, specimens of disease germs, lottery letters and circulars, indecent and scurrilous matter.

SPECIAL DELIVERY.—Any article of mailable matter bearing a 10-cent special-delivery stamp in addition to the regular postage is entitled to immediate delivery on its arrival at the office of address between the hours of 7 a. m. and 11 p. m., if the office be of the free-delivery class; and between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m., if the office be other than a free-delivery office.

REGISTRATION.—All mailable matter may be registered at the rate of 8 cents for each package in addition to the regular postage, which must be prepaid. An indemnity not to exceed $10 for any one piece, or the actual value if less than $10, will be paid for the loss of first-class registered matter.

LIMITS OF WEIGHT.—No package of third or fourth class matter weighing more than four pounds, except single books, will be received for conveyance by mail. The limit of weight does not apply to second-class matter mailed at the second-class rate of postage, or at the rate of 1 cent for each four ounces, nor is it enforced against matter fully prepaid with postage stamps affixed at the first-class or letter rate of postage.

MONEY-ORDER FEES.—For domestic money orders in denominations of $100 or less the following fees are charged:

For orders for sums not exceeding $2.50	...3c
For over $2.50 and not exceeding $5	...5c
For over $5 and not exceeding $10	...8c
For over $10 and not exceeding $20	...10c
For over $20 and not exceeding $30	...12c
For over $30 and not exceeding $40	...15c
For over $40 and not exceeding $50	...18c
For over $50 and not exceeding $60	...20c
For over $60 and not exceeding $75	...25c
For over $75 and not exceeding $100	...30c

SUGGESTIONS.—Direct your mail matter to a postoffice, writing the name of the state plainly; and if to a city, add the street and number or postoffice box of the person addressed. Write or print your name and address, and the contents. If a package, upon the upper left-hand corner of all mail matter. This will insure the immediate return of all first-class matter to you for correction, if improperly addressed or insufficiently paid; and if it is not called for at destination it can be returned to you without going to the dead-letter office. If a letter, it will be returned free. Undelivered second, third and fourth class matter will not be forwarded or returned without a new prepayment of postage. When a return card appears on this matter either the sender or addressee is requested to send the postage. Register all valuable letters and packages.

FOREIGN.

Mall matter may be sent to any foreign country subject to the following rates and conditions:

REGISTRATION.—Eight cents additional to ordinary postage on all articles to foreign countries.

ON LETTERS.—Five cents for each half ounce or fraction thereof—prepayment optional except as to Canada and Mexico. Double rates are collected on delivery of unpaid or short-paid letters.

POST CARDS.—Single, 2 cents each; with paid reply, 4 cents each.

"Private Mailing Cards" (Post Cards).—Two cents each, subject to conditions governing domestic post cards.

On newspapers, books, pamphlets, photographs, sheet music, maps, engravings and similar printed matter, 1 cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof. Prepayment required at least in part.

TO CANADA (including Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island).—Letters, 2 cents for each ounce or fraction thereof; postal cards, 1 cent each; books, circulars and similar printed matter, 1 cent for each two ounces or fraction thereof; second-class matter, same as in the United States; samples of merchandise, 1 cent for each two ounces. Minimum postage, 2 cents. Merchandise, 1 cent for each ounce or fraction. Packages must not exceed four pounds in weight—prepayment compulsory.

CUBA.—Rates of postage same as to the United States.

TO MEXICO.—Letters, postal cards and printed matter, same rates as in the United States; samples, 1 cent for each two ounces; 2 cents the least postage on a single package; merchandise other than samples can be sent only by parcels post.

TO SHANGHAI, CHINA.—Letters, 2 cents an ounce or fraction thereof.

LIMITS OF SIZE AND WEIGHT.—Packages of samples of merchandise to foreign countries must not exceed twelve ounces, nor measure more than twelve inches in length, eight in breadth and four in depth; and packages of printed matter must not exceed four pounds six ounces.

PARCELS POST.

Unsealed packages of mailable merchandise may be sent by parcels post to Jamaica, including the Turks and Caicos islands, Barbados, the Bahamas, British Honduras, Guatemala, republic of Honduras, Mexico, the Leeward Islands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, the republic of Colombia, Salvador, Costa Rica, the Danish West India islands—St. Thomas, St. Croix and St. John—British Guiana, the Windward Islands, Newfoundland, Trinidad, including Tobago, and Germany at the postage rate and subject to the conditions herein prescribed. Parcels may also be sent to Chile and Venezuela, subject to these conditions, at the rate of 20 cents per pound or fractional part thereof.

Limit of weight.....11 pounds
Greatest length.....3 feet 6 inches
Postage.....12c a pound or fraction thereof
Greatest length and girth combined...6 feet

Except that parcels for Colombia, Costa Rica and Mexico must not measure more than two feet in length or more than four feet in girth.

A parcel must not be posted in a letter box, but must be taken to the postoffice window and presented to the person in charge, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 5 p. m., where a record will be made and a receipt given therefor.

THE HOMESTEAD LAW.

Any person who is the head of a family, or who is 21 years old and is a citizen of the United States, or has filed his declaration of intention to become such, and who is not the proprietor of more than 160 acres of land in any state or territory, is entitled to enter one-quarter section (160 acres) or less quantity of unappropriated public land under the homestead laws. The applicant must make affidavit that he is entitled to the privileges of the homestead act and that the entry is made for his exclusive use and for actual settlement and cultivation, and must pay the legal fee and that part of the commissions required, as follows: Fee for 160 acres, $10; commission, $4 to $12; fee for eighty acres, $5; commission, $2 to $6. Within six months from the date of entry the settler must take up his residence upon the land and cultivate the same for five years continuously. At the expiration of this period, or within two years thereafter, proof of residence and cultivation must be established by four witnesses. The proof of settlement, with the certificate of the register of the land office, is forwarded to the general land office at Washington, from which a patent is issued. Final proof cannot be made until the expiration of five years from date of entry, and must be made within seven years. The government recognizes no sale of a homestead claim. After the expiration of fourteen months from date of entry the law allows the homesteader to secure title to the tract, if so desired, by paying for it in cash and making proof of settlement, residence and cultivation for that period.

The law allows only one homestead privilege to any one person.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES USED IN THE UNITED STATES.

MEASURES OF LENGTH.

12 inches = 1 foot.	8 furlongs = 1 mlie	= 5,280 feet.
3 feet = 1 yard	1.133 miles = 1 geograph mile	= 6,085 feet
5½ yards = 1 rod	1.153 miles = 1 nautical (knot) mile	= 6,085 feet
40 rods = 1 furlong = 660 feet.	1 fathom = 6 feet.

LIQUID MEASURE.

4 gills = 1 pint.
2 pints = 1 quart.
4 quarts = 1 gallon.
31½ gallons = 1 barrel.
2 barrels = 1 hogshead.

DRY MEASURE.

2 pints = 1 quart.
8 quarts = 1 peck.

APOTHECARIES' WEIGHT.

20 grains = 1 scruple.
3 scruples = 1 dram.
8 drams = 1 ounce.
12 ounces = 1 pound.

TROY WEIGHT.

20 pennyw's = 1 ounce.
12 ounces = 1 pound.

AVOIRDUPOIS WEIGHT.

27 11-32 grains = 1 dram.	2,000 lbs. = 1 short ton.
16 drams = 1 ounce.	2,240 lbs. = 1 long ton.
16 ounces = 1 pound.

SQUARE MEASURE.

144 square inches = 1 square foot.
9 square feet = 1 square yard.
30¼ square yards = 1 square rod.
160 square rods = 1 acre.
640 acres = 1 square mlie.
36 square miles = 1 township.

CUBIC MEASURE.

1,728 cubic inches = 1 cubic foot.
27 cubic feet = 1 cubic yard.
128 cubic feet = 1 cord of wood or stone.
1 gallon contains 231 cubic inches.
1 bushel contains 2,150.4 cubic inches.
A cord of wood is 8 ft. long, 4 ft. wide & 4 ft. high

TIME MEASURE.

60 minutes = 1 hour.
24 hours = 1 day.
365 days = 1 year.

STATIONERS' TABLE.

20 quires = 1 ream.
2 reams = 1 bundle.
5 bundles = 1 bale.

COUNTING.

12 things = 1 dozen.
12 dozen = 1 gross.
12 gross = 1 great gross
20 things = 1 score.

METRIC SYSTEM.

The metric system is compulsory in Germany, Austria-Hungary, Belgium, Spain, France, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Portugal, Roumania, Servia, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, Argentine Republic, Brazil, Chile, Mexico, Peru and Venezuela.

WEIGHTS.

Milligram (.001 gram)	= .0154 grain.
Centigram (.01 gram)	= .1543 grain.
Decigram (.1 gram)	= 1.5432 grains.
Gram	= 15.432 grains.
Decagram (10 grams)	= .3527 ounce.
Hectogram (100 grams)	= 3.5274 ounces.
Kilogram (1,000 grams)	= 2.2046 pounds.
Myriagram (10,000 grams)	= 22.046 pounds.
Quintal (100,000 grams)	= 220.46 pounds.
Millier or tonneau—ton (1,000,000 grams)	= 2,204.6 pounds.

DRY.

Milliliter (.001 liter)	= .061 cubic inch.
Centiliter (.01 liter)	= .6102 cubic inch.
Deciliter (.1 liter)	= 6.1022 cubic inches.
Liter	= .908 quart.
Decaliter (10 liters)	= 9.08 quarts.
Hectoliter (100 liters)	= 2.838 bushels.
Kiloliter (1,000 liters)	= 1.308 cubic yards.

LIQUID.

Milliliter (.001 liter)	= .0388 fluid ounce.
-------------------------	----------------------

Deciliter (.1 liter)	= .345 gill.
Liter	= 1.0567 quarts.
Decaliter (10 liters)	= 2.6418 gallons.
Hectoliter (100 liters)	= 26.417 gallons.
Kiloliter (1,000 liters)	= 264.18 gallons.

LENGTH.

Millimeter (.001 meter)	= .0394 inch.
Centimeter (.01 meter)	= .3937 inch.
Decimeter (.1 meter)	= 3.937 inches.
Meter	= 39.37 inches.
Decameter (10 meters)	= 393.7 inches.
Hectometer (100 meters)	= 3,281 feet 1 inch.
Kilometer (1,000 meters)	= .62137 mile (3,280 feet 10 inches).
Myriameter (10,000 meters)	= 6.2137 miles.

SURFACE.

Centare (1 square meter)	= 1.550 sq. inches.
Are (100 square meters)	= 119.6 sq. yards.
Hectare (10,000 sq. meters)	= 2.471 acres.

WEIGHTS OF DIAMONDS AND FINENESS OF GOLD.

The weight of diamonds and other precious stones is expressed in carats, grains and quarter-grains. The grains are pearl grains, one of which is equal to four-fifths of a troy grain. Four quarter-grains make one grain and four grains make one carat. A carat is therefore equal to four-fifths of four troy grains, or 3.2.

The fineness of gold is also expressed in carats. Pure gold is said to be twenty-four carats fine. If it contains eight parts of a baser metal or alloy it is only sixteen carats fine. The carats therefore indicate the proportion of pure gold to alloy. Most of the gold used by jewelers is about fourteen carats fine, having ten parts of alloy.

DISTANCES TO INSULAR POSSESSIONS.

San Francisco to Honolulu, 2,089 miles.
San Francisco to Manila, 6,789 miles.
San Francisco to Tutuila, 4,408 miles.
San Francisco to Guam, 5,589 miles.

New York to San Juan, P. R., 1,425 miles.
New York to Manila, 11,361 miles.
Tampa to Key West, 250 miles.
Key West to San Juan, P. R., 1,050 miles.

WEATHER FORECASTS AND SIGNALS.

The weather bureau of the United States department of agriculture publishes daily more than 100,000 weather bulletins, not counting the forecasts in the newspapers. Most of these bulletins are in the form of postal cards printed by postmasters from telegraphic reports and sent by them, to outlying towns for display at suitable points. There is also an elaborate system of redistribution by means of telephones and railroads from established centers, so that there are comparatively few accessible places which do not now receive daily weather forecasts within a very short time after the observers have completed their work. The old system of conveying information about the weather by means of flag displays is also in general use.

EXPLANATION OF WEATHER FLAGS.

No. 1.
White flag.

Clear or fair weather.

No. 2.
Blue flag.

Rain or snow.

No. 3.
White and blue flag.

Local rain or snow.

No. 4.
Black triangular flag.

Temperature.

No. 5.
White flag with black square in center.

Cold wave.

When No. 4 is placed above No. 1, 2 or 3 it indicates warmer; when below, colder; when not displayed, the temperature is expected to remain about stationary. During the late spring and early fall the cold-wave flag is also used to indicate anticipated frosts.

EXPLANATION OF STORM-WARNING FLAGS.

Northwest winds. Southwest winds. Northeast winds. Southeast winds. "Hurricane" signal.

A red flag with a black center indicates that a storm of marked violence is expected. The pennants displayed with the flags indicate the direction of the wind; Red, easterly (from northeast to south); white, westerly (from southwest to north). The pennant above the flag indicates that the wind is expected to blow from the northerly quadrants; below, from southerly quadrants.

By night a red light indicates easterly winds and a white light above a red light westerly winds.

Two red flags, with black centers, displayed one above the other, indicate the expected approach of tropical hurricanes, and also of those extremely severe and dangerous storms which occasionally move across the lakes and northern Atlantic coast. Hurricane warnings are not displayed at night.

THERMOMETERS COMPARED.

There are three kinds of thermometers, with varying scales, in general use throughout the world—the Fahrenheit, Reaumur and Centigrade. The freezing and boiling points on their scales compare as follows:

Thermometer.	Freezing pt.	Boiling pt.
Fahrenheit	32 degrees	212 degrees
Reaumur	zero	80 degrees
Centigrade	zero	100 degrees

The degrees on one scale are reduced to their equivalents on another by these formulas:

Fahrenheit to Reaumur—Subtract 32, multiply by four-ninths.

Fahrenheit to Centigrade—Subtract 32, multiply by five-ninths.

Reaumur to Fahrenheit—Multiply by nine-fourths, add 32.

Reaumur to Centigrade—Multiply by five-fourths.

Centigrade to Fahrenheit—Multiply by nine-fifths, add 32.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARIES.

First—Cotton.
Second—Paper.
Third—Leather.
Fifth—Wooden.
Seventh—Woolen.

Tenth—Tin.
Twelfth—Silk and fine linen.
Fifteenth—Crystal.
Twenty—China.
Twenty-fifth—Silver.

Thirtieth—Pearl.
Fortieth—Ruby.
Fiftieth—Golden.
Seventy-fifth—Diamond.

RELATIVE PRICES OF COMMODITIES.

In this table, prepared by the department of labor in Washington, the average wholesale price in New York and other primary markets of each article for the years 1890-1899, inclusive, is taken as the base price and is represented by 100. The relative price is the average wholesale price for each year from 1892 to 1903, inclusive, compared with the base price.

COPYRIGHT REGULATIONS.

The articles specified by law as proper subjects of copyright are: Books, maps, charts, dramatic compositions, musical compositions, engravings, cuts, prints, photographs, photographic negatives, chromos, lithographs, periodicals, paintings, drawings, statuary and models or designs intended to be perfected as works of fine art.

Any one desiring to secure a copyright should send to the librarian of congress for a blank application. This must be filled up according to the printed directions, which will be found plainly and specifically given on the blank itself. A printed or typewritten copy of the title of the article to be copyrighted must accompany the application; in the case of paintings, drawings, statuary or designs, descriptions must be included. On or before the day of publication two complete copies of the book or other article must be sent to the library of congress to perfect the copyright.

The fee for the entry of title of production of a citizen of the United States is 50 cents; for a foreigner, $1; certificate, 50 cents additional in either case. Remittances must be made by money order, express order or bank draft; postage stamps and checks will not be accepted. The copyright is for twenty-eight years, but it may be renewed for fourteen more.

APPLICATIONS FOR PATENTS.

[Condensed from Rules of Practice in the United States patent office.]

A patent may be obtained by any person who has invented or discovered any new and useful art, machine, manufacture or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof not previously patented or described in this or any other country, or more than two years prior to his application, unless the same is proved to have been abandoned. A patent may also be obtained for any new design for a manufacture, bust, statue, alto-relievo or bas-relief; for the printing of woolen, silk or other fabrics; for any new impression, ornament, pattern, print or picture to be placed on or woven into any article of manufacture; and for any new, useful and original shape or configuration of any article of manufacture, upon payment of fees and taking the other necessary steps.

Applications for patents must be in writing, in the English language and signed by the inventor if alive. The application must include the first fee of $15, a petition, specification and oath, and drawings, model or specimen when required. The petition must be addressed to the commissioner of patents and must give the name and full address of the applicant, must designate by title the invention sought to be patented, must contain a reference to the specification for a full disclosure of such invention and must be signed by the applicant.

The specification must contain the following in the order named: Name and residence of the applicant with title of invention; a general statement of the object and nature of the invention; a brief description of the several views of the drawings (if the invention admits of such illustration); a detailed description; claim or claims; signature of inventor and signatures of two witnesses. Claims for a machine and its product and claims for a machine and the process in the performance of which the machine is used must be presented in separate applications, but claims for a process and its product may be presented in the same application.

The applicant, if the inventor, must make oath or affirmation that he believes himself to be the first inventor or discoverer of that which he seeks to have patented. The oath or affirmation must also state of what country he is a citizen and where he resides. In every original application the applicant must swear or affirm that the invention has not been patented to himself or to others with his knowledge or consent in this or any foreign country for more than two years prior to his application, or on an application for a patent filed in any foreign country by himself or his legal representative or assigns more than seven months prior to his application. If application has been made in any foreign country full and explicit details must be given. The oath or affirmation may be made before any one who is authorized by the laws of his country to administer oaths.

Drawings must be on white paper with India ink and the sheets must be exactly 10x15 inches in size with a margin of one inch. They must show all details clearly and without the use of superfluous lines.

Applications for reissues must state why the original patent is believed to be defective and tell precisely how the errors were made. These applications must be accompanied by the original patent and an offer to surrender the same; or, if the original be lost, by an affidavit to that effect and certified copy of the patent. Every applicant whose claims have been twice rejected for the same reasons may appeal from the primary examiners to the examiners in chief upon the payment of a fee of $10.

The duration of patents is for seventeen years except in the case of design patents, which may be for three and a half, seven or fourteen years as the inventor may elect.

Caveats or notices given to the patent office of claims to inventions to prevent the issue of patents to other persons upon the same invention, without notice to the caveators, may be filed upon the payment of a fee of $10. Caveats must contain the same information as applications for patents.

CENTER OF POPULATION AND ITS MEDIAN POINT.

The center of population is the center of gravity of the population of the country, each individual being assumed to have the same weight. What is known as the median point is the point of intersection of the line dividing the population equally north and south with the line dividing it equally east and west. The center of population in 1900 was at a point six miles southeast of Columbus, Ind., or north latitude 39 degrees and 9.5 minutes and west longitude 85 degrees 43.9 minutes. The median point in 1900 was at Spartanburg, Ind., or latitude 40 degrees 4 minutes and 22 seconds and longitude 84 degrees 51 minutes and 22 seconds.

The center of area of the United States, excluding Alaska and Hawaii and other recent accessions, is in northern Kansas, in approximate latitude 39 degrees 55 minutes and approximate longitude 98 degrees 50 minutes. The center of population is therefore about three-fourths of a degree south and more than thirteen degrees east of the center of area.

The total recorded immigration into the United States since the organization of the government is, in round numbers, 20,000,000 persons.

IMMIGRATION LAW OF THE UNITED STATES.

(Approved March 4, 1903.)

The act codifies and amends the existing immigration laws. It raises the poll tax on aliens from $1 to $2, whether they arrive by sea or land, but exempts citizens of Canada, Cuba and Mexico. The tax is not levied on aliens in transit through the United States nor upon such as have been admitted into the country before and have already paid the tax. The money collected from this source is to go into the national treasury and constitute a permanent fund for defraying the expenses of regulating immigration.

The following classes are excluded from admission into the United States: Idiots, insane persons, epileptics and persons who have been insane five years previous; paupers and persons likely to become public charges; persons afflicted with dangerous and contagious diseases; felons, polygamists, anarchists or persons who believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the government of the United States or of all governments or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials; prostitutes; those who have been, within one year from the date of application for admission, deported as being under agreement or contract to perform labor or service of some kind; all assisted-immigrants unless it is affirmatively shown that they do not belong to any of the foregoing classes; but this section shall not be held to prevent persons living in the United States from sending for a relative or friend who is not of the excluded classes. Persons convicted of purely political offenses are not excluded.

It is provided that skilled labor may be imported if labor of like kind unemployed cannot be found in this country. The provisions of the law applicable to contract labor do not exclude professional actors, artists, lecturers, singers, ministers of any religious denomination, professors for colleges or seminaries, persons belonging to any recognized learned profession or persons employed strictly as personal or domestic servants. The time within which persons landed in violation of law, or who shall become public charges, may be deported is extended from one to two and three years.

*Coast service. †Built and building.

The "rate" indicates the fighting value and is the same for both battleships and cruisers; that is to say, a cruiser of the second rate is equal in fighting strength to a battleship of the same rate. The losses in the Russian and Japanese navies are not included in the list. The number of warships lost by each in the war is shown elsewhere in this volume.

*Exclusive of Alaska and Hawaii.

Area of Porto Rico is approximately 3,600 and of the Philippine Islands 114,000 square miles. NOTE.—The areas as given above were computed under the direction of Henry Gannett, geographer of the United States geological survey, for the census office. In some cases the figures vary from those given by the general land office, but they are believed to be as nearly correct as possible. In the case of states bordering on the great lakes the water surface of the latter has been included in the computation of areas by the land office and excluded by Mr. Gannett. This will account in large measure for the apparent discrepancies.

MARRIAGE LAWS.

Marriage may be contracted without the consent of parents by males who are 21 years of age or more. This is the rule in about all the states having laws on the subject. In Arizona the age is 18. For females the age is 21 in Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Louisiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Virginia, West Virginia and Wyoming; 16 is the age in Arizona, Maryland and Nebraska and 15 in the other states. Marriages contracted before the age of consent are illegal in nearly all the states.

Marriage licenses are required in all the states and territories with the exception of New Mexico, New Jersey, New York, North Dakota, Oklahoma and South Carolina.

Marriages between whites and negroes are prohibited by law in Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Delaware, District of Columbia, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Nevada, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Virginia and West Virginia. Michigan specifically declares such marriages valid.

Marriages between first cousins are prohibited in Arizona, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Wyoming. Step relatives are not permitted to intermarry except in California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Minnesota, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, Oregon, Utah and Wisconsin.

THE FLORENCE MAYBRICK CASE.

Miss Florence Elizabeth Chandler, American, was married to James Maybrick of Liverpool, England, in London, July 27, 1881. She was 18 and he more than 40. In the spring of 1889 Mr. Maybrick became ill and on the 11th of May died. His brothers investigated the circumstances of his death and had Mrs. Maybrick arrested on the charge of poisoning him with arsenic. Her trial began July 31 and ended Aug. 7 in a verdict of guilty, owing mainly to the severe charge of the judge, Sir James F. Stephen. She was sentenced to death, but there was a popular outcry against the verdict and at the instance of Queen Victoria the sentence was commuted Aug. 22 to penal servitude for life. Continued efforts on her behalf were made by influential Americans and others, including the duchess of Bedford, and Feb. 4, 1904, it was announced that Mrs. Maybrick had been removed from Aylesworth prison to the home of a religious sisterhood at Truro, England. There she remained in seclusion until July 20, when she was permitted to depart on "ticket of leave."

CARNEGIE INSTITUTION OF WASHINGTON

(Prepared by William Barnum, chief clerk.)

The Carnegie Institution of Washington was incorporated Jan. 4, 1902, and endowed by Andrew Carnegie with $10,000,000. The purpose of the institution is thus declared by its founder:

"It is proposed to found in the city of Washington an institution which, with the co-operation of institutions now or hereafter established, there or elsewhere, shall in the broadest and most liberal manner encourage investigation, research and discovery—show the application of knowledge to the improvement of mankind, provide such buildings, laboratories, books and apparatus as may be needed, and afford instruction of an advanced character to students properly qualified to profit thereby."

Under the original organization the endowment and the conduct of the institution were intrusted to a board of twenty-seven trustees. But under the act of congress approved April 28, 1904, certain ex-officio trustees were dispensed with and the board now consists of the following twenty-four persons:

Charles D. Walcott. Ellhu Root.
Carroll D. Wright. John C. Spooner.
Alexander Agassiz. William Wirt Howe.
John S. Billings. Charles L. Hutchinson.
John L. Cadwalader. Samuel P. Langley.
Cleveland H. Dodge. William Lindsay.
William N. Frew. Seth Low.
Lyman J. Gage. Wayne MacVeagh.
Daniel C. Gilman. Darius O. Mills.
John Hay. S. Weir Mitchell.
Henry L. Higginson. William W. Morrow.
Ethan A. Hitchcock. Andrew D. White.

The officers are as follows:

President of the Institution—Dr. Daniel C. Gilman.

Board of Trustees—Dr. John S. Billings, chairman; the Hon. Ellhu Root, vice-chairman; Dr. Charles D. Walcott, secretary.

Executive Committee—Dr. Daniel C. Gilman, chairman; Charles D. Walcott, secretary; John S. Billings, John Hay, S. Weir Mitchell, Ellhu Root, Carroll D. Wright.

The offices of the institution are in the Bond building, Washington, D. C.

METHODIST GENERAL CONFERENCE.

The general conference of the methodist episcopal church, held in May, 1904, in Los Angeles, Cal., placed six bishops on the superannuated list and elected eight new bishops, one of whom resigned. It also elected four missionary bishops. It voted against restoring the time limit on pastorate and against changing the law as to amusements. The consolidation of benevolent societies was provided for and the creation of a church temperance society was decided upon. A report was adopted declaring that there was no sufficient foundation for the allegations that there was disloyalty in some of the theological schools to the doctrinal standards of the church.

The general superintendents placed upon the superannuated list were Bishops Merrill, Andrews, Foss, Vincent, Walden and Mallalieu. The new superintendents elected were J. F. Berry, Henry Snellmeyer, William F. McDowell, J. W. Bashford, William Burt, L. B. Wilson, T. B. Neely and J. R. Day, the last named declining to serve. The missionary bishops elected were

W. F. Oldham and J. E. Robinson for southern Asia, I. B. Scott for Africa and M. C. Harris for Japan.

PRESBYTERIAN CREED REVISED.

The general assembly of the presbyterian church was held in Los Angeles, Cal., beginning May 21, 1903. Rev. R. F. Coyle of Denver, Col., was moderator. Two acts of the assembly were of especial importance. One was the adoption of the revised creed and the other the passing of a resolution forbidding the marriage of persons divorced upon other grounds than those recognized by the church. Eleven articles in the confession of faith were changed. Those concerning election and infant salvation now read:

"That, concerning those who are saved in Christ, the doctrine of God's eternal decree is held in harmony with the doctrine of His love to all mankind, His gift of His Son to be the propitiation for the sins of the whole world, and His readiness to bestow His saving grace on all who seek it; that concerning those who perish the doctrine of God's eternal decree is held in harmony with the doctrine that God desires not the death of any sinner, but has provided in Christ a salvation sufficient for all, adapted for all and freely offered in the gospel for all; that men are fully responsible for their treatment of God's gracious offer; that this doctrine hinders no man from accepting that offer, and that no man is condemned except on the ground of his sin.

"Also that it is not to be regarded as teaching that any who die in infancy are lost. We believe that all dying in infancy are included in the election of grace and are regenerated and saved by Christ, through the Spirit, Who works where and how He pleases."

RELIGIONS OF THE WORLD.

According to the revised (1898) edition of Muirhall's Dictionary of Statistics there are 476,100,000 Christians and 654,200,000 non-Christians in the world. The same authority places the number of Roman catholics in Europe, America and Australia at 223,090,000; protestants, 157,050,000, and Greeks, 88,660,000. It has been estimated that there are in the world 256,000,000 followers of Con-fuclus, 190,000,000 Hindoos, 148,000,000 Buddhists, 118,000,000 polytheists, 43,000,000 Taoists, 14,000,000 Shintoists and 12,000,000 Jews. Of the Christians more than 230,000,000 are catholics, 98,000,000 orthodox Greek, 70,000,000 Lutherans, 21,000,000 episcopallians, 17,000,000 methodists, 11,000,000 baptists, 9,000,000 presbyterians and 4,500,000 congregationalists.

HIGHEST BRIDGE IN THE WORLD.

What is claimed to be the highest structure of the kind in the world is the bridge over the Zambesi, at the Victoria falls, in northern Rhodesia, Africa. It traverses the river in one span of 600 feet, is 30 feet wide and is 420 feet above the water. It was built in 1904 by an English bridge company for the Rhodesian railways trust.

CENTRAL AMERICAN STATES.

PANAMA.

Independence declared Nov. 3, 1903.

Recognized by the United States Nov. 13, 1903.

Constitution adopted Feb. 13, 1904.

Dr. Manuel Amador elected president Feb. 13, 1904.

CONSTITUTION—The official title of the nation is "Republic of Panama." The territory is to be divided into the provinces of Bocas del Toro, Cocle, Colon, Chiriqui, Los Santos, Panama and Veragua. Those are citizens who have been or shall be born in the republic; children of Panama parentage born in other countries; foreigners who have lived in the country more than ten years and who have declared their intention of becoming citizens; only six years' residence is required of foreigners who have married in the country or three years if they have married Panamanians; Colombians who assisted in securing the independence of the republic and who declare their intention of becoming citizens.

No permits or passports will be required of travelers. Religious liberty is decreed, but the catholic church is to be assisted in its educational and missionary work. Freedom of speech and of the press is established, but where the honor of any person is brought into question legal responsibility will attach. Games of chance will not be permitted. Individual rights may be suspended in case of war by the national assembly or, if it is not in session, by the president.

Legislative power is vested in a national assembly composed of deputies elected by the people. The ratio of representation is one deputy for each 10,000 inhabitants. The term of office is four years. Congress will begin its sessions every second year on the 1st of September. Ordinary sessions are limited to ninety days each, but may be extended thirty days more. The president is authorized to call extra sessions. Congressmen must be citizens and 25 years or more of age.

Judicial power is vested in a Supreme court, lower courts and justices of the peace. The Supreme court consists of five magistrates and substitutes named for terms of four years each.

Executive power is vested in a president and vice-presidents. The president enters upon his duties on the first day of October after his election and serves for a term of four years. He must be a Panamanian and have reached the age of 36 years. He will transact all his business with the assembly through cabinet officers. These may propose laws and take part in debates.

In each province there will be a governor appointed by the president and in each municipality there will be a council elected by popular vote.

Primary instruction will be obligatory and free. The government will also conduct schools of art, science, etc.

Article 136, conferring upon the United States the right of intervention, is as follows: "The government of the United States of America can intervene in any part of the Republic of Panama for the purpose of establishing peace and constitutional order in the event of the same having been disturbed, provided that nation shall have assumed the obligation to guarantee the independence and sovereignty of this republic."

In order to guarantee to posterity a part of the pecuniary benefits derived from the negotiations for the opening of the inter-oceanic canal the sum of $6,000,000 is to be reserved and invested in securities producing a fixed annual revenue.

An article of the constitution provided that the first president of the republic was to be elected by a majority vote of the constitutional convention on the day of the promulgation of the constitution. It was further provided that his term of office should expire Sept. 30, 1908.

AREA AND POPULATION—The area of the republic is 31,571 square miles and the population about 300,000.

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION TREATIES.

Since Oct. 14, 1903, arbitration treaties have been concluded between the United States and France, Great Britain and France, Great Britain and Spain, Great Britain and Germany, France and Italy, Spain and Portugal, France and Sweden and Norway, France and Spain and Bolivia and Peru. Excepting that between the two last named countries they are practically identical in form with the agreement between Great Britain and France signed on the date mentioned. This reads:

"The government of the French republic and the government of his Britannic majesty, signatories of the convention for the pacific settlement of international disputes concluded at The Hague, July 29, 1899, considering that by article 19 of this convention the high contracting parties reserved to themselves the conclusion of agreements in view of recourse to arbitration in all cases which they judged capable of submission to it, have authorized the undersigned to agree as follows:

"Article 1. Differences of a judicial order or relative to the interpretation of existing treaties between the two contracting parties, which may arise, and which it may not have been possible to settle by diplomacy, shall be submitted to the permanent court of arbitration established by the convention of July 29, 1899, at The Hague; on condition, however, that neither the vital interests nor the independence or honor of the two contracting states nor the interests of any state other than the two contracting states are involved.

"Art. 2. In each particular case the high contracting parties, before addressing themselves to the permanent court of arbitration, shall sign a special undertaking determining clearly the subject of dispute, the extent of the arbitral powers and the details to be observed in the constitution of the arbitral tribunal and the procedure.

"Art. 3. The present arrangement is concluded for a duration of five years from the date of signature. CAMBON.

"London, Oct. 14, 1903. LANSDOWNE." The treaty between the United States and France was signed in Washington Nov. 1, 1904.

Two conferences on international arbitration have been held in the United States. The first took place April 22-23, 1896, and the second, Jan. 12, 1904. As a result of the first conference an arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain was signed in January, 1897, but it failed of ratification by this country. At the second conference resolutions were adopted urging the government to support every movement to establish by peaceful means the reign of law and justice among nations, and to enter into treaties with Great Britain and other nations to submit differences to the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague or to a commission composed of an equal number of persons from each country.

THE GENERAL SLOCUM DISASTER.

Date—June 15, 1904.
Number of Dead—958.
Identified Dead—897.
Unidentified Dead—61.
Missing—62.
Injured—180.
Rescued Uninjured—235.

By the burning of the excursion steamer General Slocum in the East river, New York, June 15, 1904, 958 persons lost their lives and 180 others were badly injured. The disaster occurred within a short distance of the place where on June 28, 1880, the steamboat Seawanhaka burned with a loss of sixty-two lives.

The General Slocum had been chartered for the annual excursion of the Sunday school of St. Mark's German Lutheran church at 323 6th street and left the pier at the foot of East 3d street about 9 o'clock in the morning bound for Locust grove, a picnic resort on Long Island. The tickets sold numbered less than 1,000, but this did not include the younger children and infants, of whom there were about 400 on board. Most of the excursionists were women and children. The boat, commanded by Capt. William Van Schaick, proceeded up East river, passed safely through Hell Gate and had reached a point opposite 130th street when fire broke out in the forward part of the hold, where the storage room was located. The appearance of smoke and flames immediately caused a panic and the passengers rushed to the rear of the boat and to the hurricane deck above. The captain deemed it unwise to attempt to turn the vessel and make for the "sunken meadows" near at hand, and instead continued directly ahead toward North Brother island, a mile or more distant.

The flames, fanned by the wind, were forced backward through the length of the boat and the terror-stricken excursionists struggled in vain to reach places of safety. Many women threw their children over the rail and jumped after them, others were trampled underfoot or forced overboard in the crush. The supports of the hurricane deck were burned through and gave way, precipitating the crowd upon it into the flames below, just as the steamer struck the beach. By this time tugboats and other river craft were hurrying to the rescue. One tug came close up to the side of the burning steamer and succeeded in taking off 155 of the survivors. Rowboats picked up others from the river and a few of the excursionists managed to reach the shore unaided.

After the General Slocum struck the beach she drifted downstream and finally brought up at Hunt's point, a mile away, where she burned to the water's edge. Of the 415 rescued 180 were taken to hospitals. Most of them were suffering from burns or had broken limbs, the captain being one of the number. The bodies of the dead were taken from the river as fast as possible and conveyed to the morgue at Bellevue hospital, but the work was not completed until three weeks had elapsed. Altogether 958 bodies were recovered. Identification was difficult and in many cases impossible. Hundreds were reported missing, but most of these were found among the dead, of whom 897 were recognized and claimed. Sixty-one remained unidentified and it is assumed that these were the missing unaccounted for. It was the worst disaster of the kind in American history.

After a careful investigation the coroner's jury in the Bronx found a verdict holding the following persons criminally responsible: Frank A. Barnaby, president of the Knickerbocker Steamboat company, owning the General Slocum; J. K. Atkinson, secretary of the company; Charles E. Hill, O. D. Evans, Robert K. Story, Floyd S. Corbin and Frank O. Dexter, directors of the company; Capt. William H. Van Schaick, commander of the Slocum; John A. Pease for failure to properly equip the boat; Edward Flanagan, mate, and Henry Lundberg, government inspector. It was found that the fire apparatus provided was wholly improper and unsuitable, that the crew was inefficient and undrilled in the use of the fire-extinguishing apparatus and that the number of good and available life preservers on board was insufficient.

The General Slocum was a side-wheel steamer of 1,284 tons and was built in 1891 for the excursion business.

LOSS OF THE NORGE.

The steamship Norge of the Scandinavian-American line struck a sunken rock in the Atlantic near Rockall reef, 290 miles northwest of Scotland, June 28, 1904, and sunk in less than half an hour. Of the 774 persons on board only 167 were rescued. The passengers numbered 711, of whom 144 were saved and 567 drowned. Of the crew, 23 were saved and 40 lost. Those who escaped suffered great hardships, some of the boats not reaching land until several days after the shipwreck. Most of them were picked up by passing steamers and taken to Stornoway, Scotland.

Nearly all the passengers were emigrants bound from Norway, Denmark, Sweden and Russia for the United States. The Norge left Copenhagen June 22, and after touching at Christiania and Christiansand, in Norway, sailed for New York. All went well until 7:45 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the vessel struck a submerged rock. The ship began to fill and in twenty minutes went to the bottom. As many of the women and children and other passengers as possible were crowded into the boats and a number of these got safely away from the sinking ship, though several were swamped. The captain went down with his vessel, but came to the surface and was saved.

The Norge was built by A. Stephen & Son, Glasgow, Scotland, in 1881, and was formerly called Pieter de Coninck. It was of 3,318 tons gross and 2,131 tons net register. The hull was of iron and the ship had six transverse bulkheads.

GALVESTON SEA WALL.

The Galveston sea wall, designed to protect the city from the waters of the Gulf of Mexico and prevent another disaster like that of Sept. 8, 1900, was completed July 29, 1904. It is 17,593 feet long, 16 feet high, 16 feet wide at the base and 5 feet at the top. It is built of concrete and cost $1,198,318.

NATIONAL PARTY PLATFORMS IN 1904.

SOCIALIST.

Adopted at Chicago May 5.

The platform after declaring that the socialist party makes its appeal to the American people as the defender and preserver of the idea of liberty and self-government in which the nation was born, to which idea the republican and democratic parties are utterly false, affirms that the socialist movement owes its birth and growth to that economic development or world-process which is rapidly separating a working or producing class from a possessing or capitalist class. It says socialism means that all those things upon which the people in common depend shall by the people in common be owned and administered. The platform then continues:

"It means that the tools of employment shall belong to their creators and users; that all production shall be for the direct use of the producers; that the making of goods for profit shall come to an end; that we shall all be workers together, and that opportunities shall be open and equal to all men.

"To the end that the workers may seize every possible advantage that may strengthen them to gain complete control of the powers of government, and thereby the sooner establish the co-operative commonwealth, the socialist party pledges itself to watch and work in both the economic and the political struggle for each successive immediate interest of the working class; for shortened days of labor and increase of wages; for the insurance of the workers against accident, sickness and lack of employment; for pensions for aged and exhausted workers; for the public ownership of the means of transportation, communication and exchange; for the graduated taxation of incomes, inheritances and of franchise and land values, the proceeds to be applied to public employment and bettering the condition of the workers; for the equal suffrage of men and women; for the prevention of the use of the military against labor in the settlement of strikes; for the free administration of justice; for popular government, including initiative, referendum, proportional representation and the recall of officers by their constituents, and for every gain or advantage for the workers that may be wrested from the capitalist system and that may relieve the suffering and strengthen the hands of labor. We lay upon every man elected to any executive or legislative office the first duty of striving to procure whatever is for the workers' most immediate interest and for whatever will lessen the economic and political powers of the capitalist and increase the like powers of the worker.

"But, in so doing, we are using these remedial measures as means to the one great end of the co-operative commonwealth. Such measures of relief as we may be able to force from capitalism are but a preparation of the workers to seize the whole powers of government, in order that they may thereby lay hold of the whole system of industry and thus come into their rightful inheritance.

"To this end we pledge ourselves, as the party of the working class, to use all political power, as fast as it shall be entrusted to us by our fellow workers, both for their immediate interests and for their ultimate and complete emancipation."

REPUBLICAN.

Adopted at Chicago June 22.

Fifty years ago the republican party came into existence, dedicated, among other purposes, to the great task of arresting the extension of human slavery. In 1860 it elected its first president. During twenty-four of the forty-four years which have elapsed since the election of Lincoln the republican party has held complete control of the government. For eighteen more of the forty-four years it has held partial control through the possession of one or two branches of the government, while the democratic party during the same period has had complete control for only two years.

This long tenure of power by the republican party is not due to chance. It is a demonstration that the republican party has commanded the confidence of the American people for nearly two generations to a degree never equaled in our history and has displayed a high capacity for rule and government, which has been made even more conspicuous by the incapacity and infirmity of purpose shown by its opponents.

RECORD SINCE 1897.

The republican party entered upon its present period of complete supremacy in 1897. We have every right to congratulate ourselves upon the work since then accomplished, for it has added luster even to the traditions of the party which carried the government through the storms of civil war.

We then found the country, after four years of democratic rule, in evil plight, oppressed with misfortune and doubtful of the future. Public credit had been lowered, the revenues were declining, the debt was growing, the administration's attitude toward Spain was feeble and mortifying, the standard of values was threatened and uncertain, labor was unemployed, business was sunk in the depression which had succeeded the panic of 1893, hope was faint and confidence was gone.

We met these unhappy conditions vigorously, effectively and at once. We replaced a democratic tariff law based on free trade principles and garnished with sectional protection by a consistent protective tariff, and industry, freed from oppression and stimulated by the encouragement of wise laws, has expanded to a degree never before known, has conquered new markets and has created a volume of exports which has surpassed imagination. Under the Dingley tariff labor has been fully employed, wages have risen and all industries have revived and prospered.

We firmly established the gold standard, which was then menaced with destruction. Confidence returned to business and with confidence an unexampled prosperity.

For deficient revenues, supplemented by improvident issues of bonds, we gave the country an income which produced a large surplus and which enabled us, only four years after the Spanish war had closed, to remove over one hundred millions of annual war taxes, reduce the public debt and lower the interest charges of the government.

The public credit, which had been so lowered that in time of peace a democratic administration made large loans at extravagant rates of interest in order to pay current expenditures, rose under republican administration to its highest point and enabled us to borrow at 2 per cent, even in time of war.

We refused to palter longer with the miseries of Cuba. We fought a quick and victorious war with Spain. We set Cuba free, governed the island for three years and then gave it to the Cuban people, with order restored, with ample revenues, with education and public health established, free from debt and connected with the United States by wise provisions for our mutual interests.

We have organized the government of Porto Rico, and its people now enjoy peace, freedom, order and prosperity.

In the Philippines we have suppressed insurrection, established order and given to life and property a security never known there before. We have organized civil government, made it effective and strong in administration and have conferred upon the people of those islands the largest civil liberty they have ever enjoyed.

By our possession of the Philippines we were enabled to take prompt and effective action in the relief of the legations at Peking and a decisive part in preventing the partition and preserving the integrity of China.

The possession of a route for an isthmian canal, so long the dream of American statesmanship, is now an accomplished fact. The great work of connecting the Pacific and Atlantic oceans by a canal is at last begun and it is due to the republican party.

We have passed laws which will bring the arid lands of the United States within the area of cultivation. We have reorganized the army and put it in the highest state of efficiency. We have passed laws for the improvement and support of the militia. We have pushed forward the building of the navy for the defense and the protection of our honor and our interests.

Our administration of the great departments of the government has been honest and efficient, and wherever wrongdoing has been discovered the republican administration has not hesitated to probe the evil and bring offenders to justice, without regard to party or political ties.

Laws enacted by the republican party which the democratic party failed to enforce and which were intended for the protection of the public against the unjust discrimination or the illegal encroachment of vast aggregations of capital have been fearlessly enforced by a republican president, and new laws, insuring reasonable publicity as to the operation of great corporations and providing additional remedies for the prevention of discrimination in freight rates, have been passed by a republican congress.

POLICY OF PROTECTION.

In this record of achievement during the past eight years may be read the pledges which the republican party has fulfilled. We propose to continue these policies, and we declare our constant adherence to the following principles:

Protection, which guards and develops our industries, is a cardinal policy of the republican party. The measure of protection should always at least equal the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. We insist upon the maintenance of the principles of protection and therefore rates of duty should be readjusted only when conditions have so changed that the public interest demands their alteration.

But this work cannot safely be committed to any other hands than those of the republican party. To intrust it to the democratic party is to invite disaster. Whether, as in 1892, the democratic party declares the protective tariff unconstitutional, or whether it demands reform or tariff revision, its real object is always the destruction of the protective system. However specious the name, the purpose is ever the same. A democratic tariff has always been followed by business adversity, a republican tariff by business prosperity. To a republican congress and a republican president this great question can be safely intrusted. When the only free trade country among the great nations agitates a return to protection the chief protective country should not falter in maintaining it.

RECIPROCITY.

We have extended widely our foreign markets, and we believe in the adoption of all practicable methods for their further extension, including commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistent with the principles of protection and without injury to American agriculture, American labor or any American industry.

We believe it to be the duty of the republican party to uphold the gold standard and the integrity and value of our national currency. The maintenance of the gold standard, established by the republican party, cannot safely be committed to the democratic party, which resisted its adoption and has never given any proof since that time of belief in it or fidelity to it.

AMERICAN SHIPPING.

While every other industry has prospered under the fostering aid of republican legislation, American shipping engaged in foreign trade in competition with the low cost of construction, low wages and heavy subsidies of foreign governments has not for many years received from the government of the United States adequate encouragement of any kind. We therefore favor legislation which will encourage and build up the American merchant marine, and we cordially approve the legislation of the last congress, which created the merchant marine commission to investigate and report upon this subject.

UPBUILDING OF NAVY.

A navy powerful enough to defend the United States against any attack, to uphold the Monroe doctrine and watch over our commerce is essential to the safety and the welfare of the American people. To maintain such a navy is the fixed policy of the republican party.

We cordially approve the attitude of President Roosevelt and congress in regard to the exclusion of Chinese labor and promise a continuance of the republican policy in that direction.

The civil-service law was placed on the statute books by the republican party, which has always sustained it, and we renew our former declaration that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced.

We are always mindful of the country's debt to the soldiers and sailors of the United States, and we believe in making ample provision for them and in the liberal administration of the pension laws.

We favor the peaceful settlement of international differences by arbitration.

We commend the vigorous efforts made by the administration to protect American citizens in foreign lands and pledge ourselves to insist upon the just and equal protection of all our citizens abroad. It is the unquestioned duty of the government to procure for all our citizens, without distinction, the rights of travel and sojourn in friendly countries, and we declare ourselves in favor of all proper efforts tending to that end.

Our great interests and our growing commerce in the orient render the condition of China of high importance to the United States. We cordially commend the policy pursued in that direction by the administrations of President McKinley and President Roosevelt.

We favor such congressional action as shall determine whether, by special discriminations, the elective franchise in any state has been unconstitutionally limited, and if such is the case we demand that representation in congress and in the electoral college shall be proportionately reduced as directed by the constitution of the United States.

CONTROL OF TRUSTS.

Combinations of capital and of labor are the results of the economic movement of the age, but neither must be permitted to infringe upon the rights and interests of the people. Such combinations when lawfully formed for lawful purposes are alike entitled to the protection of the laws, but both are subject to the laws and neither can be permitted to break them.

M'KINLEY AND ROOSEVELT.

The great statesman and patriotic American, William McKinley, who was elected by the republican party to the presidency four years ago, was assassinated just at the threshold of his second term. The entire nation mourned his untimely death and did that justice to his great qualities of mind and character which history will confirm and repeat.

The American people were fortunate in his successor, to whom they turned with a trust and confidence which have been fully justified. President Roosevelt brought to the great responsibilities thus sadly forced upon him a clear head, a brave heart, an earnest patriotism and high ideals of public duty and public service. True to the principles of the republican party and to the policies which that party had declared, he has also shown himself ready for every emergency and has met new and vital questions with ability and with success.

The confidence of the people in his justice, inspired by his public career, enabled him to render personally an inestimable service to the country by bringing about a settlement of the coal strike, which threatened such disastrous results at the opening of winter in 1902.

FOREIGN POLICY.

Our foreign policy under his administration has not only been able, vigorous and dignified, but in the highest degree successful. The complicated questions which arose in Venezuela were settled in such a way by President Roosevelt that the Monroe doctrine was signally vindicated and the cause of peace and arbitration greatly advanced. His prompt and vigorous action in Panama, which we commend in the highest terms, not only secured to us the canal route, but avoided foreign complications which might have been of a very serious character. He has continued the policy of President McKinley in the orient, and our position in China, signalized by our recent commercial treaty with that empire, has never been so high. We secured the tribunal by which the vexed and perilous question of the Alaskan boundary was finally settled.

Whenever crimes against humanity have been perpetrated which have shocked our people his protest has been made and our good offices have been tendered, but always with due regard to international obligations. Under his guidance we find ourselves at peace with all the world, and never were we more respected or our wishes more regarded by foreign nations.

DOMESTIC QUESTIONS.

Pre-eminently successful in regard to our foreign relations, he has been equally fortunate in dealing with domestic questions. The country has known that the public credit and the national currency were absolutely safe in the hands of his administration. In the enforcement of the laws he has shown not only courage but the wisdom which understands that to permit laws to be violated or disregarded opens the door to anarchy, while the just enforcement of the law is the soundest conservatism. He has held firmly to the fundamental doctrine that all men must obey the law, that there must be no distinction between rich and poor, between strong and weak, but that justice and equal protection under the law must be secured to every citizen without regard to race, creed or condition.

His administration has been throughout vigorous and honorable, high minded and patriotic. We commend it without reservation to the considerate judgment of the American people.

PROHIBITIONIST.

Adopted at Indianapolis, Ind., June 30.

The prohibition party, in national convention assembled at Indianapolis, June 30, 1904, recognizing that the chief end of all government is the establishment of righteousness and justice, and believing in the perpetuation of the high ideals of government of the people, by the people and for the people established by our fathers, make the following declaration of principles and purposes:

1. The widely prevailing system of the licensed and legalized sale of alcoholic beverages is so ruinous to individual interests, so inimical to public welfare, so destructive to national wealth and so subversive to the rights of great masses of our citizenship that the destruction of the traffic is and for years has been the most important question in American politics.

2. We denounce the lack of statesmanship exhibited by the leaders of the democratic and republican parties in their refusal to recognize the paramount importance of this question and the cowardice with which the leaders of these parties have courted the favor of those whose selfish interests are advanced by the continuation and augmentation of the traffic until to-day the influence of the liquor traffic practically dominates national, state and local government throughout the nation.

3. We declare the truth, demonstrated by the experience of half a century, that all methods of dealing with the liquor traffic which recognize its right to exist in any form, under any system of license or tax or regulation, have proved powerless to remove its evils and useless as checks upon its growth, while the insignificant public revenues which have accrued therefrom have seared the public conscience against a recognition of its iniquity.

4. We call public attention to the fact, proved by the experience of more than fifty years, that to secure the enactment and enforcement of prohibitory legislation, in which alone lies hope of the protection of the people from the liquor traffic, it is necessary that the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government should be in the hands of a political party in harmony with the prohibition principle and pledged to its embodiment in law and to the execution of those laws.

5. We pledge the prohibition party, wherever given power by the suffrage of the people, to the enactment and enforcement of laws prohibiting and abolishing the manufacture, importation, transportation and sale of alcoholic beverages.

6. We declare that there is not only no other issue of equal importance before the American people to-day, but that the so-called issues upon which the democratic and republican parties seek to divide the electorate of the country are in large part subterfuges under the cover of which they wrangle for the spoils of office.

7. Recognizing that the intelligent voters of the country may properly ask our attitude upon other questions of public concern, we declare ourselves in favor of: Impartial enforcement of all law.

The safeguarding of the people's rights by a rigid application of the principles of justice to all combinations and organizations of capital and labor.

A more intimate relation between the people and government by a wise adaptation of the principle of the initiative and referendum.

The safeguarding to every citizen in every place under the government of the people of the United States of all the rights guaranteed by the laws and the constitution.

International arbitration; we declare that our nation should contribute in every manner consistent with national dignity to the permanent establishment of peace between all nations.

The reform of our divorce laws, the final extirpation of polygamy and the total overthrow of the present shameful system of illegal sanction of the social evil, with its unspeakable traffic in girls, by the municipal authorities of almost all our cities.

POPULIST.

Adopted at Springfield, Ill., July 5.

After reaffirming its adherence to the basic truths of the Omaha platform of 1892 and of the subsequent platforms of 1896 and 1890 the platform says:

"The issuing of money is a function of government and should never be delegated to corporations or individuals. The constitution gives to congress alone power to issue money and regulate its value.

"We therefore demand that all money shall be issued by the government in such quantities as shall maintain a stability in prices, every dollar to be a full legal tender, none of which shall be a debt redeemable in other money.

"We demand that postal savings banks be established by the government for the safe deposit of the savings of the people.

"We believe in the right of labor to organize for the benefit and protection of those who toil, and pledge the efforts of the people's party to preserve this right inviolate. Capital is organized and has no right to deny to labor the privilege which it claims for itself.

"We favor the enactment of legislation looking to the improvement of conditions for wage-earners, the abolition of child labor, the suppression of sweatshops and convict labor in competition with free labor and the exclusion from American shores of foreign pauper labor.

"We favor the shorter work day and declare that if eight hours constitutes a day's labor in government service eight hours should constitute a day's labor in factories, workshops and mines.

"As a means of placing all public questions directly under the control of the people we demand that legal provision be made under which the people may exercise the initiative, referendum and proportional representation, and direct vote for all public officers with the right of recall.

"To prevent unjust discrimination and monopoly the government should own and control the railroads and those public utilities which, in their nature, are monopolies; to perfect the postal service the government should own and operate the general telegraph and telephone systems and provide a parcels post.

"As to those trusts and monopolies which are not public utilities or natural monopolies, we demand that those special privileges which they now enjoy and which alone enable them to exist should be immediately withdrawn.

"We demand that congress shall enact a general law uniformly regulating the power and duties of all incorporated companies doing interstate business."

SOCIALIST LABOR.

Adopted at New York city July 4.

The socialist labor party of America, in convention assembled, reasserts the inalienable right of man to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

We hold that the purpose of government is to secure to every citizen the enjoyment of this right, but taught by experience we hold furthermore that such right is illusory to the majority of the people, to wit, the working class, under the present system of economic inequality that is essentially destructive of their life, their liberty and their happiness.

We hold that the true theory of politics is that the machinery of government must be controlled by the whole people, but again taught by experience we hold furthermore that the true theory of economics is that the means of production must likewise be owned, operated and controlled by the people in common. Man cannot exercise his right of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness without the ownership of the land on and the tool with which to work. Deprived of these his life, his liberty and his fate fall into the hands of the class that owns those essentials for work and production.

We hold that the existing contradiction between the theory of democratic government and the fact of despotic economic system—the private ownership of the natural and social opportunities—divides the people into two classes, the capitalist class and the working class; throws society into the convulsions of the class struggle and perverts government to the exclusive benefit of the capitalist class.

Thus labor is robbed of the wealth which it alone produces, is denied the means of self-employment and by compulsory idleness in wage slavery is even deprived of the necessities of life.

Against such a system the socialist labor party raises the banner of revolt and demands the unconditional surrender of the capitalist class.

The time is fast coming when in the natural course of social evolution this system through the destructive action of its failures and crises on the one hand and the constructive tendencies of its trusts and other capitalist combinations on the other hand will have worked out its own downfall.

We therefore call upon the wage workers of America to organize under the banner of the socialist labor party into a class-conscious body, aware of its rights and determined to conquer them.

And we also call upon all other intelligent citizens to place themselves squarely upon the ground of working-class interests and join us in this mighty and noble work of human emancipation, so that we may put summary end to the existing barbarous class conflict by placing the land and all the means of production, transportation and distribution into the hands of the people as a collective body and substituting the co-operative commonwealth for the present state of planless production, industrial war and social disorder—a commonwealth in which every worker shall have the free exercise and full benefit of his faculties, multiplied by all the modern factors of civilization.

DEMOCRATIC.

Adopted at St. Louis July 8.

The democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, declares its devotion to the essential principles of the democratic faith which brings us together in party communion.

Under them local self-government and national unity and prosperity were alike established. They underlaid our independence, the structure of our free republic and every democratic extension from Louisiana to California and Texas to Oregon which preserved faithfully in all the states the tie between taxation and representation.

They yet inspire the masses of our people, guarding jealously their rights and liberties and cherishing their fraternity, peace and orderly development. They remind us of our duties and responsibilities as citizens and impress upon us, particularly at this time, the necessity of reform and the rescue of the administration of government from the headstrong, arbitrary and spasmodic methods which distract business by uncertainty and pervade the public mind with dread, distrust and perturbation.

The application of these fundamental principles to the living issues of the day is the first step toward the assured peace, safety and progress of our nation. Freedom of the press, of conscience and of speech—equality before the law of all citizens; right of trial by jury—freedom of the person defended by the writ of habeas corpus; liberty of personal contract untrammelled by sumptuary laws; supremacy of the civil over military authority; a well-disciplined militia; the separation of church and state; economy in expenditures, low taxes, that labor may be lightly burdened; prompt and sacred fulfillment of public and private obligations; fidelity to treaties; peace and friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none; absolute acquiescence in the will of the majority, the vital principle of republics—these are doctrines which democracy has established, approved by the nation, and they should be constantly invoked and enforced.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

We favor the enactment and administration of laws giving labor and capital impartially their just rights. Capital and labor ought not to be enemies. Each is necessary to the other. Each has its rights, but the rights of labor are certainly no less "vested," no less "sacred" and no less "inalienable" than the rights of capital.

Constitutional guaranties are violated whenever any citizen is denied the right to labor, acquire and enjoy property or reside where interest or inclination may determine. Any denial thereof by individuals, organizations or governments, should be summarily rebuked and punished.

We deny the right of any executive to disregard or suspend any constitutional privilege or limitation. Obedience to the laws and respect for their requirements are alike the supreme duty of the citizen and the official.

The military should be used only to support and to maintain the law. We unqualifiedly condemn its employment for the summary banishment of citizens without trial or for the control of elections.

We approve the measures which passed the United States senate in 1836, but which a republican congress has ever since refused to enact, relating to contempts in federal courts and providing for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt.

We favor liberal appropriations for the care and improvement of the waterways of the country. When any waterway like the Mississippi river is of sufficient importance to demand special aid of the government, such aid should be extended with a definite plan of continuous work until permanent improvement is secured.

We oppose the republican policy of starving home development in order to feed the greed for conquest and the appetite for national "prestige" and display of strength.

Large reductions can easily be made in the annual expenditures of the government without impairing the efficiency of any branch of the public service, and we shall insist upon the strictest economy and frugality compatible with vigorous and efficient civil, military and naval administration as a right of the people too clear to be denied or withheld.

We favor honesty in the public service—the enforcement of honesty in the public service—and to that end a thorough legislative investigation of those executive departments of the government already known to teem with corruption, as well as other departments suspected of harboring corruption, and the punishment of ascertained corruptionists without fear or regard to persons. The persistent and deliberate refusal of both the senate and the house of representatives to permit such investigation to be made demonstrates that only by a change in the executive and in the legislative departments can complete exposure, punishment and correction be obtained.

We condemn the action of the republican party in congress in refusing to prohibit an executive department from entering into contracts with convicted trusts or unlawful combinations in restraint of interstate trade. We believe that one of the best methods of procuring economy and honesty in the public service is to have public officials, from the occupant of the white house down to the lowest of them, returned as nearly as may be to Jeffersonian simplicity of living.

We favor the nomination and election of a president imbued with the principles of the constitution, who will set his face sternly against executive usurpation of legislative and judicial functions, whether that usurpation be veiled under the guise of executive construction of existing laws or whether it take refuge in the tyrant's pleas of necessity or superior wisdom.

IMPERIALISM.

We favor the preservation, so far as we can, of an open door for the world's commerce in the orient, without an unnecessary entanglement in oriental and European affairs and without arbitrary, unlimited, irresponsible and absolute government anywhere within our jurisdiction. We oppose, as fervently as did George Washington himself, an indefinite, irresponsible, discretionary and vague absolutism and a policy of colonial exploitation, no matter where or by whom invoked or exercised; we believe with Thomas Jefferson and John Adams that no government has a right to make one set of laws for those "at home" and another and a different set of laws, absolute in their character, for those "in the colonies." All men under the American flag are entitled to the protection of the institutions whose emblem the flag is; if they are inherently unfit for those institutions, then they are inherently unfit to be members of the American body politic. Wherever there may exist a people incapable of being governed under American laws, in consonance with the American constitution, that people ought not to be part of the American domain.

We insist that we ought to do for the Filipinos what we have done already for the Cubans, and it is our duty to make that promise now and, upon suitable guaranties of protection to citizens of our own and other countries resident there at the time of our withdrawal, set the Filipino people upon their feet, free and independent to work out their own destiny.

The endeavor of the secretary of war by pledging the government's indorsement for "promoters" in the Philippine islands to make the United States a partner in speculative legislation of the archipelago, which was only temporarily held up by the opposition of the democratic senators in the last session, will if successful lead to entanglements from which it will be difficult to escape.

THE TARIFF.

The democratic party has been and will continue to be the consistent opponent of that class of tariff legislation by which certain interests have been permitted, through congressional favor, to draw a heavy tribute from the American people. This monstrous perversion of those equal opportunities which our political institutions were established to secure has caused what may once have been infant industries to become the greatest combinations of capital that the world has ever known. These special favorites of the government have through trust methods been converted into monopolies, thus bringing to an end domestic competition, which was the only alleged check upon the extravagant profits made possible by the protective system. These industrial combinations, by the financial assistance they can give, now control the policy of the republican party.

We denounce protection as a robbery of the many to enrich the few and we favor a tariff limited to the needs of the government, economically administered and so levied as not to discriminate against any industry, class or section, to the end that the burdens of taxation shall be distributed as equally as possible.

We favor a revision and a gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of the masses and for the common weal and not by the friends of its abuses, its extortions and its discriminations, keeping in view the ultimate ends of "equality of burdens and equality of opportunities" and the constitutional purpose of raising a revenue by taxation—to wit, the support of the federal government in all its integrity and virility, but in simplicity.

THE TRUSTS.

We recognize that the gigantic trusts and combinations designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint products of capital and labor and which have been fostered and promoted under republican rule are a menace to beneficial competition and an obstacle to permanent business prosperity.

A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable. Individual equality of opportunity and free competition are essential to a healthy and permanent commercial prosperity, and any trust, combination or monopoly tending to destroy these by controlling production, restricting competition or fixing prices should be prohibited and punished by law. We especially denounce rebates and discriminations by transportation companies as the most potent agency in promoting and strengthening these unlawful conspiracies against trade.

We demand an enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission to the end that the traveling public and shippers of the country may have prompt and adequate relief for the abuses to which they are subjected in the matter of transportation. We demand a strict enforcement of existing civil and criminal statutes against all such trusts, combinations and monopolies, and we demand the enactment of such further legislation as may be necessary to effectually suppress them.

Any trust or unlawful combination engaged in interstate commerce which is monopolizing any branch of business or production should not be permitted to transact business outside of the state of its origin. Whenever it shall be established in any court of competent jurisdiction that such monopolization exists, such prohibition should be enforced through comprehensive laws to be enacted on the subject.

We congratulate our western citizens upon the passing of the law known as the Newlands irrigation act for the irrigation and reclamation of the arid lands of the west, a measure framed by a democrat, passed in the senate by a nonpartisan vote and passed in the house against the opposition of almost all the republican leaders by a vote the majority of which was democratic.

We call attention to this great democratic measure, broad and comprehensive as it is, working automatically throughout all time without further action of congress, until the reclamation of all the lands in the arid west capable of reclamation is accomplished, reserving the lands reclaimed for homeseekers in small tracts and rigidly guarding against land monopoly as an evidence of the policy of domestic development contemplated by the democratic party should it be placed in power.

PANAMA CANAL.

The democracy when intrusted with power will construct the Panama canal speedily, honestly and economically, thereby giving to our people what democrats have always contended for—a great interoceanic canal, furnishing shorter and cheaper lines of transportation and broader and less trammelled trade relations with the other peoples of the world.

We pledge ourselves to insist upon the just and lawful protection of our citizens at home and abroad and to use all proper measures to secure for them, whether native born or naturalized and without distinction of race or creed, the equal protection of laws and the enjoyment of all rights and privileges open to them under the covenants of our treaties of friendship and commerce, and if under existing treaties the right of travel and sojourn is denied to American citizens or recognition is withheld from American passports by any countries on the ground of race or creed, we favor the beginning of negotiations with the governments of such countries to secure by treaties the removal of these unjust discriminations.

We demand that all over the world a duly authenticated passport issued by the government of the United States to an American citizen shall be proof of the fact that he is an American citizen and shall entitle him to the treatment due him as such.

We favor the election of United States senators by a direct vote of the people.

We favor the admission of the territories of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory. We also favor the immediate admission of Arizona and New Mexico as separate states and a territorial government for Alaska and Porto Rico.

We hold that the officials appointed to administer the government of any territory, as well as with the district of Alaska, should be bona fide residents at the time of their appointment of the territory or district in which their duties are to be performed.

We demand the extermination of polygamy within the jurisdiction of the United States and the complete separation of church and state in political affairs.

We denounce the ship subsidy bill recently passed by the United States senate as an iniquitous appropriation of public funds for private purposes and a wasteful, illogical and useless attempt to overcome by subsidy the obstructions raised by republican legislation to the growth and development of American commerce on the sea.

We favor the upbuilding of a merchant marine without new or additional burdens upon the people and without bounties from the public treasury.

We favor liberal trade arrangements with Canada and with peoples of other countries where they can be entered into with benefit to American agriculture, manufacture, mining or commerce.

We favor the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine in its full integrity.

THE ARMY.

We favor the reduction of the army and of army expenditure to the point historically demonstrated to be safe and sufficient.

The democracy would secure to the surviving soldiers and sailors and their dependents generous pensions, not by an arbitrary executive order, but by legislation which a grateful people stand ready to enact.

Our soldiers and sailors who defend with their lives the constitution and the laws have a sacred interest in their just administration. They must therefore share with us the humiliation with which we have witnessed the exaltation of court favorites, without distinguished service, over the scarred heroes of many battles or aggrandized by executive appropriations out of the treasures of a prostrate people in violation of the act of congress which fixed the compensation and allowances of the military officers.

The democratic party stands committed to the principles of civil-service reform, and we demand their honest, just and impartial enforcement.

We denounce the republican party for its continuous and sinister encroachments upon the spirit and operation of civil-service rules, whereby it has arbitrarily dispensed with examinations for office in the interest of favorites and employed all manner of devices to overreach and set aside the principles upon which the civil service was established.

The race question has brought countless woes to this country. The calm wisdom of the American people should see to it that it brings no more.

To revive the dead and hateful race and sectional animosities in any part of our common country means confusion, distraction of business and the reopening of wounds now happily healed. North, south, east and west have but recently stood together in line of battle from the walls of Pekin to the hills of Santiago, and as sharers of a common glory and a common destiny we should share fraternally the common burdens.

We therefore deprecate and condemn the bourbon-like, selfish and narrow spirit of the recent republican convention at Chicago, which sought to kindle anew the embers of racial and sectional strife, and we appeal from it to the sober common sense and patriotic spirit of the American people.

The existing republican administration has been spasmodic, erratic, sensational, spectacular and arbitrary. It has made itself a satire upon the congress, the courts and upon the settled practices and usages of national and international law.

It summoned the congress into hasty and futile extra session and virtually adjourned it, leaving behind its flight from Washington uncalled calendars and unaccomplished tasks.

It made war, which is the sole power of congress, without its authority, thereby usurping one of its fundamental prerogatives. It violated a plain statute of the United States as well as plain treaty obligations, international usages and constitutional law, and has done so under pretense of executing a great public policy which could have been more easily effected lawfully, constitutionally and with honor.

It forced strained and unnatural constructions upon statutes, usurping judicial interpretation and substituting congressional enactment in the decree.

It withdrew from congress their customary duties of investigation which have heretofore made the representatives of the people and the states the terror of evildoers.

It conducted a secretive investigation of its own and boasted of a few sample convicts, while it threw a broad coverlet over the bureau which had been their chosen field of operative abuses and kept in power the superior officers under whose administration the crimes had been committed.

It ordered assault upon some monopolies, but paralyzed by its first victory it flung out the flag of truce and cried out that it would not "run amuck"—leaving its future purposes beclouded by its vacillations.

Conducting the campaign upon this declaration of our principles and purposes, we invoke for our candidates the support not only of our great and time-honored organization, but also the active assistance of all of our fellow-citizens who, disregarding past differences upon questions no longer in issue, desire the perpetuation of our constitutional government as framed and established by the fathers of the republic.

CONTINENTAL.

Adopted at Chicago Aug. 31.

The platform of the continental party declares in favor of reciprocity, the establishment of postal banks, the building of national and international lines of railroad by the government, the repeal of the act authorizing national banks to issue notes of credit, the right of labor to organize, the eight-hour day for workmen, the initiative and referendum, new primary election laws, the election of one presidential elector by the voters of each congressional district, the independence of the Philippines under American protection and the revision of the federal constitution so that it may answer the demands of a century of civilization and progress.

LEWIS AND CLARK CENTENNIAL EXPOSITION AND ORIENTAL FAIR.

To be held in Portland, Ore., June 1-Oct. 15, 1905.

President—H. W. Goode.
First Vice-President—I. N. Fleischner.
Second Vice-President—A. L. Mills.
Third Vice-President—Samuel Connell.
Secretary—Henry E. Reed.

Director of Exploitation—Henry E. Reed.

By an official act of congress, followed by an invitation issued by the Hon. John Hay, secretary of state, there will be held during 1905, in the state of Oregon, at Portland, an international exhibition known as the "Lewis and Clark centennial and oriental fair." This centennial will extend through a period of four and one-half months, beginning June 1, 1905, and ending Oct. 15, 1905. It will commemorate the exploration of the great Pacific northwest territory to the shores of the Pacific in 1805. It is the first international exhibition held west of the Rocky mountains and is designed fitly to mark an epoch of growth and development.

The "Oregon country" (as that section of America was then called) shortly after became a part of the United States and was subsequently divided into the present states of Oregon, Washington and Idaho, as well as extensive parts of Montana and Wyoming, adding over 300,000 square miles of rich mineral and fertile agricultural lands to the national domain, and its settlement and development have contributed much to national wealth and prosperity. The expedition which explored this "No Man's Land" was sent out under the leadership of Capt. Meriwether Lewis and William Clark by President Thomas Jefferson in 1803 and reached the mouth of the Columbia river in 1805. The perilous journey, some 3,000 miles overland, was accomplished under most trying circumstances. Lewis and Clark were the first Americans who reached the Pacific coast overland, and it is the centenary of this momentous event that will be celebrated at Portland in 1905, for the subsequent acquisition of this vast region gave the United States its first footing on the Pacific's shores and opened the way to a great continental development.

As this acquisition was one of the most important events in American history, because of the influence exerted toward making the United States a great nation in territorial extent, the American people in general and those of the Pacific coast in particular, supported by the government, have determined that this centennial shall be fittingly celebrated. When its gates are officially opened it will represent an expenditure approximating $5,000,000 and will occupy some 400 picturesque acres in the beautiful suburbs of Portland, overlooking Guild's lake and the Willamette river.

The centennial will provide twelve commodious exhibit palaces and furnish ample space, free of charge, for all displays, governmental and otherwise, that are offered. The main palaces will be: Foreign exhibits, liberal arts and industrial palace, horticultural palace, agricultural palace, electricity and machinery hall, mining palace, government exhibits palace, territorial building, forestry building, irrigation building, fisheries building and live-stock building. Arrangements have been made with the transportation companies so that exhibits at St. Louis in 1904 may be displayed at Portland in 1905 with little or no extra cost of transportation through the opportunity offered by the free return freight rates established on goods sent to the world's fair for exhibit purposes.

DEATH OF PAUL KRUGER.

Paul Kruger, former president of the Transvaal republic, died at Clarens, Switzerland, July 14, 1904, of senile pneumonia. He had been ill for some time, but was able to be about and receive visitors until within a few days of his death. Toward the close of the Anglo-Boer war Kruger went to Holland and made his home there and in France and Switzerland. He was born Oct. 10, 1825, in Cape Colony, became a member of the executive council of the South African Republic in 1872 and was made president for the first time in 1883. So great was the confidence reposed in him by his people that he was re-elected in 1888, 1893 and 1898, remaining in office until the republic ceased to exist.

Preamble—The United States of America and the republic of Panama, being desirous to insure the construction of a ship canal across the isthmus of Panama, to connect the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and the congress of the United States having passed an act, approved June 28, 1902, in furtherance of that object, a copy of which is hereto annexed, by which the president of the United States is authorized to acquire within a reasonable time the control of necessary territory of the republic of Colombia, and the sovereignty of such territory being actually vested in the republic of Panama, the high contracting parties have resolved for that purpose to conclude a convention, and have accordingly appointed as their plenipotentiaries: The president of the United States, John Hay, secretary of state, and the government of the republic of Panama, Philippe Bunau-Varilla, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the republic of Panama, thereunto empowered by said governments, who after communicating with each other their respective full powers, found to be in good and due form, have agreed upon the following articles:

Article 1. The United States guarantees and will maintain the independence of the republic of Panama.

Art. 2. The republic of Panama grants to the United States in perpetuity the use, occupation and control of the zone of land and land under water for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of said canal, of the width of ten miles, extending to the distance of five miles on each side of the center line of the route of the canal to be constructed, the said zone beginning in the Caribbean sea three marine miles from mean low water mark and extending to and across the isthmus of Panama into the Pacific ocean to a distance of three marine miles from mean low water mark, with the proviso that the cities of Panama, Colon and the harbors adjacent to said cities, which are included within the boundaries of the zone above described, shall not be included within this grant. The republic of Panama further grants to the United States in perpetuity the use, occupation and control of any other lands and waters outside of the zone above described which may be necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said canal, or of any auxiliary canals or other works necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said enterprise. The republic of Panama further grants to the United States in perpetuity all islands within the limits of the zone above described, and in addition thereto the group of small islands in the bay of Panama named Perico, Naos, Cuiebra and Flamenco.

Art. 3. The republic of Panama grants to the United States all the rights, power and authority within the zone mentioned and described in article 2 of this agreement and within the limits of all auxiliary lands and waters mentioned and described in said article 2, which the United States would possess and exercise if it were the sovereign of the territory within which said lands and waters are located to the entire exclusion of the exercise by the republic of Panama of any such sovereign rights, power and authority.

Art. 4. As rights subsidiary to the above grants the republic of Panama grants in perpetuity to the United States the right to use the rivers, streams, lakes and other bodies of water within its limits for navigation, the supply of water or water power or other purposes so far as the use of said rivers, streams, lakes and bodies of water and the waters thereof may be necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said canal.

Art. 5. The republic of Panama grants to the United States in perpetuity a monopoly for the construction, maintenance and operation of any system of communication by means of canal or railroad across its territory between the Caribbean sea and the Pacific ocean.

Art. 6. The grants herein contained shall in no manner invalidate the titles or rights of private land holders or owners of private property in the said zone or in or to any of the lands or waters granted to the United States by the provisions of any article of this treaty, nor shall they interfere with the rights of way over the public roads passing through the said zone or over any of the said lands or waters unless said rights of way or private rights shall conflict with rights herein granted to the United States, in which case the rights of the United States shall be superior. All damages caused to the owners of private lands or private property of any kind by reason of the grants contained in this treaty or by reason of the operations of the United States, its agents or employees, or by reason of the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said canal or of any of the works of sanitation or protection herein provided for, shall be appraised and settled by a joint commission appointed by the governments of the United States and the republic of Panama, whose decisions as to such damages shall be final and whose awards as to such damages shall be paid solely by the United States. No part of the work on said canal or the Panama railroad or on any auxiliary works relating thereto and authorized by the terms of this treaty shall be prevented, delayed or impeded by or pending such proceedings to ascertain such damages. The appraisal of said private lands and private property and the assessment of damages to them shall be based upon their value before the date of this convention.

Art. 7. The republic of Panama grants to the United States within the limits of the cities of Panama and Colon and their adjacent harbors and within the territory adjacent thereto the right to acquire by purchase or by the exercise of the right of eminent domain any lands, buildings, water rights or other properties necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation and protection of the canal and of any works of sanitation, such as the collection and disposition of sewage and the distribution of water in the said cities of Panama and Colon, which in the discretion of the United States may be necessary and convenient for the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the said canal and railroad. All such works of sanitation, collection and disposition of sewage and distribution of water in the cities of Panama and Colon shall be made at the expense of the United States, and the government of the United States, its agents or nominees shall be authorized to impose and collect water rates and sewerage rates which shall be sufficient to provide for the payment of interest and the amortization of the principal of the cost of said works within a period of fifty years and upon the expiration of said term of fifty years the system of sewers and water works shall revert to and become the properties of the cities of Panama and Colon respectively, and the use of the water shall be free to the inhabitants of Panama and Colon, except to the extent that water rates may be necessary for the operation and maintenance of said system of sewers and water.

The republic of Panama agrees that the cities of Panama and Colon shall comply in perpetuity with the sanitary ordinances, whether of a preventive or curative character, prescribed by the United States and in case the government of Panama is unable or fails in its duty to enforce this compliance by the cities of Panama and Colon with the sanitary ordinances of the United States, the republic of Panama grants to the United States the right and authority to enforce the same.

The same right and authority are granted to the United States for the maintenance of public order in the cities of Panama and Colon and the territories and harbors adjacent thereto in case the republic of Panama should not be, in the judgment of the United States, able to maintain such order.

Art. 8. The republic of Panama grants to the United States all rights which it now has or hereafter may acquire to the property of the New Panama Canal company and the Panama Railroad company as a result of the transfer of sovereignty from the republic of Colombia to the republic of Panama over the Isthmus of Panama and authorizes the New Panama Canal company to sell and transfer to the United States its rights, privileges, properties and concessions as well as the Panama railroad and all the shares or part of the shares of that company, but the public lands situated outside of the zone described in article 2 of this treaty now included in the concessions to both said enterprises and not required in the construction or operation of the canal shall revert to the republic of Panama except any property now owned by or in possession of said companies within Panama or Colon or the ports or terminals thereof.

Art. 9. The United States agrees that the ports at either entrance of the canal and the waters thereof, and the republic of Panama agrees that the towns of Panama and Colon shall be free for all time so that there shall not be imposed or collected custom-house tolls, tonnage, anchorage, light-house, wharf, pilot or quarantine dues or other charges or taxes of any kind upon any vessel using or passing through the canal or belonging to or employed by the United States, directly or indirectly, in connection with the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the main canal or auxiliary works, or upon the cargo, officers, crew or passengers of any such vessels, except such tolls and charges as may be imposed by the United States for the use of the canal and other works, and except tolls and charges imposed by the republic of Panama upon merchandise destined to be introduced for the consumption of the rest of the republic of Panama, and upon vessels touching at the ports of Colon and Panama and which do not cross the canal.

The government of the republic of Panama shall have the right to establish in such ports and in the towns of Panama and Colon such houses and guards as it may deem necessary to collect duties on importations destined to other portions of Panama and to prevent contraband trade. The United States shall have the right to make use of the towns and harbors of Panama and Colon as places of anchorage and for making repairs, for loading, unloading, depositing or transshipping cargoes either in transit or destined for the service of the canal or for other works pertaining to the canal.

Art. 10. The republic of Panama agrees that there shall not be imposed any taxes, national, municipal, departmental or of any other class, upon the canal, the railways and auxiliary works, tugs and other vessels employed in the service of the canal, storehouses, workshops, offices, quarters for laborers, factories of all kinds, warehouses, wharves, machinery and other works, property and effects appertaining to the canal or railroad and auxiliary works or their officers or employees situated within the cities of Panama and Colon, and that there shall not be imposed contributions or charges of a personal character of any kind upon officers, employees, laborers and other individuals in the service of the canal and railroad and auxiliary works.

Art. 11. The United States agrees that the official dispatches of the government of the republic of Panama shall be transmitted over any telegraph and telephone lines established for canal purposes and used for public and private business at rates not higher than those required from officials in the service of the United States.

Art. 12. The government of the republic of Panama shall permit the immigration and free access to the lands and workshops of the canal and its auxiliary works of all employees and workmen of whatever nationality under contract to work upon or seeking employment upon or in any wise connected with the said canal and its auxiliary works, with their respective families, and all such persons shall be free and exempt from the military service of the republic of Panama.

Art. 13. The United States may import at any time into the said zone and auxiliary lands, free of custom duties, imposts, taxes or other charges and without any restrictions, any and all vessels, dredges, engines, cars, machinery, tools, explosives, materials, supplies and other articles, necessary and convenient in the construction, maintenance, operation, sanitation and protection of the canal and auxiliary works, and all provisions, medicines, clothing, supplies and other things necessary and convenient for the officers, employees, workmen and laborers in the service and employ of the United States and for their families. If any such articles are disposed of for use outside of the zone and auxiliary lands granted to the United States and within the territory of the republic, they shall be subject to the same import or other duties as like articles imported under the laws of the republic of Panama.

Art. 14. As the price or compensation for the rights, powers and privileges granted in this convention by the republic of Panama to the United States, the government of the United States agrees to pay to the republic of Panama the sum of ten million dollars ($10,000,000) in gold coin of the United States on the exchange of the ratifications of this convention and also an annual payment during the life of this convention of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($250,000) in like gold coin, beginning nine years after the date aforesaid.

The provisions of this article shall be in addition to all other benefits assured to the republic of Panama under this convention.

But no delay or difference of opinion under this article or any other provisions of this treaty shall affect or interrupt the full operation and effect of this convention in all other respects.

Art. 15. The joint commission referred to in article 6 shall be established as follows: The president of the United States shall nominate two persons and the president of the republic of Panama shall nominate two persons and they shall proceed to a decision, but in case of disagreement of the commission (by reason of their being equally divided in conclusion) an umpire shall be appointed by the two governments who shall render the decision. In the event of the death, absence or incapacity of a commissioner or umpire, or of his omitting, declining or ceasing to act, his place shall be filled by the appointment of another person in the manner above indicated. All the decisions by a majority of the commission or by the umpire shall be final.

Art. 16. The two governments shall make adequate provision by future agreement for the pursuit, capture, imprisonment, detention and delivery within said zone and auxiliary lands to the authorities of the republic of Panama of persons charged with the commitment of crimes, felonies or misdemeanors without said zone and for the pursuit, capture, imprisonment, detention and delivery without said zone to the authorities of the United States of persons charged with the commitment of crimes, felonies and misdemeanors within said zone and auxiliary lands.

Art. 17. The republic of Panama grants to the United States the use of all the ports of the republic open to commerce as places of refuge for any vessels employed in the canal enterprise and for vessels passing or bound to pass through the canal which may be in distress and be driven to seek refuge in said ports. Such vessels shall be exempt from anchorage and tonnage dues on the part of the republic of Panama.

Art. 18. Such canal when constructed, and the entrances thereto, shall be neutral in perpetuity, and shall be opened upon the terms provided for by section 1 of article 3, of, and in conformity with all the stipulations of, the treaty entered into by the governments of the United States and Great Britain on Nov. 18, 1901.

Art. 19. The government of the republic of Panama shall have the right to transport over the canal its vessels and its troops and munitions of war in such vessels at all times without paying charges of any kind. The exemption is to be extended to the auxiliary railway for the transportation of persons in the service of the republic of Panama, or of the police force charged with the preservation of public order outside of said zone, as well as to their baggage, munitions of war and supplies.

Art. 20. If by virtue of any existing treaty in relation to the territory of the isthmus of Panama, whereof the obligations shall descend or be assumed by the republic of Panama, there may be any privilege or concession in favor of the government or the citizens and subjects of a third power relative to an interoceanic means of communication which in any of its terms may be incompatible with the terms of the present convention, the republic of Panama agrees to cancel or modify such treaty in due form, for which purpose it shall give to the said third power the requisite notification within the term of four months from the date of the present convention, and in case the existing treaty contains no clause permitting its modifications or annulment, the republic of Panama agrees to procure its modification or annulment in such form that there shall not exist any conflict with the stipulations of the present convention.

Art. 21. The rights and privileges granted by the republic of Panama to the United States in the preceding articles are understood to be free of all anterior debts, liens, trusts or liabilities or concessions or privileges to other governments, corporations, syndicates or individuals, and consequently, if there should arise any claims on account of the present concessions and privileges or otherwise, the claimants shall resort to the government of the republic of Panama and not to the United States for any indemnity or compromise which may be required.

Art. 22. The republic of Panama renounces and grants to the United States the participation to which it might be entitled in the future earnings of the canal under article 15 of the concessionary contract with Lucien N. B. Wyse now owned by the New Panama Canal company and any and all other rights or claims of a pecuniary nature arising under or relating to said concession, or arising under or relating to the concessions to the Panama Railroad company; or any extension or modification thereof; and it likewise renounces, confirms and grants to the United States, now and hereafter, all the rights and property reserved in the said concessions which otherwise would belong to Panama at or before the expiration of the terms of ninety-nine years of the concessions granted to or held by the above-mentioned party and companies, and all right, title and interest which it now has or may hereafter have, in and to the lands, canal, works, property and rights held by the said companies under said concessions or otherwise, and acquired or to be acquired by the United States from or through the New Panama Canal company, including any property and rights which might or may in the future, either by lapse of time, forfeiture or otherwise, revert to the republic of Panama under any contracts or concessions with said Wyse, the Universal Panama Canal company, the Panama Railroad company and the New Panama Canal company.

The aforesaid rights and property shall be and are freed and released from any present or reverential interest in or claims of Panama and the title of the United States thereto upon consummation of the contemplated purchase by the United States from the New Panama Canal company, shall be absolute, so far as concerns the republic of Panama, excepting always the rights of the republic specifically secured under this treaty.

Art. 23. If it should become necessary at any time to employ armed forces for the safety or protection of the canal, or of the ships that make use of the same, or the railways and auxiliary works, the United States shall have the right, at all times and in its discretion, to use its police and its land and naval forces or to establish fortifications for these purposes.

Art. 24. No change either in the government or in the laws and treaties of the republic of Panama shall, without the consent of the United States, affect any right of the United States under the present convention, or under any treaty stipulation between the two countries that now exists or may hereafter exist touching the subject matter of this convention.

If the republic of Panama shall hereafter enter as a constituent into any other government or into any union or confederation of states, so as to merge her sovereignty or independence in such government, union or confederation, the rights of the United States under this convention shall not be in any respect lessened or impaired.

Art. 25. For the better performance of the engagements of this convention and to the end of the efficient protection of the canal and the preservation of its neutrality, the government of the republic of Panama will sell or lease to the United States lands adequate and necessary for naval or coaling stations on the Pacific coast and on the western Caribbean coast of the republic at certain points to be agreed upon with the president of the United States.

Art. 26. This convention when signed by the plenipotentiaries of the contracting parties shall be ratified by the respective governments and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Washington at the earliest date possible.

In faith whereof the respective plenipotentiaries have signed the present convention in duplicate and have hereunto affixed their respective seals.

Done at the city of Washington the 18th day of November in the year of our Lord 1903.

GOVERNMENT.

The president of the United States was authorized by a bill passed by congress and approved April 26, 1904, to establish rules for the government of the canal zone. In accordance with this act he placed the control of the strip in the hands of the war department and in a communication dated May 9, 1904, and addressed to the secretary of war, he defined in a general way the regulations to be enforced. The inhabitants of the canal zone are to be secure in their persons, property and religion and are to be disturbed as little as possible in their customs and vocations. Municipal laws are to be administered by the ordinary tribunals substantially as they were before the change. Police magistrates and justices of the peace are to be continued in office if they are suitable persons. The governor of the zone shall have the power to appoint temporarily a judge with authority equivalent to that usually exercised in Latin countries by a judge of a court of first instance. Additional or appellate judges may be appointed if required.

The laws of the land with which the inhabitants are familiar, and which were in force on Feb. 26, 1904, will continue in force in the canal zone until altered or annulled by the canal commission, but the personal rights guaranteed by the constitution of the United States shall also be respected. The commission is given power to exclude from the canal territory over which the United States has control all idiots, insane, epileptics, paupers, criminals, professional beggars, persons afflicted with contagious diseases, and anarchists, provided they have come into the zone subsequent to Feb. 26, 1904. The commission may legislate on all rightful subjects of legislation not inconsistent with the laws and treaties of the United States, so far as they apply to the canal zone. This includes the enactment of the sanitary ordinances for the cities of Colon and Panama and the raising and appropriating of revenues. Four or more members of the commission shall constitute a legislative quorum and the quarterly meetings shall be held either in Panama or at a branch office in Washington. All laws and regulations passed by the commission are subject to the approval of the secretary of war.

Maj.-Gen. George W. Davis, appointed governor of the isthmian canal zone, will, in the name of the president of the United States, see that the laws are faithfully executed, and will maintain possession of the canal property, except the Panama railroad. He is vested with the power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the laws as existing or as laid down by the commission. Other duties may be assigned to him by the commission.

For the preservation of order and the protection of government property an adequate police force shall be maintained. In case of necessity the governor may call upon any military or naval force of the United States for assistance. Every possible effort is to be made to protect officers and workmen from the tropical and other diseases which in the past have been prevalent and destructive in Panama.

The canal commission is to prepare for congress an annual report to be placed in the hands of the secretary of war on or before Dec. 1, giving a full account of all operations and of all moneys received and expended.

Rear-Admiral John G. Walker and Col. Frank J. Hecker are appointed members of the joint commission provided for by articles 6 and 15 of the canal convention. The necessary expenses in carrying on the government of the canal zone will be defrayed from the local revenues so far as they may be sufficient; the remainder will be met from the appropriations by congress.

The general policy of the Panama railroad will be controlled by the United States and the canal commissioners are to be elected to its board of directors. The road is to be used as an adjunct of the canal and to fulfill its purpose as a route of commercial movement across the isthmus.

No salary or per diem allowance in addition to the stated salary and per diem allowance of the members of the isthmian canal commission will be allowed to any member of the commission by reason of his services in connection with the civil government of the zone, or his membership of any board concerned in the construction of the canal, or by reason of his being a director of the railroad.

Franchises for gambling or for conducting lotteries are to be annulled.

PLAN AND COST OF CANAL.

The canal is to extend from Colon on the Atlantic side to the city of Panama on the Pacific side, a distance of forty-six miles. It is to be deep and wide enough to accommodate the largest ocean vessels. It was the original idea to have a sea-level canal, but this was abandoned in favor of a lock canal. The plans of the French company purchased by the United States are subject to change by the commissioners, but it is thought that they will be followed in the main. According to these the bottom of the summit level of the canal will have an altitude of 68.08 feet above mean sea level. This level, which is in the Culebra mountain, is to be 318.35 feet long and 118.11 feet wide at the bottom. The next level, from Obispo to Bohio, with a bottom width of 164 feet, is 13.37 miles long. At Bohio a group of double locks empties into the Atlantic level, which has a width of 98.4 to 111.5 feet on the bottom and a length of 14.84 miles.

On the Pacific side the summit level terminates at Paraiso with one double lock. The adjacent level from Paraiso to Pedro Miguel is 7,963 feet long and terminates with one double lock. The Pacific level extends 4.69 miles to La Boca, beyond which a channel 3.36 miles long is excavated to deep water. All the locks are to be double, the working length for both being 738.22 feet. The width of one of the twin locks is to be 82.02 feet, and the width of the other is 59.05 feet, with an intermediate gate.

The slopes of the canal, especially in the deep central trench, are to be protected by stone revetments. Of the forty-six miles of the canal 26.75 are straight and fifteen have radii equal to or not exceeding 9,850 feet. The curvatures are gentle, the smallest radius being 8,200 feet.

The Chagres river is to be controlled by two great dams which will capture and control the floods, supplying the summit level with water during the dry season, feeding the canal and furnishing hydraulic power for operating the locks and lighting the entire length of the waterway by night. One of the dams will be at Bohio on the canal and the other at Alhajuela, on the upper Chagres, nine and one-third miles from the canal. The Bohio dam will form a lake covering an area of 21.5 square miles with a normal level of 55.75 feet above mean tide. The other dam will form a reservoir covering ten square miles. It will be about 164 feet above the canal.

It will take a vessel about twelve hours to traverse the canal from end to end.

The total cost of constructing the Panama canal, not including the payments for work done and for the concession, has been estimated at about $145,000,000. The annual cost of maintenance will be $2,000,000.

RECENT ASSASSINATIONS IN RUSSIA.

Following is a list of recent assassinations and attempts at the assassination of prominent Russian officials:

Bogolepoff, minister of education, Feb. 27, 1901.

Poblednostseff, procurator of the holy synod, attempted, May 22, 1901.

Siplaguine, minister of the interior, April 15, 1902.

Prince Obolenski, governor of Kharkov, wounded, Aug. 11, 1902.

Bogdanovitch, ex-governor of Ufa, May 19, 1903.

Prince Gallitzin, governor of Caucasia, stabbed, Oct. 27, 1903.

Gen. Bobrikoff, governor of Finland, June 17, 1904.

Andriev, vice-governor of Elizabethpol, July 17, 1904.

Von Plehve, minister of the interior, July 28, 1904.

NORTHERN SECURITIES COMPANY DECLARED ILLEGAL.

Northern Securities company incorporated Nov. 13, 1901.

Authorized capital stock, $400,000,000.

President, James J. Hill.

Suit brought by the government March 11, 1902.

Decision of United States Circuit court against company April 9, 1903.

Decision affirmed by United States Supreme court March 14, 1904.

The decision of the United States Circuit court for the district of Minnesota in the case of the government against the Northern Securities company was affirmed by the United States Supreme court March 14, 1904. The opinion was read by Justice Harlan, Justices Brown, Brewer, McKenna and Day concurring. Chief Justice Fuller and Justices White, Peckham and Holmes dissented. In effect the decision of the lower court was that the "merger" of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroad properties through the formation of a company holding the securities of both companies was in violation of the Sherman antitrust law of 1890 because the combination of the roads would result in the restraint of interstate commerce. This contention was fully upheld in the opinion read by Justice Harlan. He declared that if such a combination were not destroyed all the advantages that would naturally come to the public under the operation of the general laws of competition, as between the Great Northern and Northern Pacific Railroad companies, would be lost and the entire commerce of the immense territory in the northern part of the United States between the great lakes and the Pacific at Puget sound would be at the mercy of a single holding corporation, organized in a state distinct from the people of that territory. If the antitrust act were held not to include such cases as this the plain intention of the legislative branch of the government would be defeated.

FIRE IN TORONTO, ONT.

Fire broke out in the wholesale district of Toronto, Ont., at 9 o'clock on the evening of April 19, and before it could be brought under control many blocks of buildings had been destroyed. Most of the structures destroyed were stores and warehouses on Wellington and Bay streets. Buffalo, Hamilton, London and Montreal sent fire engines to assist the local department, but the flames were practically under control before they arrived. The total loss was estimated at $13,000,000; insurance, $8,360,000.

RADIUM AND RADIO-ACTIVITY.

X-rays discovered by Prof. Roentgen, 1895.
Uranium rays discovered by Henri Becquerel, 1896.

Radium discovered by Mme. and Prof. Curie, 1898.

Alpha, beta and gamma rays discovered by Prof. Rutherford, 1899.

Uranium X discovered by Sir William Crookes, 1906.

Thorium X and radium emanation discovered by Prof. Rutherford, 1902-1903.

Production of helium by emanation of radium discovered by Prof. Ramsay and Mr. Soddy, 1903.

It was the discovery in 1896 by Henri Becquerel, a noted French physicist, that uranium and uranium compounds emitted rays which, like the X-rays found by Prof. Roentgen, affected photographic plates and rendered a gas through which they passed a conductor of electricity, that most immediately led to the discovery of radium. Mme. Curie, in experimenting with pitchblende, the chief component of which is uranium oxide, noticed that the crude ore would affect a photographic plate or discharge an electrified body much more quickly than the same weight of pure uranium salt. She therefore concluded that the ore must contain some element having a greater radio-activity than the uranium oxide. With the assistance of her husband, Prof. Curie, she proceeded to separate the various substances contained in pitchblende, such as uranium, barium, lead, copper and zinc, by the methods ordinarily used in quantitative chemical analysis. After each separation she determined which of the two parts contained the greater amount of radio-activity, following the same process until finally only the pure radium salt remained. Thus an entirely new element, of which not more than two or three grains were obtained from several tons of pitchblende, was brought to light.

Cathode rays were known and studied long before Prof. Roentgen of Germany discovered X-rays in 1895, but it was not until three years after that date that their nature was determined. It was then found that they consisted of streams of negatively charged particles shot off with a velocity approximating 20,000 miles per second from the negative electrode, or cathode, of an exhausted bulb in which an electrical discharge was passing. The particles are bodies whose mass is only one-thousandth of the mass of the atom of hydrogen, the smallest atom known. Roentgen's X-rays differ from cathode rays in that they are not deflected by a magnet or by bodies charged with static electricity and do not impart negative charges to objects upon which they fall. They originate where the cathode rays strike the walls of the tube or any object placed within the tube. Of what X-rays consist little or nothing is known. Investigators are inclined to think they are ethereal and similar to light waves. Radium rays and rays emitted by uranium, thorium, polonium and actinium, all of which have been called radio-active substances by the Curies, are identical in some respects with the cathode rays. They consist of particles of the same size as those of the cathode rays, but their velocity is much greater, approximating that of light, which is 186,000 miles a second, and they are spontaneously emitted.

Radium rays form a heterogeneous compound which has been divided into three groups named by Rutherford alpha, beta and gamma rays. These are easily distinguished through their properties in a strong magnetic field. The alpha rays, which are also emitted by uranium and thorium, are different from the cathode rays in that they are less easily deflected and have a smaller penetrating power. They consist of particles of matter carrying positive instead of negative charges of electricity and having a weight about 2,000 times greater than that of the cathode particles. Their mass is equal to that of helium and their velocity is the same as that of the cathode particles, or about 20,000 miles a second. The beta rays have all the characteristics of cathode rays. The gamma rays have a much greater penetrating power than the others, but their energy is insignificant and they are supposed to be ethereal in their nature, like the Roentgen rays. The fact that the alpha rays have less penetrating power but more energy than the other rays is accounted for by their greater mass and weight.

Uranium X and thorium X are substances formed by precipitating uranium and thorium nitrates by ammonium carbonates and adding enough of the latter to redissolve the nitrates. The undissolved precipitates contain much of the radio-activity of the original nitrates, but in the course of a few days lose it, while the nitrates regain it. The activity of thorium X, however, disappears four times as fast as that of uranium X. Radium when subjected to analysis was found to be producing a radio-active substance similar to uranium X and thorium X, in that it loses its activity in course of time, but it has distinct physical properties of its own. By heating radium, or dissolving it in water, a gas, called radium emanation by Prof. Rutherford, is produced having three-fourths of the radiating power of radium, the latter retaining the other fourth. One-half of the activity disappears in four days, the radium from which it has been separated regaining the same amount in the same time.

It has also been found that the gas or emanation from radium is transformed into still another radio-active substance, which in turn loses its activity, but at a different rate from that of the emanation itself, and that it emits both alpha and beta rays, while the emanation emits alpha rays alone. From this it is concluded that the new substance is the result of the disintegration of the atom of the emanation, just as the emanation is the result of the disintegration of the atom of radium. In 1903 Messrs. Ramsay and Soddy by spectroscopic examination discovered in the emanation from fifty milligrams of radium bromide the characteristic lines of helium, thus apparently proving that helium is being constantly formed by the disintegration of radium.

In a lecture at the Sorbonne, Paris, in the early part of 1904, Prof. Curie gave many interesting details as to radium and other radio-active substances. He said, in part: "Polonium, radium and actinium send out rays having an intensity a million times greater than that of the rays emitted by uranium and thorium. No screen is absolutely impenetrable by radium rays. In a great number of bodies they produce phosphorescence. Phosphorescent bodies when exposed continuously to radium rays become less active and less luminous. Radium rays are self-luminous. It is to be assumed that they become phosphorescent through the Becquerel rays which they emit. Radium chloride and radium bromide are salts which intensify the luminosity to such an extent that it becomes visible in broad daylight. The light emitted by the radium salts recalls that of the glow-worm. When the light diminishes, which it does in time, but without entirely disappearing, the salts first become colorless, then gray and then yellow or violet.

"Radium salts possess the remarkable property, discovered by Laborde and myself, of constantly developing heat. One gram of radium develops eighty calories, or sufficient to raise the temperature of eighty grams of water one degree or to melt one gram of ice.

"Radium rays produce several distinct physiological effects. Even if the radium is in a dark pasteboard box or box of metal it affects the eyes and produces a sensation of light when the box is placed before the closed eyes or on the temples. The source of this light is in the eyes themselves, as their media begin to phosphoresce under the influence of the radium rays.

"Radium rays also affect the skin. If a tube containing radium is placed against the skin no particular sensation is felt at the time, but in from fifteen to twenty days the skin reddens where the tube was applied and a scab forms. Longer application of the radium causes a wound that requires months to heal. The effect of the radium rays on the cuticle is analogous to that of the Roentgen rays. An effort is being made to use them in treating lupus and cancer. Radium rays also affect the nerve centers, causing lameness and even death. They appear to be especially intense in their effect on living tissues.

"The late Demarcay first turned the spectrum analysis upon the spectrum of radium. The spectral reaction of radium is as sensitive as that of barium. In a barium salt containing only one ten-thousandth part of radium the latter can be detected in the spectroscope. But the radio-activity gives a reaction that is ten thousand times more sensitive. By means of an ordinary, well-isolated electrometer one can detect a one-hundred-millionth part of radium in inactive substances. Though radium is very close to barium, not even a trace of it is found in the common barium ores. As an accompaniment of barium it is found only in uranium ores—a circumstance which is probably of great hypothetical significance.

"Radium gives us the example of a body which constantly develops energy, and that in considerable quantity. Herein there appears to be a violation of the basic principle of energy, in explanation of which several theories have been advanced. We shall mention two as being especially worthy of mention. According to one theory radium is an element in process of development. This development must be considered to be extremely slow—so much so that even after the lapse of years no change is apparent. The energy developed by radium in the course of a year would, according to this, effect but an insignificant change in its substance. According to the second hypothesis, there exist in space rays still unknown and not distinguishable by our senses. Radium has the property of absorbing the energy of these hypothetical rays and transforming them into radio-active energy. Moreover, these two theories are not incompatible. Finally, a new and important fact has been discovered by Messrs. Ramsay and Soddy. These scientists have found that while the emanations of radium disappear they turn into helium gas. Thus it appears that for the first time we are face to face with the formation of an element. Possibly radium is an unstable chemical element and helium one of the products of its disintegration."

Though no one has as yet been able to detect loss of weight and activity in radium, Prof. R. A. Millikan of the University of Chicago maintains that it does lose both. If it did not the principle of the conservation of energy would be violated. He has calculated that all the radium now in existence will cease to be active within a period of a million years at the most. The life of uranium and thorium will be from one to two million years longer, since they radiate only about a millionth as actively.

The amount of radium in existence is a matter of pure conjecture. At present it is obtained chiefly from pitchblende, or mineral uraninite, an ore found only in limited quantities. One ton of this contains only one decigram of radium. Owing to the difficulty with which it is obtained and its great scarcity radium is very expensive and but little is to be had at any price. So far it has been used principally for experimental purposes by scientists, no practical use of great value having been found for it.

In connection with the discovery of radium and radio-activity Prof. Millikan makes some interesting suggestions. In an article contributed to the Popular Science Monthly for April, 1904, he says: "The discoveries which we have attempted to describe have seemed to lead to the startling conclusion that in the case of certain elements at least the dreams of the ancient alchemists are true, for the radio-active elements all appear to be slowly but spontaneously transmuting themselves into other elements. The present indications seem to be that this transmutation which is going on in nature is a change from the heavier atoms to the lighter ones. Whether any other heavy atoms besides those of uranium, thorium and radium are thus slowly disintegrating we cannot say, but probably actinium must be added to the list. If any other known heavy elements, like gold, lead, barium, bismuth, mercury, are undergoing such a change, it is too slow to be detected even by the delicate test of radio-activity. But it is interesting to note that the only changes of this kind which have thus far been discovered to be going on among the atoms are in some respects similar to the changes which are going on in the organic world among the molecules. By the ordinary process of decay all organic compounds, which represent very complex molecular structures, are continually disintegrating into simpler ones, and in doing so are setting free the energy which was put into them when the processes of life built them up into complex forms. Similarly, the studies of the last eight years upon radiation seem to indicate that in the atomic world also at least some of the heaviest and most complex atomic structures are tending to disintegrate into simpler atoms. The analogy suggests the profoundly interesting question as to whether or not there is any natural process which does among the atoms what the life process does among the molecules; that is, which takes the simpler forms and builds them up again into more complex ones. It would be rash to attempt to give any positive answer to such a query, yet the fact that radium now exists on earth, taken in connection with the fact that the life of radium is short in comparison with the ages in which the earth has been in existence, certainly seems to point to an affirmative answer. The only other alternative is to assume that radium is itself a product of the disintegration of some heavier element which has been undergoing this process of decay since the world began.

"The experiments of the last eight years have then marked a remarkable advance in science in that they have proved the existence of an immense store of subatomic energy. It seems highly improbable, however, that this energy can ever be utilized on the earth to serve man's economic needs, for thus far we know of but three substances which are disengaging it, and these are changing so slowly that the rate of evolution of energy is almost infinitesimal. Radium may possibly prove of practical value in the cure of disease, although it is too early yet to assert even this with certainty. But even if no practical application of these discoveries should be found, radio-activity will nevertheless have served one of the most useful of all ends—namely, that of enlarging man's knowledge of nature and of deepening his insight into the constitution of matter."

ISLAND OF PORTO RICO.

Porto Rico, according to the decision of the United States Supreme court in the insular cases May 27, 1901, is a territory appurtenant and belonging to the United States, but not a part of the United States within the revenue clause of the constitution. The island was ceded to the United States by Spain Dec. 10, 1898, and was under military rule until the Foraker law went into effect May 1, 1900. (For the provisions of that law see The Daily News Almanac for 1901.) In accordance with the third section of that act, the legislative assembly of Porto Rico having put into operation a system of local taxation to meet the necessities of government, President McKinley on the 25th of July, 1902, the anniversary of the landing of American troops on the island in 1898—proclaimed free trade between the United States and Porto Rico.

GOVERNMENT—Civil government, under the provisions of the Foraker act, was established May 1, 1900. The upper house consists of eleven members, six of whom are "cabinet" officers appointed by the president; the lower house is made up of thirty-five delegates elected by the people every two years. The governor, who is appointed by the president, has practically the same duties as the governor of any other territory of the United States. The present officers are: Governor, Beckham Winthrop; secretary, Charles Hartzell; attorney-general, Willis Sweet; commissioner of education, Samuel M. Lindsay.

AREA AND POPULATION—The area of Porto Rico is about 3,600 square miles, and the population, as shown by the military census of 1899, is 953,243. Of these 941,751 are natives. The whites number 589,426 and the colored 363,817. The colored are subdivided into 304,352 mestizos, 59,390 negroes and 75 Chinese. By departments the population is: Aguadilla, 99,645; Arecibo, 162,308; Bayamon, 147,681; Guayama, 111,986; Humacao, 100,866; Mayaguez, 127,566; Ponce, 203,191. The cities having more than 5,000 inhabitants are: San Juan, 32,048; Ponce, 27,952; Mayaguez, 15,187; Arecibo, 8,008; Aguadilla, 6,425; Yauco, 6,108; Caguas, 5,450; Guayama, 5,334.

COMMERCE—For the year ended June 30, 1904, the total domestic exports from Porto Rico to foreign countries and the United States amounted to $16,013,390, while the imports from the United States amounted to $10,727,015. Of the exports the United States took merchandise valued at $11,576,912; Spain, $626,310; Cuba, $770,478; France, $1,576,546; Germany, $348,918; Austria-Hungary, $469,778.

The leading articles of export are coffee, oranges, brown sugar and tobacco.

THE PHILIPPINE ISLANDS.

The Philippine islands were ceded to the United States by Spain Dec. 10, 1898. Maj.-Gen. Merritt was the first military governor. He was succeeded in August, 1899, by Maj.-Gen. E. S. Otis, who in turn was followed May, 1900, by Maj.-Gen. Arthur MacArthur. The last named remained in office until July 4, 1901, when the military authority was transferred to Gen. A. R. Chaffee. By order of the president Gen. Chaffee was relieved of his duties as military governor July 4, 1902, and the office terminated. The Philippine commission was at the same time made the superior authority. Sept. 2 the islands were divided into three military departments, to be known as the department of Luzon, the department of Visayas and the department of Mindanao.

OFFICIALS AND SALARIES—The government of the Philippine Islands is in the hands of a commission appointed by the president of the United States, consisting in December, 1904, of Luke E. Wright of Tennessee, Prof. Dean C. Worcester of Michigan, Henry C. Ide of Vermont, James F. Smith of California, W. Cameron Forbes of Massachusetts and Trinidad Pardo de Tavera. Benito Legarda and Jose R. Luzuriaga of the Philippines. The officers up to the close of 1903 were:

Governor—Luke E. Wright.

Vice-Governor and Secretary of Commerce and Police—Henry C. Ide.

Secretary Interior Department—Dean C. Worcester.

Secretary of Commerce and Police—W. Cameron Forbes.

Secretary Public Instruction—Gen. James F. Smith.

Executive Secretary—Arthur W. Fergusson.

Auditor—Abraham L. Lawshe.

Treasurer—Frank A. Branagan.

Superintendent of Education—David P. Barrows.

Director-General of Posts—C. M. Cotterman.

Attorney-General—L. R. Wilfley.

Solicitor-General—Gregorio Araneta.

Collector of Customs—W. M. Shuster.

Chief Justice Supreme Court—Cayetano Arellano.

The governor receives $20,000 a year ($15,000 as governor) and the other commissioners receive $15,500 each ($10,500 being for their services as heads of departments). The salaries of other leading officials are: Secretary to the commission, $3,500; secretary to the governor, $7,500; auditor, $6,000; collector of customs, $6,000; attorney-general, $5,500; solicitor-general, $4,500; chief justice Supreme court, $7,500; associate justices, $7,000; superintendent of public education, $6,000; director-general of posts, $6,000; treasurer, $6,000.

AREA AND POPULATION—The total land and water area of the Philippine archipelago is 832,968 square miles and the population 7,635,436. (Details as to the population will be found under "Population of the Philippines" on the next page.)

PRODUCTS AND CLIMATE—The chief products are hemp, sugar, coffee, tobacco leaf, copra, cigars and indigo. Between 600,000 and 700,000 bales of hemp are exported annually.

The climate of the Philippine islands is considered excellent, for the tropics. The mean temperature in Manila ranges from 77 in January to 83 in May. June, July, August and September comprise the rainy months; March, April and May the hot and dry and October, November, December, January and February the temperate and dry.

TRADE WITH THE UNITED STATES—The shipments of merchandise from the United States to the Philippines in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1904, amounted in value to $4,831,860, as compared with $4,028,677 in 1903. The principal articles sent were: Breadstuffs, $346,946; cotton manufactures, $322,259; iron and steel manufactures, $778,767; oils, $432,661; provisions, $311,191; spirits, wines and liquors, $235,011; wood and manufactures of wood, $542,318. The imports amounted in value to $12,066,934, as compared with $11,372,584 in 1903. The principal articles imported were: Unmanufactured manila, $11,044,789; straw hats, $12,175; sugar, $884,160; tobacco, $7,049.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS.—The total imports of the Philippine islands in 1903 amounted to $33,859,644; total exports, $31,319,715.

*Comandancia is Spanish for military district. At the date of the census the civil organization had not been extended to all parts of the archipelago and certain districts were therefore returned as comandancias which have since become civil districts. †Subprovince of Tayabas. ‡Exclusive of subprovince of Marinduque.

Population of Principal Islands.—Bohol, 243,148; Cebu, 592,247; Jolo, 44,718; Leyte, 357,641; Luzon, 3,798,507; Marinduque, 50,601; Mindanao, 499,634, of whom 252,940 are uncivilized; Negros, 460,776 (21,217 uncivilized); Panay, 743,646 (14,933 uncivilized); Samar, 222,690.

TERRITORY OF HAWAII.

Annexed to United States Aug. 12, 1896.

Created a territory June 14, 1900.

Governor—George H. Oarter.

Secretary—Henry E. Cooper.

POPULATION.—According to the federal census of 1900 the total population of the territory is 154,001. In 1890 it was 89,990. The only large city is Honolulu, which in 1900 had a population of 39,306. 15 island divisions the population is as follows: Hawaii, 46,843; Kauai and Nihaui, 20,734; Lanai and Maui, 25,416; Oahu, 58,504; Molokai, 2,504.

COMMERCE WITH THE UNITED STATES.—The total value of the shipments of merchandise from Hawaii to the United States for the twelve months ended June 30, 1904, was $25,133,533. Brown sugar was the principal item, amounting to 736,491,992 pounds, valued at $24,359,385. The other articles of importance were: Coffee, $169,172; hides and skins, $74,331; fruits, $127,725; raw wool, $22,406. The total value of the shipments of merchandise from the United States to Hawaii was $11,602,080. The principal articles were: Iron, steel and machinery, $1,453,160; leather and manufactures of, $336,460; oils, $995,751; provisions, $547,162; tobacco, $522,945; lumber and manufactures of wood, $589,884; wool, manufactures of, $183,584.

THE GREAT FIRE IN BALTIMORE.

Date—Feb. 7-8, 1904.

Loss—$75,000,000 to $100,000,000.

Acres of Buildings Burned—140.

Shortly before noon on the 7th of February, 1904, fire broke out in the wholesale dry-goods house of Hurst & Co., at German and Liberty streets, in Baltimore, Md. An explosion of gasoline wrecked the building and caused the flames to spread to adjoining structures. Attempts were made to check the progress of the fire by blowing up buildings with dynamite, but without success. The conflagration lasted twenty-seven hours, and when it was finally brought under control almost the entire business section of the city was in ruins. Approximately 140 acres of buildings were consumed and several thousand firms burned out. Insurance men differed in their estimates of the total loss, some placing it at $70,000,000 to $75,000,000 and others making it as high as $125,000,000. The total insurance was $32,864,894.

Preparations for rebuilding the city were begun immediately and before the close of the year substantial progress in that direction had been made.

UNITED STATES MILITARY ACADEMY.

(West Point, N. Y.)

The United States military academy is a school for the practical and theoretical training of cadets for the military service of the United States. Upon completing the course satisfactorily cadets are eligible for promotion and commission as second lieutenants in any arm or corps of the army in which there may be a vacancy the duties of which they may have been judged competent to perform. The maximum number of cadets at present permitted by law is 521. The corps of cadets consists of one from each congressional district, one from each territory, one from the District of Columbia, two from each state at large and forty from the United States at large, all appointed by the president.

ANGLO-FRENCH TREATY.

By means of a treaty signed April 8, 1904, Great Britain and France adjusted a number of disputes of long duration. Its most important effect is to give France a free hand in Morocco and to permit the continued occupation of Egypt by England.

The convention comprised three separate instruments, the first dealing with Egypt and Morocco, the second with Newfoundland and west Africa and the third with Siam, the New Hebrides and Madagascar. Great Britain recognizes the right of France to guard the tranquillity of Morocco, while France will not impede the action of Great Britain in Egypt. Great Britain adheres to the convention of 1888 for the neutrality of the Suez canal. The freedom of trade in Egypt and Morocco is guaranteed for thirty years. In order to assure the freedom of the straits of Gibraltar it is agreed that no fortification can be erected on the Moroccan coast between Melilla and the south mouth of the Sebu river.

In Newfoundland France foregoes exclusive fishing rights on the French shore, though retaining her right to fish. The bait bill of 1886 is modified so as to give Newfoundland the right to sell bait to the French fishermen.

France obtains three concessions regarding territory in west Africa. Under the terms of the first there is to be a territorial readjustment on the Zambesi giving France access to the portion of the river navigable to ocean-going ships; under the second France secures six Los islands, and under the third there is to be a readjustment of the frontier line between the River Niger and Lake Chad, giving France a route through a fertile country.

In the case of Siam the two countries confirm the declaration of 1896, determining its precise meaning with regard to pre-existing differences. With regard to the New Hebrides, the British and French governments agree to appoint a commission which will decide the land disputes between the inhabitants. Concerning Madagascar, Great Britain withdraws the protests made at various periods against the French economic regime there.

UNITED STATES LIFE-SAVING SERVICE.

The life-saving establishment at the close of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1903, comprised 273 stations, of which 196 were on the Atlantic and gulf coasts, 60 on the coasts of the great lakes, 16 on the Pacific coast and 1 on the Ohio river at Louisville, Ky. The crews employed number altogether about 300 men. Statistics of the service for the year ended June 30, 1903, and from Nov. 1, 1871, when the system was introduced, to June 30, 1903, follow:

Commanderies have been established in twenty-two states and territories. Total membership about 1,600.

The order is a military organization with patriotic objects, having for its scope the period of American history since national independence. It stands for the needed and honorable principle of national defense against foreign aggression. The principal feature of the order is the perpetuating of the names, as well as the services, of commissioned officers who served in either the war of the revolution, the war with Tripoli, the war of 1812, the Mexican war or the war with Spain. Veteran companionship is conferred upon such officers and hereditary companionship upon their direct lineal descendants in the male line.

THE SHERMAN ANTITRUST LAW.

Passed by the 51st congress and approved July 2, 1890.

Section 1. Every contract, combination in the form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy, in restraint of trade or commerce among the several states or with foreign nations, is hereby declared to be illegal. Every person who shall make any such contract or engage in any such combination or conspiracy shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction thereof, shall be punished by fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year or by both said punishments, in the discretion of the court.

Section 2. Every person who shall monopolize or attempt to monopolize or combine or conspire with any person or persons to monopolize any part of the trade or commerce among the several states or with foreign nations shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both said punishments, in the discretion of the court.

Section 3. Every contract, combination in form of trust or otherwise, or conspiracy in restraint of trade or commerce in any territory of the United States or of the District of Columbia, or in restraint of trade or commerce between any such territory and another, or between any such territory or territories and any state or states or the District of Columbia or with foreign nations, or between the District of Columbia and any state or states or foreign nations, is hereby declared illegal. Every person who shall make any such contract or engage in any such combination or conspiracy shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof shall be punished by fine not exceeding $5,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year or by both said punishments, in the discretion of the court.

Section 4. The several Circuit courts of the United States are hereby invested with jurisdiction to prevent or restrain violations of this act; and it shall be the duty of the several district attorneys of the United States, in their respective districts, under the direction of the attorney-general, to institute proceedings in equity to prevent and restrain such violations. Such proceedings may be by way of petition setting forth the case and praying that such violation shall be enjoined or otherwise prohibited. When the parties complained of shall have been duly notified of such petition the court shall proceed, as soon as may be, to the hearing and determination of the case; and pending such petition and before final decree the court may at any time make such temporary restraining order or prohibition as shall be deemed just in the premises.

Section 5. Whenever it shall appear to the court before which any proceeding under section 4 of this act may be pending that the ends of justice require that other parties should be brought before the court, the court may cause them to be summoned, whether they reside in the district in which the court is held or not; and subpoenas to that end may be served in any district by the marshal thereof.

Section 6. Any property owned under any contract or by any combination or pursuant to any conspiracy (and being the subject thereof) mentioned in section 1 of this act and being in the course of transportation from one state to another or to a foreign country shall be forfeited to the United States and may be seized and condemned by like proceedings as those provided by law for the forfeiture, seizure and condemnation of property imported into the United States contrary to law.

Section 7. Any person who shall be injured in his business or property by any other person or corporation by reason of anything forbidden or declared unlawful by this act may sue therefor in any Circuit court of the United States in the district in which the defendant resides or is found, without respect to the amount in controversy, and shall recover threefold the damages by him sustained and the cost of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee.

Section 8. That the word "person" or "persons" wherever used in this act be deemed to include corporations and associations existing under or authorized by the laws of either the United States, the laws of any of the territories, the laws of any state or the laws of any foreign country.

RUSSIAN EXILE SYSTEM MODIFIED.

An imperial decree was issued in St. Petersburg, Russia, July 11, 1904, abolishing the system of condemning political prisoners by administrative order and substituting regular court procedure in all cases. This reform attracted widespread attention, as it put an end to the arbitrary condemnation to exile in Siberia of persons accused of political offenses. It was recommended by the council of the empire with the acquiescence of the minister of the interior, M. Plehve.

LICENSE SYSTEMS OF AMERICAN CITIES.

In the following tables giving the license rates and collections in the principal cities of the United States the figures are the latest available. In most cases they are for the calendar year 1903 and in others for fiscal years ending in 1904. The methods of bookkeeping in vogue make it impossible in very many instances to show the annual revenue from each particular license, the receipts being entered under general heads and not tabulated according to the schedule of licenses charged. This will account for a large proportion of the blanks in the "collected" columns. The figures have been obtained from the mayors and other city officials, or from trustworthy correspondents.

CLEVELAND, O.

Cleveland has no regular license system. The saloon tax of $350 is levied by the state and the tax of $10 on each street car is called for by the old franchises under which they operate. Automobiles are taxed $1 each simply to have a record of the machines. In 1903 the street-railway companies paid $9,000 and the liquor dealers $920,346.31.

NOTED TRIALS IN 1904.

BOTKIN.—Mrs. Cordella Botkin was charged with having poisoned Mrs. John P. Dunning and Mrs. Deane, both of Dover, Del., daughters of Former Congressman Pennington, Aug. 12, 1893, by sending them a box of drugged candy. The cause alleged was her love for Mr. Dunning. She was arrested in San Francisco, Cal., and her trial took place there in September, 1898, when she was sentenced to life imprisonment. On appeal she was granted a new trial, which began in March and ended April 6, 1904. She was again found guilty and sentenced to imprisonment for life.

BURTON.—United States Senator Joseph Ralph Burton of Kansas was charged with having accepted $2,500 from the Rialto Grain and Securities company to use his influence with the postoffice department to prevent the issuance of a fraud order against the company. The trial began March 22, 1904, before Judge Adams, in the United States Circuit court at St. Louis. He was found guilty March 28 and April 6 was sentenced to six months in jail and to pay a fine of $2,500.

CAR-BARN BANDITS.—Gustav Marx, Peter Niedemeyer and Harvey Van Dine were charged with the murder of Francis W. Stewart, a clerk in the car barns of the Chicago City railway at State and 61st streets, Chicago, Aug. 30, 1903. Marx was arrested Nov. 21 and the others Nov. 27, 1903. The trial began Jan. 6, 1904, the jury was secured Feb. 5 and the verdict returned March 12. All three were sentenced to death. The men were young in years but desperate in character and had committed many other crimes, including several murders besides that for which they were tried. They were executed April 22. Emil Roeski, who belonged to the same gang, was tried separately for the murder of Otto Bauder, was found guilty April 20 and sentenced to life imprisonment.

TYNER-BARRETT.—James N. Tyner and Harrison J. Barrett were charged with conspiracy in connection with their duties as law officers of the postoffice department. Their trial began in Washington, D. C., May 2, 1904, and ended May 25 in acquittal.

ROOSEVELT'S ANTI-THIRD-TERM STATEMENT.

On the evening of Nov. 8, 1904, after the result of the presidential election had been made known, Mr. Roosevelt issued the following statement from the white house:

"I am deeply sensible of the honor done me by the American people in thus expressing their confidence in what I have done and have tried to do. I appreciate to the full the solemn responsibility this confidence imposes upon me, and I shall do all that in my power lies not to forfeit it.

"On the 4th of March next I shall have served three and a half years, and this three and a half years constitutes my first term.

"The wise custom which limits the president to two terms regards the substance and not the form, and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination."

JUDGE PARKER'S "GOLD TELEGRAM."

Following is the text of the telegram sent by Judge Alton B. Parker announcing to the democratic national convention his position on the monetary question:

"Hon. W. F. Sheehan, Hotel Jefferson, St. Louis: I regard the gold standard as firmly and irrevocably established and shall act accordingly if the action of the convention of to-day shall be ratified by the people.

"As the platform is silent on the subject my views should be made known to the convention and if it is proved to be unsatisfactory to the majority I request you to decline the nomination for me at once, so that another may be nominated before adjournment. A. B. PARKER."

RECORD OF RACES TO DATE.

1851—Aug. 22. In this, the year of the great exhibition in London, the Royal Yacht club of England offered a cup to the winner of a yacht race around the Isle of Wight. The course was 60 miles in length and was won by the schooner-yacht America, designed by George Steers for John C. Stevens of the New York Yacht club. The America was 94 feet over all, 88 feet on the water line, 22½ feet beam and 11½ feet draft. There was no time allowance and the competing yachts ranged in size from a three-masted 392-ton schooner, the Brilliant, to the 47-ton cutter, the Aurora, which came in second in the race. The time of the America was 19 hours and 34 minutes; that of the Aurora was 24 minutes slower. The cup after that became known as the America's cup and has now been successfully defended for fifty-two years.

VANDERBILT CUP RACE.

The first race for the Vanderbilt cup was run over a course on Long Island, N. Y., Oct. 8. The distance was 302.4 miles. There were eight entries, but only two, George Heath, an American, and Albert Clement, a Frenchman, finished. Heath won by 1 minute 28 seconds. The net time for the ten laps of the course was: Heath, 5 hours 26 minutes 45 seconds; Clement, 5 hours 28 minutes 13 seconds. Heath's average speed per hour was 52.07 miles and his greatest speed per hour, 75 miles.

FOOTBALL.

In the central west the championship honors of 1904 were claimed by both Michigan and Minnesota, as was also the case in 1903. In the east Pennsylvania had the cleanest score among the big universities. Scores:

In five states in 1892 the electoral vote was divided: California gave 8 electoral votes for Cleveland and 1 for Harrison and Ohio gave 1 for Cleveland and 22 for Harrison; in Michigan, by act of the legislature, each congressional district voted separately for an elector; in Oregon 1 of the 4 candidates for electors on the people's party ticket was also on the democratic ticket; in North Dakota 1 of the 2 people's party electors cast his vote for Cleveland, this causing the electoral vote of the state to be equally divided between Cleveland, Harrison, and Weaver. In 1896 California gave 8 electoral votes to McKinley and 1 to Bryan; Kentucky gave 12 to McKinley and 1 to Bryan. In Maryland in 1904 seven of the presidential electors chosen were democrats and one republican.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

The famous "Monroe doctrine" was enunciated by President Monroe in his message to congress Dec. 2, 1823. Referring to steps taken to arrange the respective rights of Russia, Great Britain and the United States on the northwest coast of this continent, the president went on to say:

"In the discussions to which this interest has given rise, and in the arrangements by which they may terminate, the occasion has been deemed proper for asserting, as a principle in which the rights and interests of the United States are involved, that the American continents, by the free and independent condition which they have assumed and maintain, are henceforth not to be considered as subjects for future colonization by any European power. * * * We owe it, therefore, to candor and to the amicable relations existing between the United States and those powers to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere as dangerous to our peace and safety. With the existing colonies or dependencies of any European power we have not interfered and shall not interfere. But with the governments who have declared their independence and maintain it, and whose independence we have, on great consideration and on just principles, acknowledged, we could not view any interposition for the purpose of oppressing them or controlling in any other manner their destiny by any European power in any other light than as the manifestation of an unfriendly disposition toward the United States."

WORLD'S TEA PRODUCTION.

Complete statistics of the world's annual tea crop are not available. The principal producers are China, British India, Ceylon, Japan and Java. The heaviest producer is China, the annual crop of which country is variously estimated by commercial authorities as high as from 2,000,000,000 to 2,500,000,000 pounds. British India in 1902 produced 183,589,261 pounds. Japan's crop is about 90,000,000 pounds a year. The tea exports from Ceylon in 1901 amounted to 144,275,603 pounds.

Commercial estimates put the annual crop of Java at from 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 pounds. About 9,000 pounds were produced experimentally in 1902 in the United States.

COFFEE PRODUCTION OF THE WORLD.

The world's total coffee production in 1902-1903 is estimated commercially at 16,400,000 bags (of 132.28 pounds each), against 19,000,000 bags in 1901-1902 and 14,700,000 bags in 1900-1901. Brazil produces from two-thirds to three-fourths of the entire crop of the world. In 1901-1902 Mexico and the Central American countries produced 1,785,000 bags; Venezuela, 615,000; Cuba, Porto Rico and British Antilles, 50,000; Haiti, 375,000; Dutch Indies, 485,000; British India and Philippines, 160,000; Africa, Arabia, etc., 175,000.

THE IROQUOIS THEATER FIRE.

The Iroquois theater, Chicago, was the scene of a terrible calamity on the afternoon of Wednesday, Dec. 30, 1903. A matinee performance of the extravaganza, "Mr. Bluebeard," was in progress and the theater was crowded, chiefly with women and children. In the latter part of the second act some of the scenery caught fire from an unprotected light. The flames spread with great rapidity and were forced out into the audience room by a strong draft from the back part of the building. An attempt was made to lower the asbestos curtain, but it failed to descend. A frightful panic ensued and in their efforts to escape hundreds were trampled upon and crushed to death, while others were suffocated by the smoke and heat. Several of the exits were barred by locked doors or the loss of life would have been less. Altogether 575 persons lost their lives, most of them in the balcony and gallery. Many received injuries that crippled them for life.

The coroner and a jury began a rigid investigation and on the 25th of January, 1904, the following were held to the grand jury: Will J. Davis, manager of the theater; William H. Saller, theater fireman; James B. Cummings, stage carpenter; William McMullen, flood light man; Carter H. Harrison, mayor; George Williams, building commissioner; William H. Musham, fire chief, and Edward Laughlin, building inspector. The charges were neglect of duty and failure to enforce the building ordinances. Mayor Harrison was almost immediately released from arrest by Judge Tuley, who declared that in this instance the coroner's jury had done a wrong. A special grand jury was called Feb. 8 and Feb. 20 indictments were returned against Will J. Davis, Thomas J. Noonan (business manager of the theater) and J. E. Cummings for manslaughter, and against George Williams and Edward Laughlin for malfeasance in office. "No bills" were reported as to the others. Up to the time this edition of The Daily News Almanac and Year Book went to press the cases of the indicted men had not been disposed of by the courts. Thomas J. Noonan and James E. Cummings secured a change of venue to Peoria Oct. 4 on the ground that they could not secure a fair trial in Cook county.

The calamity at the Iroquois caused all the theaters in Chicago to be closed temporarily and many of them were not permitted to reopen until they had complied with the provisions of a new and stringent theater law passed by the common council. The Iroquois was reopened as a vaudeville theater Sept. 19, the old name being changed to "Hyde & Behman's Music Hall."

WORK OF THE 58TH CONGRESS.

(First two sessions.)

First (extraordinary) session began Nov. 9 and ended Dec. 7, 1903.

Second session began Dec. 7, 1903, and ended April 23, 1904.

Total appropriations made, $781,574,629.

At the extra session the Cuban reciprocity bill was passed by the house Nov. 19, but was deferred by the senate to the regular session and passed. No other bills were passed at the first session. At the second session the more important measures, exclusive of the regular appropriation bills, were the following:

For the government of the Panama canal zone: passed by the senate, April 15; by the house, April 21.

For the regulation of Philippine shipping: passed by senate, March 9; by house, April 8.

For continuing the Chinese exclusion law; passed as a rider on the sundry civil appropriation bill.

For loaning $4,600,000 to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition company; included in urgent deficiency appropriation bill.

For a $475,000 exhibit at the Portland (Ore.) exposition.

For removing the tunnels under the Chicago river; passed by house, April 15; by senate, April 23; approved, April 27.

The following treaties were ratified by the senate: With the republic of Panama for constructing the isthmian canal; with China for opening two ports in Manchuria to trade; with Cuba to carry out the terms of the "Platt amendment."

An inquiry into the right of Reed Smoot of Utah to hold his seat in the senate was begun by a committee of that body, but was not concluded.

SECOND PEACE CONFERENCE AT THE HAGUE.

Sept. 24, 1904, President Roosevelt, in response to a request made by the delegates to the Interparliamentary union, who had been in session at the world's fair in St. Louis, promised to call a second peace conference at The Hague. Some weeks later a note was sent through the customary diplomatic channels to the various foreign governments participating in the first conference suggesting that the time was opportune for another meeting, no particular date, however, being mentioned. Austria-Hungary was the first power to formally acquiesce.

THE VON PEDERICIS CASE.

On the evening of May 18, 1904, von Pedericis, a citizen of the United States, and his son, Oswald, were kidnapped from their home just outside Tangier, Morocco, by Raisuli, a noted bandit. For their return he demanded a ransom of $20,000, the surrender of all his followers in prison, the removal of the governor of Tangier and the withdrawal of all the Sultan's troops in Raisuli's district. An American fleet under Admiral Chadwick was sent to Tangier to back up the efforts of the American consul to secure the release of Pedericis. The British government took similar action, but the bandit made fresh demands and negotiations dragged until June 22, when Secretary Hay cabled to the Sultan of Morocco: "Pedericis alive or Raisuli dead." This brought matters to a climax and the captives were returned in safety to Tangier on the morning of June 25.

ASSASSINATION OF VON FIEVRE.

Senator von Fievre, Russian minister of the interior and secretary of state for Finland, was killed Thursday forenoon, July 28, 1904, in St. Petersburg. He was on his way to the railroad station to go to the Peterhof palace when a bomb was thrown against his carriage. The missile exploded with tremendous force, shattering the vehicle and killing its occupants. Many of the bystanders were fatally hurt and the bomb-thrower, a Finn named Legin, was himself badly wounded.

Von Fievre had made himself extremely unpopular by his reactionary policy, and especially by his suppression of Finnish liberty, his supposed inscription of the Jewish massacre at Kishinev and his opposition to the "zemstvos" or popular assemblies in the rural districts.

THE CARNEGIE HERO FUND.

April 15, 1904, a letter from Andrew Carnegie was made public announcing that he had set apart a fund of $5,000,000 to be known as "The Hero Fund." In this letter Mr. Carnegie said: "We live in a heroic age. Not seldom are we thrilled by deeds of heroism where men or women are injured or lose their lives in attempting to preserve or rescue their fellows; such are the heroes of civilization. The heroes of barbarism maimed or killed. I have long felt that the heroes and those dependent upon them should be freed from pecuniary cares resulting from their heroism and as a fund for this purpose I have transferred to a commission $5,000,000 of collateral 5 per cent bonds of the United States Steel corporation."

Only such as follow peaceful vocations on sea or land in the United States or Canada are eligible to receive money or medals for heroic deeds. The commission which has charge of the fund has its headquarters in Pittsburg, Pa. Its members are: Charles I. Taylor, president; F. M. Willmot, secretary; W. L. Abbott, Edwin H. Anderson, W. W. Blackburn, William M. Bigelow, Joseph Buffington, William M. Frew, the Rev. W. J. Holland, John B. Jackson, Thomas Lynch, Charles G. Mellor, T. N. Miller, Thomas Morrison, Frederick C. Perkins, Robert Pitcairn, H. Kirk Porter, James H. Reed, W. L. Scaife, William Scott and W. H. Stevenson.

TRUSTS IN THE UNITED STATES (JAN 1, 1903).

According to the congressional information bureau (nonpartisan) of Washington, D. C., there were in the United States on the 1st of January, 1903, 792 trusts with a total combined capitalization of $21,798,547,327. The industrial trusts had a total capitalization of $17,296,493,868 and the local and "natural" monopolies $4,502,048,459. The names of and the amounts of common and preferred stock and bonds issued by each of these corporations will be found in The Daily News Almanac and Year Book for 1904, page 85.

UNITED STATES STEEL CORPORATION.

The United States Steel corporation was organized in 1901. It has an authorized capitalization of $1,651,040,535, of which $550,000,000 is in preferred and $550,000,000 in common stock and the remainder in bonds. The president of the corporation is W. E. Corey and the main office is at 71 Broadway, New York.

DYNAMITE OUTRAGE AT VICTOR COL.

Early on the morning of June 6, 1904, while a number of miners were waiting at the railroad station at the Independence mine to take a train an explosion occurred by which thirteen men were killed and several badly injured. Dynamite had been placed under the platform and exploded by means of electricity. A day of rioting followed in which two men were killed and thirty wounded. The outrage was the outcome of the labor troubles in the Cripple Creek district.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

(To the 58th congress, second session.)

To the Senate and House of Representatives: The nation continues to enjoy noteworthy prosperity. Such prosperity is of course primarily due to the high individual average of our citizenship, taken together with our great natural resources; but an important factor therein is the working of our long-continued governmental policies. The people have emphatically expressed their approval of the principles underlying these policies and their desire that these principles be kept substantially unchanged, although, of course, applied in a progressive spirit to meet changing conditions.

The enlargement of scope of the functions of the national government required by our development as a nation involves, of course, increase of expense; and the period of prosperity through which the country is passing justifies expenditures for permanent improvements far greater than would be wise in hard times. Battleships and forts, public buildings and improved waterways are investments which should be made when we have the money; but abundant revenues and a large surplus always invite extravagance and constant care should be taken to guard against unnecessary increase of the ordinary expenses of government. The cost of doing government business should be regulated with the same rigid scrutiny as the cost of doing a private business.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

In the vast and complicated mechanism of our modern civilized life the dominant note is the note of industrialism; and the relations of capital and labor, and especially of organized capital and organized labor, to each other and to the public at large come second in importance only to the intimate questions of family life. Our peculiar form of government, with its sharp division of authority between the nation and the several states, has been on the whole far more advantageous to our development than a more strongly centralized government. But it is undoubtedly responsible for much of the difficulty of meeting with adequate legislation the new problems presented by the total change in industrial conditions on this continent during the last half-century. In actual practice it has proved exceedingly difficult, and in many cases impossible, to get unanimity of wise action among the various states on these subjects. From the very nature of the case this is especially true of the laws affecting the employment of capital in huge masses.

With regard to labor the problem is no less important, but it is simpler. As long as the states retain the primary control of the police power the circumstances must be altogether extreme which require interference by the federal authorities, whether in the way of safeguarding the rights of labor or in the way of seeing that wrong is not done by unruly persons who shield themselves behind the name of labor. If there is resistance to the federal courts, interference with the mails or interstate commerce, or molestation of federal property, or if the state authorities in some crisis, which they are unable to face call for help, then the federal government may interfere; but though such interference may be caused by a condition of things arising out of trouble connected with some question of labor, the interference itself simply takes the form of restoring order without regard to the questions which have caused the breach of order—for to keep order is a primary duty and in a time of disorder and violence all other questions sink into abeyance until order has been restored.

In the District of Columbia and in the territories the federal law covers the entire field of government; but the labor question is only acute in populous centers of commerce, manufactures or mining. Nevertheless, both in the enactment and in the enforcement of law the federal government within its restricted sphere should set an example to the state governments, especially in a matter so vital as this affecting labor. I believe that under modern industrial conditions it is often necessary, and even where not necessary it is yet often wise, that there should be organization of labor in order better to secure the rights of the individual wage-worker. All encouragement should be given to any such organization so long as it is conducted with a due and decent regard for the rights of others. There are in this country some labor unions which have habitually, and other labor unions which have often, been among the most effective agents in working for good citizenship and for uplifting the condition of those whose welfare should be closest to our hearts. But when any labor union seeks improper ends, or seeks to achieve proper ends by improper means, all good citizens, and more especially all honorable public servants, must oppose the wrong-doing as resolutely as they would oppose the wrong-doing of any great corporation. Of course any violence, brutality or corruption should not for one moment be tolerated. Wage-workers have an entire right to organize and by all peaceful and honorable means to endeavor to persuade their fellows to join them in organizations. They have a legal right, which, according to circumstances, may or may not be a moral right, to refuse to work in company with men who decline to join their organizations. They have under no circumstances the right to commit violence upon those, whether capitalists or wage-workers, who refuse to support their organizations or who side with those with whom they are at odds, for mob rule is intolerable in any form.

The wage-workers are peculiarly entitled to the protection and the encouragement of the law. From the very nature of their occupation railroad men, for instance, are liable to be maligned in doing the legitimate work of their profession unless the railroad companies are required by law to make ample provision for their safety. The administration has been zealous in enforcing the existing law for this purpose. That law should be amended and strengthened. Wherever the national government has power there should be a stringent employers' liability law which should apply to the government itself where the government is an employer of labor.

In my message to the 57th congress at its second session I urged the passage of an employers' liability law for the District of Columbia. I now renew that recommendation and further recommend that the congress appoint a commission to make a comprehensive study of employers' liability with the view of extending the provisions of a great and constitutional law to all employments within the scope of federal power.

The government has recognized heroism upon the water and bestows medals of honor upon those persons who by extreme and heroic daring have endangered their lives in saving or endeavoring to save lives from the perils of the sea in the waters over which the United States has jurisdiction, or upon an American vessel. This recognition should be extended to cover cases of conspicuous bravery and self-sacrifice in the saving of life in private employments under the jurisdiction of the United States and particularly in the land commerce of the nation.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.

The ever-increasing casualty list upon our railroads is a matter of grave public concern and urgently calls for action by the congress. In the matter of speed and comfort of railway travel our railroads give at least as good service as those of any other nation and there is no reason why this service should not also be as safe as human ingenuity can make it. Many of our leading roads have been foremost in the adoption of the most approved safeguards for the protection of travelers and employees, yet the list of clearly avoidable accidents continues unduly large. The passage of a law requiring the adoption of a block-signal system has been proposed to the congress. I earnestly concur in that recommendation, and would also point out to the congress the urgent need of legislation in the interest of the public safety limiting the hours of labor for railroad employees in train service upon railroads engaged in interstate commerce, and providing that only trained and experienced persons be employed in positions of responsibility connected with the operation of trains. Of course nothing can ever prevent accidents caused by human weakness or misconduct; and there should be drastic punishment for any railroad employe, whether officer or man, who by issuance of wrong orders or by disobedience of orders causes disaster. The law of 1901 requiring interstate railroads to make monthly reports of all accidents to passengers and employes on duty should also be amended so as to empower the government to make a personal investigation, through proper officers, of all accidents involving loss of life which seem to require investigation, with a requirement that the results of such investigation be made public.

The safety-appliance law as amended by the act of March 2, 1903, has proved beneficial to railway employes, and in order that its provisions may be properly carried out the force of inspectors provided for by appropriation should be largely increased. This service is analogous to the steamboat inspection service and deals with even more important interests. It has passed the experimental stage and demonstrated its utility and should receive generous recognition by the congress.

There is no objection to employees of the government forming or belonging to unions; but the government can neither discriminate for nor discriminate against nonunion men who are in its employment or who seek to be employed under it. Moreover, it is a very grave impropriety for government employes to band themselves together for the purpose of extorting improperly high salaries from the government. Especially is this true of those within the classified service. The letter carriers, both municipal and rural, are as a whole an excellent body of public servants. They should be amply paid. But their payment must be obtained by arguing their claims fairly and honorably before the congress and not by banding together for the defeat of those congressmen who refuse to give promises which they cannot in conscience give. The administration has already taken steps to prevent and punish abuses of this nature; but it will be wise for the congress to supplement this action by legislation.

COLORADO STRIKE.

Much can be done by the government in labor matters merely by giving publicity to certain conditions. The bureau of labor has done excellent work of this kind in many different directions. I shall shortly lay before you in a special message the full report of the investigation of the bureau of labor into the Colorado mining strike, as this is a strike which certain very evil forces, which are more or less at work everywhere under the conditions of modern industrialism, became startlingly prominent. It is greatly to be wished that the department of commerce and labor, through the labor bureau, should compile and arrange for the congress a list of the labor laws of the various states and should be given the means to investigate and report to the congress upon the labor conditions in the manufacturing and mining regions throughout the country, both as to wages, as to hours of labor, as to the labor of women and children and as to the effect in the various labor centers of immigration from abroad. In this investigation especial attention should be paid to the conditions of child labor and child-labor legislation in the several states. Such an investigation must necessarily take into account many of the problems with which this question of child labor is connected. These problems can be actually met, in most cases, only by the states themselves; but the lack of proper legislation in one state in such a matter as child labor often renders it excessively difficult to establish protective restriction upon the work in another state having the same industries, so that the worse tends to drag down the better. For this reason it would be well for the nation at least to endeavor to secure comprehensive information as to the conditions of labor of children in the different states. Such investigation and publication by the national government would tend toward the securing of approximately uniform legislation of the proper character among the several states.

SUPERVISION OF CORPORATIONS.

When we come to deal with great corporations the need for the government to act directly is far greater than in the case of labor, because great corporations can become such only by engaging in interstate commerce, and interstate commerce is peculiarly the field of the general government. It is an absurdity to expect to eliminate the abuses in great corporations by state action. It is difficult to be patient with an argument that such matters should be left to the states, because more than one state pursues the policy of creating on easy terms corporations which are never operated within that state at all, but in other states whose laws they ignore. The national government alone can deal adequately with these great corporations. To try to deal with them in an intemperate, destructive or demagogic spirit would, in all probability, mean that nothing whatever would be accomplished and with absolute certainty that if anything were accomplished it would be of a harmful nature. The American people need to continue to show the very qualities that they have shown—that is, moderation, good sense, the earnest desire to avoid doing any damage, and yet the quiet determination to proceed step by step, without halt and without hurry, in eliminating or at least in minimizing whatever of mischief or of evil there is to interstate commerce in the conduct of great corporations. They are acting in no spirit of hostility to wealth, either individual or corporate. They are not against the rich man any more than against the poor man. On the contrary, they are friendly alike toward rich man and poor man, provided only that each acts in a spirit of justice and decency toward his fellows. Great corporations are necessary, and only men of great and singular mental power can manage such corporations successfully, and such men must have great rewards. But these corporations should be managed with due regard to the interest of the public as a whole. Where this can be done under the present laws it must be done. Where these laws come short others should be enacted to supplement them.

Yet we must never forget the determining factor in every kind of work, of head or hand, must be the man's own good sense, courage and kindness. More important than any legislation is the gradual growth of a feeling of responsibility and forbearance among capitalists and wage-workers alike; a feeling of respect on the part of each man for the rights of others; a feeling of broad community of interest, not merely of capitalists among themselves and of wage-workers among themselves, but of capitalists and wage-workers in their relations to each other and of both in their relations to their fellows who with them make up the body politic. There are many captains of industry, many labor leaders, who realize this.

A recent speech by the president of one of our great railroad systems to the employees of that system contains sound common sense. It runs in part as follows:

"It is my belief we can better serve each other, better understand the man as well as his business, when meeting face to face, exchanging views and realizing from personal contact we serve but one interest, that of our mutual prosperity.

"Serious misunderstandings cannot occur where personal good will exists and opportunity for personal explanation is present.

"In my early business life I had experience with men of affairs of a character to make me desire to avoid creating a like feeling of resentment to myself and the interests in my charge, should fortune ever place me in authority, and I am solicitous of a measure of confidence on the part of the public and our employees that I shall hope may be warranted by the fairness and good fellowship I intend shall prevail in our relationship.

"But do not feel I am disposed to grant unreasonable requests, spend the money of our company unnecessarily or without value received, nor expect the days of mistakes are disappearing, or that cause for complaint will not continually occur; simply to correct such abuses as may be discovered, to better conditions as fast as reasonably may be expected, constantly striving, with varying success, for that improvement we all desire, to convince you there is a force at work in the right direction, all the time making progress—is the disposition with which I have come among you, asking your good will and encouragement.

"The day has gone by when a corporation can be handled successfully in defiance of the public will, even though that will be unreasonable and wrong. A public may be led but not driven, and I prefer to go with it and shape or modify, in a measure, its opinion, rather than be swept from my bearings with loss to myself and the interests in my charge.

"Violent prejudice exists toward corporate activity and capital to-day, much of it founded in reason, more in apprehension, and a large measure is due to the personal traits of arbitrary, unreasonable, incompetent and offensive men in positions of authority. The accomplishment of results by indirection, the endeavor to thwart the intention if not the express letter of the law (the will of the people), a disregard of the rights of others, a disposition to withhold what is due, to force by main strength or inactivity a result not justified, depending upon the weakness of the claimant and his indisposition to become involved in litigation, has created a sentiment harmful in the extreme and a disposition to consider anything fair that gives gain to the individual at the expense of the company.

"If corporations are to continue to do the world's work, as they are best fitted to, those qualities in their representatives that have resulted in the present prejudice against them must be relegated to the background. The corporations must come out into the open and see and be seen. They must take the public into their confidence and ask for what they want and no more, and be prepared to explain satisfactorily what advantage will accrue to the public if they are given their desires; for they are permitted to exist not that they may make money solely, but that they may effectively serve those from whom they derive their power.

"Publicity, and not secrecy, will win hereafter and laws be construed by their intent and not by their letter, otherwise public utilities will be owned and operated by the public which created them, even though the service be less efficient and the result less satisfactory from a financial standpoint."

BUREAU OF CORPORATIONS.

The bureau of corporations has made careful preliminary investigation of many important corporations. It will make a special report on the beef industry.

The policy of the bureau is to accomplish the purposes of its creation by co-operation, not antagonism; by making constructive legislation, not destructive prosecution, the immediate object of its inquiry, by conservative investigation of law and fact, and by refusal to issue incomplete and hence necessarily inaccurate reports. Its policy being thus one of open inquiry into and not attack upon business, the bureau has been able to gain not only the confidence but, better still, the co-operation of men engaged in legitimate business.

The bureau offers to the congress the means of getting at the cost of production of our various great staples of commerce.

Of necessity the careful investigation of special corporations will afford the commissioner knowledge of certain business facts the publication of which might be an improper infringement of private rights.

The method of making public the results of these investigations affords, under the law, a means for the protection of private rights. The congress will have all facts except such as would give to another corporation information which would injure the legitimate business of a competitor and destroy the incentive for individual superiority and thrift.

The bureau has also made exhaustive examinations into the legal condition under which corporate business is carried on in the various states; into all judicial decisions on the subject; and into the various systems of corporate taxation in use. I call special attention to the report of the chief of the bureau, and I earnestly ask that the congress carefully consider the report and recommendations of the commissioner on this subject.

The business of insurance vitally affects the great mass of the people of the United States and is national and not local in its application. It involves a multitude of transactions among the people of the different states and between American companies and foreign governments. I urge that the congress carefully consider whether the power of the bureau of corporations cannot constitutionally be extended to cover interstate transactions in insurance.

Above all else we must strive to keep the highways of commerce open to all on equal terms, and to do this it is necessary to put a complete stop to all rebates. Whether the shipper or the railroad is to blame makes no difference; the rebate must be stopped, the abuses of the private car and private terminal track and sidetrack systems must be stopped, and the legislation of the 55th congress which declares it to be unlawful for any person or corporation to offer, grant, give, solicit, accept or receive any rebate, concession or discrimination in respect of the transportation of any property in interstate or foreign commerce whereby such property shall by any device whatever be transported at a less rate than that named in the tariffs published by the carrier must be enforced. For some time after the enactment of the act to regulate commerce it remained a mooted question whether that act conferred upon the interstate commerce commission the power, after it had found a challenged rate to be unreasonable, to declare what thereafter should, prima facie, be the reasonable maximum rate for the transportation in dispute. The Supreme court finally resolved that question in the negative, so that as the law now stands the commission simply possesses the bare power to denounce a particular rate as unreasonable. While I am of the opinion that at present it would be undesirable, if it were not impracticable, finally to clothe the commission with general authority to fix railroad rates, I do believe that, as a fair security to shippers, the commission should be vested with the power, where a given rate has been challenged and after full hearing found to be unreasonable, to decide, subject to judicial review, what shall be a reasonable rate to take its place; the ruling of the commission to take effect immediately and to obtain unless and until it is reversed by the court of review. The government must in increasing degree supervise and regulate the workings of the railways engaged in interstate commerce, and such increased supervision is the only alternative to an increase of the present evils on the one hand or a still more radical policy on the other. In my judgment the most important legislative act now needed as regards the regulation of corporations is this act to confer on the interstate commerce commission the power to revise rates and regulations, the revised rate at once to go into effect and to stay in effect unless and until the court of review reverses it.

Steamship companies engaged in interstate commerce and protected in our coastwise trade should be held to a strict observance of the interstate commerce act.

OVERCROWDING IN CITIES.

In pursuing the set plan to make the city of Washington an example to other American municipalities several points should be kept in mind by the legislators. In the first place, the people of this country should clearly understand that no amount of industrial prosperity, and above all no leadership in international industrial competition, can in any way atone for the sapping of the vitality of those who are usually spoken of as the working classes. The farmers, the mechanics, the skilled and unskilled laborers, the small shop-keepers, make up the bulk of the population of any country; and upon their well-being, generation after generation, the well-being of the country and the race depends. Rapid development in wealth and industrial leadership is a good thing, but only if it goes hand in hand with improvement and not deterioration, physical and moral. The overcrowding of cities and the draining of country districts are unhealthy and even dangerous symptoms in our modern life. We should not permit overcrowding in cities. In certain European cities it is provided by law that the population of towns shall not be allowed to exceed a very limited density for a given area, so that the increase in density must be continually pushed back into a broad zone around the center of the town, this zone having great avenues or parks within it. The death-rate statistics show a terrible increase in mortality, and especially in infant mortality, in overcrowded tenements. The poorest families in tenement houses live in one room, and it appears that in these one-room tenements the average death rate for a number of given cities at home and abroad is about twice what it is in a two-room tenement, four times what it is in a three-room tenement and eight times what it is in a tenement consisting of four rooms or over. These figures vary somewhat for different cities, but they approximate in each city those given above, and in all cases the increase of mortality, and especially of infant mortality, with the decrease in the number of rooms used by the family and with the consequent overcrowding, is startling. The slum exacts a heavy tribute of death from those who dwell therein, and this is the case not merely in the great crowded slums of high buildings in New York and Chicago, but in the alley slums of Washington. In Washington people cannot afford to ignore the harm that this causes. No Christian and civilized community can afford to show a happy-go-lucky lack of concern for the youth of to-day; for, if so, the community will have to pay a terrible penalty of financial burden and social degradation in the to-morrow. There should be severe child-labor and factory-inspection laws. It is very desirable that married women should not work in factories. The prime duty of the man is to work, to be the bread-winner; the prime duty of the woman is to be the mother, the housewife. All questions of tariff and finance sink into utter insignificance when compared with the tremendous, the vital importance of trying to shape conditions so that these two duties of the man and of the woman can be fulfilled under reasonably favorable circumstances. If a race does not have plenty of children, or if the children do not grow up, or if when they grow up they are unhealthy in body and stunted or vicious in mind, then that race is decadent, and no heaping up of wealth, no splendor of momentary material prosperity, can avail in any degree as offsets.

The congress has the same power of legislation for the District of Columbia as the state legislatures have for the various states. The problems incident to our highly complex modern industrial civilization, with its manifold and perplexing tendencies both for good and for evil, are far less sharply accentuated in the city of Washington than in most other cities. For this very reason it is easier to deal with the various phases of these problems in Washington, and the District of Columbia government should be a model for the other municipal governments of the nation in all such matters as supervision of the housing of the poor, the creation of small parks in the districts inhabited by the poor, in laws affecting labor, in laws providing for the taking care of the children, in truancy laws and in providing schools.

In the vital matter of taking care of children much advantage could be gained by a careful study of what has been accomplished in such states as Illinois and Colorado by the juvenile courts. The work of the juvenile court is really a work of character building. It is now generally recognized that young boys and young girls who go wrong should not be treated as criminals, not even necessarily as needing reformation, but rather as needing to have their characters formed, and for this end to have them treated and developed by a system of probation. Much admirable work has been done in many of our commonwealths by earnest men and women who have made a special study of the needs of those classes of children which furnish the greatest number of juvenile offenders, and therefore the greatest number of adult offenders, and by their aid and by profiting by the experiences of the different states and cities in these matters it would be easy to provide a good code for the District of Columbia.

Several considerations suggest the need for a systematic investigation into and improvement of housing conditions in Washington. The hidden residential alleys are breeding grounds of vice and disease, and should be opened into minor streets. For a number of years influential citizens have joined with district commissioners in the vain endeavor to secure laws permitting the condemnation of insanitary dwellings. The local death rates, especially from preventable diseases, are so unduly high as to suggest that the exceptional wholesomeness of Washington's better sections is offset by bad conditions in her poorer neighborhoods. A special "commission on housing and health conditions in the national capital" would not only bring about the reformation of existing evils, but would also formulate an appropriate building code to protect the city from mammoth brick tenements and other evils which threaten to develop here as they have in other cities. That the nation's capital should be made a model for other municipalities is an ideal which appeals to all patriotic citizens everywhere, and such a special commission might map out and organize the city's future develop-

It is mortifying to remember that Washington has no compulsory school attendance law and that careful inquiries indicate the habitual absence from school of some 20 per cent of all children between the ages of 8 and 14. It must be evident to all who consider the problems of neglected child life or the benefits of compulsory education in other cities that one of the most urgent needs of the national capital is a law requiring the school attendance of all children, this law to be enforced by attendance agents directed by the board of education.

Public playgrounds are necessary means for the development of wholesome citizenship in modern cities. It is important that the work inaugurated here through voluntary efforts should be taken up and extended through congressional appropriation of funds sufficient to equip and maintain numerous convenient small playgrounds upon land which can be secured without purchase or rental. It is also desirable that small vacant places be purchased and reserved as small-park playgrounds in densely settled sections of the city which now have no public open spaces and are destined soon to be built up solidly. All these needs should be met immediately. To meet them would entail expenses, but a corresponding saving could be made by stopping the building of streets and leveling of ground for purposes largely speculative in outlying parts of the city.

There are certain offenders whose criminality takes the shape of brutality and cruelty toward the weak who need a special type of punishment. The wife-beater, for example, is inadequately punished by imprisonment; for imprisonment may often mean nothing to him, while it may cause hunger and want to the wife and children who have been the victims of his brutality. Probably some form of corporal punishment would be the most adequate way of meeting this kind of crime.

AGRICULTURE.

The department of agriculture has grown into an educational institution with a faculty of 2,000 specialists making research into all the sciences of production. The congress appropriates, directly and indirectly, $6,000,000 annually to carry on this work. It reaches every state and territory in the union and the islands of the sea lately come under our flag. Co-operation is had with the state experiment stations and with many other institutions and individuals. The world is carefully searched for new varieties of grains, fruits, grasses, vegetables, trees and shrubs suitable to various localities in our country, and marked benefit to our producers has resulted.

The activities of our age in lines of research have reached the tillers of the soil and inspired them with ambition to know more of the principles that govern the forces of nature with which they have to deal. Nearly half of the people of this country devote their energies to growing things from the soil. Until a recent date little has been done to prepare these millions for their life work. In most lines of human activity college-trained men are the leaders. The farmer had no opportunity for special training until the congress made provision for it forty years ago. During these years progress has been made and teachers have been prepared. Over 5,000 students are in attendance at our state agricultural colleges. The federal government expends $10,000,000 annually toward this education and for research in Washington and in the several states and territories. The department of agriculture has given facilities for post-graduate work to 500 young men during the last seven years, preparing them for advanced lines of work in the department and in the state institutions.

The facts concerning meteorology and its relations to plant and animal life are being systematically inquired into. Temperature and moisture are controlling factors in all agricultural operations. The seasons of the cyclones of the Caribbean sea and their paths are being forecasted with increasing accuracy. The cold winds that come from the north are anticipated and their times and intensity told to farmers, gardeners and fruiters in all southern localities.

We sell $250,000,000 worth of animals and animal products to foreign countries every year, in addition to supplying our own people more cheaply and abundantly than any other nation is able to provide for its people. Successful manufacturing depends primarily on cheap food, which accounts to a considerable extent for our growth in this direction. The department of agriculture, by careful inspection of meats, guards the health of our people and gives clean bills of health to deserving exports; it is prepared to deal promptly with imported diseases of animals and maintain the excellence of our flocks and herds in this respect. There should be an annual census of the live stock of the nation.

We sell abroad about $600,000,000 worth of plants and their products every year. Strenuous efforts are being made to import from foreign countries such grains as are suitable to our varying localities. Seven years ago we bought three-fourths of our rice; by helping the rice growers on the gulf coast to secure seeds from the orient suited to their conditions, and by giving them adequate protection, they now supply home demand and export to the islands of the Caribbean sea and to other rice-growing countries. Wheat and other grains have been imported from light-rainfall countries to our lands in the west and southwest that have not grown crops because of light precipitation, resulting in an extensive addition to our cropping area and our home-making territory that cannot be irrigated. Ten million bushels of first-class macaroni wheat were grown from these experimental importations last year. Fruits suitable to our soils and climates are being imported from all the countries of the old world—the fig from Turkey, the almond from Spain, the date from Algeria, the mango from India. We are helping our fruit growers to get their crops into European markets by studying methods of preservation through refrigeration, packing and handling, which have been quite successful. We are helping our hop growers by importing varieties that ripen earlier and later than the kinds they have been raising, thereby lengthening the harvesting season. The cotton crop of the country is threatened with root rot, the bollworm and the boll weevil. Our pathologists will find immune varieties that will resist the root disease, and the bollworm can be dealt with, but the boll weevil is a serious menace to the cotton crop. It is a Central American insect that has become acclimated in Texas and has done great damage. A scientist of the department of agriculture has found the weevil at home in Guatemala being kept in check by an ant which has been brought to our cotton fields for observation. It is hoped that it may serve a good purpose.

The soils of the country are getting attention from the farmer's standpoint and interesting results are following. We have duplicates of the soils that grow the wrapper tobacco in Sumatra and the filler tobacco in Cuba. It will be only a question of time when the large amounts paid to these countries will be paid to our own people. The reclamation of alkali lands is progressing, to give object lessons to our people in methods by which worthless lands may be made productive.

The insect friends and enemies of the farmer are getting attention. The enemy of the San Jose scale was found near the great wall of China, and is now cleaning up all our orchards. The fig-fertilizing insect imported from Turkey has helped to establish an industry in California that amounts to from fifty to one hundred tons of dried figs annually and is extending over the Pacific coast. A parasitic fly from South Africa is keeping in subjection the black scale, the worst pest of the orange and lemon industry in California.

Careful preliminary work is being done toward producing our own silk. The mulberry is being distributed in large numbers, eggs are being imported and distributed, improved reels were imported from Europe last year, and two expert reelers were brought to Washington to reel the crop of cocoons and teach the art to our own people.

The crop-reporting system of the department of agriculture is being brought closer to accuracy every year. It has 250,000 reporters selected from people in eight vocations in life. It has arrangements with most European countries for interchange of estimates, so that our people may know as nearly as possible with what they must compete.

During the two and a half years that have elapsed since the passage of the reclamation act rapid progress has been made in the surveys and examinations of the opportunities for reclamation in the thirteen states and three territories of the arid west. Construction has already been begun on the largest and most important of the irrigation works, and plans are being completed for works which will utilize the funds now available. The operations are being carried on by the reclamation service, a corps of engineers selected through competitive civil-service examinations. This corps includes experienced consulting and constructing engineers as well as various experts in mechanical and legal matters, and is composed largely of men who have spent most of their lives in practical affairs connected with irrigation. The larger problems have been solved and it now remains to execute with care, economy and thoroughness the work which has been laid out. All important details are being carefully considered by boards of consulting engineers, selected for their thorough knowledge and practical experience. Each project is taken up on the ground by competent men and viewed from the standpoint of the creation of prosperous homes and of promptly refunding to the treasury the cost of construction. The reclamation act has been found to be remarkably complete and effective and so broad in its provisions that a wide range of undertakings has been possible under it. At the same time, economy is guaranteed by the fact that the funds must ultimately be returned to be used over again.

FOREST RESERVES.

It is the cardinal principle of the forest-reserve policy of this administration that the reserves are for use. Whatever interferes with the use of their resources is to be avoided by every possible means. But these resources must be used in such a way as to make them permanent. The forest policy of the government is just now a subject of vivid public interest throughout the west and to the people of the United States in general. The forest reserves themselves are of extreme value to the present as well as to the future welfare of all the western public-land states. They powerfully affect the use and disposal of the public lands. They are of special importance because they preserve the water supply and the supply of timber for domestic purposes, and so promote settlement under the reclamation act. Indeed, they are essential to the welfare of every one of the great interests of the west.

Forest reserves are created for two principal purposes. The first is to preserve the water supply. This is their most important use. The principal users of the water thus preserved are irrigation ranchers and settlers, cities and towns to whom their municipal water supplies are of the very first importance, users and furnishers of water power and the users of water for domestic, manufacturing, mining and other purposes. All these are directly dependent upon the forest reserves.

The second reason for which forest reserves are created is to preserve the timber supply for various classes of wood users. Among the more important of these are settlers under the reclamation act and other acts, for whom a cheap and accessible supply of timber for domestic uses is absolutely necessary; miners and prospectors, who are in serious danger of losing their timber supply by fire or through export by lumber companies when timber lands adjacent to their mines pass into private ownership; lumbermen, transportation companies, builders and commercial interests in general.

Although the wisdom of creating forest reserves is nearly everywhere heartily recognized, yet in a few localities there have been misunderstanding and complaint. The following statement is therefore desirable:

The forest-reserve policy can be successful only when it has the full support of the people of the west. It cannot safely and should not in any case be imposed upon them against their will. But neither can we accept the views of those whose only interest in the forest is temporary; who are anxious to reap what they have not sown and then move away, leaving desolation behind them. On the contrary, it is everywhere and always the interest of the permanent settler and the permanent business man, the man with a stake in the country, which must be considered and which must decide.

The making of forest reserves within railroad and wagon-road land-grant limits will hereafter, as for the past three years, be so managed as to prevent the issue, under the act of June 4, 1897, of base for exchange or lieu selection (usually called scrip). In all cases where forest reserves within areas covered by land grants appear to be essential to the prosperity of settlers, miners or others, the government lands within such proposed forest reserves will, as in the recent past, be withdrawn from sale or entry pending the completion of such negotiations with the owners of the land grants as will prevent the creation of so-called scrip.

It was formerly the custom to make forest reserves without first getting definite and detailed information as to the character of land and timber within their boundaries. This method of action often resulted in badly chosen boundaries and consequent injustice to settlers and others. Therefore this administration adopted the present method of first withdrawing the land from disposal, followed by careful examination on the ground and the preparation of detailed maps and descriptions before any forest reserve is created.

I have repeatedly called attention to the confusion which exists in government forest matters because the work is scattered among three independent organizations. The United States is the only one of the great nations in which the forest work of the government is not concentrated under one department, in consonance with the plainest dictates of good administration and common sense. The present arrangement is bad from every point of view. Merely to mention it is to prove that it should be terminated at once. As I have repeatedly recommended, all the forest work of the government should be concentrated in the department of agriculture, where the larger part of that work is already done, where practically all of the trained foresters of the government are employed, where chiefly in Washington there is comprehensive first-hand knowledge of the problems of the reserves acquired on the ground, where all the problems relating to growth from the soil are already gathered and where all the sciences auxiliary to forestry are at hand for prompt and effective co-operation. These reasons are decisive in themselves, but it should be added that the great organizations of citizens whose interests are affected by the forest reserves, such as the National Live Stock association, the National Wool Growers' association, the American Mining congress, the National Irrigation congress and the National Board of Trade, have uniformly, emphatically and most of them repeatedly expressed themselves in favor of placing all government forest work in the department of agriculture because of the peculiar adaptation of that department for it. It is true, also, that the forest services of nearly all the great nations of the world are under the respective departments of agriculture, while in but two of the smaller nations and in one colony are they under the department of the interior. This is the result of long and varied experience and it agrees fully with the requirements of good administration in our own case.

The creation of a forest service in the department of agriculture will have for its important results:

First. A better handling of all forest work, because it will be under a single head and because the vast and indispensable experience of the department in all matters pertaining to the forest reserves, to forestry in general and to other forms of production from the soil will be easily and rapidly accessible.

Second. The reserves themselves, being handled from the point of view of the man in the field instead of the man in the office, will be more easily and more widely useful to the people of the west than has been the case hitherto.

Third. Within a comparatively short time the reserves will become self-supporting.

This is important, because continually and rapidly increasing appropriations will be necessary for the proper care of this exceedingly important interest of the nation, and they can and should be offset by returns from the national forests. Under similar circumstances the forest possessions of other great nations form an important source of revenue to their governments.

Every administrative officer concerned is convinced of the necessity for the proposed consolidation of forest work in the department of agriculture, and I myself have urged it more than once in former messages. Again I commend it to the early and favorable consideration of the congress. The interests of the nation at large and of the west in particular have suffered greatly because of the delay.

I call the attention of the congress again to the report and recommendation of the commission on the public lands forwarded by me to the second session of the present congress. The commission has prosecuted its investigations actively during the last season, and a second report is now in an advanced stage of preparation.

In connection with the work of the forest reserves I desire again to urge upon the congress the importance of authorizing the president to set aside certain portions of these reserves or other public lands as game refuges for the preservation of the bison, the wapiti and other large beasts once so abundant in our woods and mountains and on our great plains and now tending toward extinction. Every support should be given to the authorities of the Yellowstone park in their successful efforts at preserving the large creatures therein and at very little expense portions of the public domain in other regions which are wholly unsuited to agricultural settlement could be similarly utilized. We owe it to future generations to keep alive the noble and beautiful creatures which by their presence add such distinctive character to the American wilderness. The limits of the Yellowstone park should be extended southward. The canyon of the Colorado should be made a national park, and the national-park system should include the Yosemite and as many as possible of the groves of giant trees in California.

The veterans of the civil war have a claim upon the nation such as no other body of our citizens possess. The pension bureau has never in its history been managed in a more satisfactory manner than is now the case.

INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The progress of the Indians toward civilization, though not rapid, is perhaps all that could be hoped for in view of the circumstances. Within the last year many tribes have shown, in a degree greater than ever before, an appreciation of the necessity of work. This changed attitude is in part due to the policy recently pursued of reducing the amount of subsistence to the Indians, and thus forcing them, through sheer necessity, to work for a livelihood. The policy, though severe, is a useful one, but it is to be exercised only with judgment and with a full understanding of the conditions which exist in each community for which it is intended. On or near the Indian reservations there is usually very little demand for labor, and if the Indians are to earn their living and when work cannot be furnished from outside (which is always preferable), then it must be furnished by the government.

Practical instruction of this kind would in a few years result in the forming of habits of regular industry, which would render the Indian a producer and would effect a great reduction in the cost of his maintenance.

It is commonly declared that the slow advance of the Indians is due to the unsatisfactory character of the men appointed to take immediate charge of them, and to some extent this is true. While the standard of the employees in the Indian service shows great improvement over that of bygone years, and while actual corruption or flagrant dishonesty is now the rare exception, it is nevertheless the fact that the salaries paid Indian agents are not large enough to attract the best men to that field of work. To achieve satisfactory results the official in charge of an Indian tribe should possess the high qualifications which are required in the manager of a large business, but only in exceptional cases is it possible to secure men of such a type for these positions. Much better service, however, might be obtained from those now holding the places were it practicable to get out of them the best that is in them, and this should be done by bringing them constantly into closer touch with their superior officers. An agent who has been content to draw his salary, giving in return the least possible equivalent in effort and service, may, by proper treatment, by suggestion and encouragement or persistent urging, be stimulated to greater effort and induced to take a more active personal interest in his work.

Under existing conditions an Indian agent in the distant west may be wholly out of touch with the office of the Indian bureau. He may very well feel that no one takes a personal interest in him or his efforts. Certain routine duties in the way of reports and accounts are required of him, but there is no one with whom he may intelligently consult on matters vital to his work, except after long delay. Such a man would be greatly encouraged and aided by personal contact with some one whose interest in Indian affairs and whose authority in the Indian bureau were greater than his own, and such contact would be certain to arouse and constantly increase the interest he takes in his work.

The distance which separates the agents—the workers in the field—from the Indian office in Washington is a chief obstacle to Indian progress. Whatever shall more closely unite these two branches of the Indian service and shall enable them to co-operate more heartily and more effectively will be for the increased efficiency of the work and the betterment of the race for whose improvement the Indian bureau was established. The appointment of a field assistant to the commissioner of Indian affairs would be certain to insure this good end. Such an official, if possessed of the requisite energy and deep interest in the work, would be a most efficient factor in bringing into closer relationship and a more direct union of effort the bureau in Washington and its agents in the field; and with the co-operation of its branches thus secured the Indian bureau would, in measure fuller than ever before, lift up the savage toward that self-help and self-reliance which constitute the man.

In 1907 there will be held at Hampton roads the tricentennial celebration of the settlement at Jamestown, Va., with which the history of what has now become the United States really begins. I commend this to your favorable consideration. It is an event of prime historic significance, in which all the people of the United States should feel and should show great and general interest.

POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT.

In the postoffice department the service has increased in efficiency and conditions as to revenue and expenditure continue satisfactory. The increase of revenue during the year was $9,358,181.10, or 6.9 per cent, the total receipts amounting to $143,382,624.34. The expenditures were $152,362,116.70, an increase of about 9 per cent over the previous year, being thus $8,979,492.36 in excess of the current revenue. Included in these expenditures was a total appropriation of $12,956,637.35 for the continuation and extension of the rural free-delivery service, which was an increase of $4,902,237.35 over the amount expended for this purpose in the preceding fiscal year. Large as this expenditure has been, the beneficent results attained in extending the free distribution of mails to the residents of rural districts have justified the wisdom of the outlay. Statistics brought down to the 1st of October, 1904, show that on that date there were 27,138 rural routes established, serving approximately 12,000,000 of people in rural districts remote from post-offices, and that there were pending at that time 3,859 petitions for the establishment of new rural routes. Unquestionably some part of the general increase in receipts is due to the increased postal facilities which the rural service has afforded. The revenues have also been aided greatly by amendments in the classification of abuses of the second-class mailing privilege. The average increase in the volume of mail matter for the period beginning with 1902 and ending June, 1905 (that portion for 1905 being estimated), is 40.47 per cent as compared with 25.46 per cent for the period immediately preceding and 15.92 for the four-year period immediately preceding that.

Our consular system needs improvement. Salaries should be substituted for fees and the proper classification, grading and transfer of consular officers should be provided. I am not prepared to say that a competitive system of examinations for appointment would work well; but by law it should be provided that consuls should be familiar, according to places for which they apply, with the French, German or Spanish languages and should possess acquaintance with the resources of the United States.

The collection of objects of art contemplated in section 5586 of the revised statutes should be designated and established as a national gallery of art; and the Smithsonian institution should be authorized to accept any additions to said collection that may be received by gift, bequest or devise.

It is desirable to enact a proper national quarantine law. It is most undesirable that a state should on its own initiative enforce quarantine regulations which are in effect a restriction upon interstate and international commerce. The question should properly be assumed by the government alone. The surgeon-general of the national public health and marine hospital service has repeatedly and convincingly set forth the need for such legislation.

I call your attention to the great extravagance in printing and binding government publications and especially to the fact that altogether too many of these publications are printed. There is a constant tendency to increase their number and their volume. It is an understatement to say that no appreciable harm would be caused by, and substantial benefit would accrue from, decreasing the amount of printing now done by at least one-half. Probably the great majority of the government reports and the like now printed are never read at all and furthermore the printing of much of the material contained in many of the remaining ones serves no useful purpose whatever.

The attention of the congress should be especially given to the currency question and that the standing committees on the matter in the two houses charged with the duty take up the matter of our currency and see whether it is not possible to secure an agreement in the business world for bettering the system; the committees should consider the question of the retirement of the greenbacks and the problem of securing in our currency such elasticity as is consistent with safety. Every silver dollar should be made by law redeemable in gold at the option of the holder.

I especially commend to your immediate attention the encouragement of our merchant marine by appropriate legislation.

THE ORIENT AS A MARKET.

The growing importance of the orient as a field for American exports drew from my predecessor, President McKinley, an urgent request for its special consideration by the congress. In his message of 1898 he stated:

"In this relation, as showing the peculiar volume and value of our trade with China and the peculiarly favorable conditions which exist for their expansion in the normal course of trade, I refer to the communication addressed to the speaker of the house of representatives by the secretary of the treasury on the 14th of last June, with its accompanying letter of the secretary of state, recommending an appropriation for a commission to study the industrial and commercial conditions in the Chinese empire and to report as to the opportunities for and the obstacles to the enlargement of markets in China for the raw products and manufactures of the United States. Action was not taken thereon during the last session. I cordially urge that the recommendation receive at your hands the consideration which its importance and timeliness merit."

In his annual message of 1899 he again called attention to this recommendation, quoting it, and stated further:

"I now renew this recommendation, as the importance of the subject has steadily grown since it was first submitted to you and no time should be lost in studying for ourselves the resources of this great field for American trade and enterprise."

The importance of securing proper information and data with a view to the enlargement of our trade with Asia is undiminished. Our consular representatives in China have strongly urged a place for permanent display of American products in some prominent trade center of that empire, under government control and management, as an effective means of advancing our export trade therein. I call the attention of the congress to the desirability of carrying out these suggestions.

IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION.

In dealing with the questions of immigration and naturalization it is indispensable to keep certain facts ever before the minds of those who share in enacting the laws. First and foremost let us remember that the question of being a good American has nothing whatever to do with a man's birthplace any more than it has to do with his creed. In every generation from the time this government was founded men of foreign birth have stood in the very foremost rank of good citizenship and that not merely in one but in every field of American activity; while to try to draw a distinction between the man whose parents came to this country and the man whose ancestors came to it several generations back is a mere absurdity. Good Americanism is a matter of heart, of conscience, of lofty aspiration, of sound common sense, but not of birthplace or of creed. The medal of honor, the highest prize to be won by those who serve in the army and navy of the United States, decorates men born here and it also decorates men born in Great Britain and Ireland, in Germany, in Scandinavia, in France and doubtless in other countries also. In the field of statesmanship, in the field of business, in the field of philanthropic endeavor, it is equally true that among the men of whom we are most proud as Americans no distinction whatever can be drawn between those who themselves or whose parents came over in sailing ship or steamer from across the water and those whose ancestors stepped ashore into the wooded wilderness at Plymouth or at the mouth of the Hudson, the Delaware or the James nearly three centuries ago. No fellow citizen of ours is entitled to any peculiar regard because of the way in which he worships his Maker or because of the birthplace of himself or his parents, nor should he be in any way discriminated against therefor. Each must stand on his worth as a man and each is entitled to be judged solely thereby.

There is no danger of having too many immigrants of the right kind. It makes no difference from what country they come. If they are sound in body and in mind, and, above all, if they are of good character, so that we can rest assured that their children and grandchildren will be worthy fellow citizens of our children and grandchildren, then we should welcome them with cordial hospitality.

But the citizenship of this country should not be debased. It is vital that we should keep high the standard of well-being among our wage-workers, and therefore we should not admit masses of people whose standards of living and whose personal customs and habits are such that they tend to lower the level of the American wage-worker; and above all we should not admit any man of an unworthy type, any man concerning whom we can say that he will himself be a bad citizen, or that his children and grandchildren will detract from instead of adding to the sum of the good citizenship of the country. Similarly we should take the greatest care about naturalization. Fraudulent naturalization, the naturalization of improper persons, is a curse to our government; and it is the affair of every honest voter, wherever born, to see that no fraudulent voting is allowed, that no fraud in connection with naturalization is permitted.

In the past year the cases of false, fraudulent and improper naturalization of aliens coming to the attention of the executive branches of the government have increased to an alarming degree. Extensive sales of forged certificates of naturalization have been discovered, as well as many cases of naturalization secured by perjury and fraud; and in addition instances have accumulated showing that many courts issue certificates of naturalization carelessly and upon insufficient evidence.

Under the constitution it is in the power of congress 'to establish a uniform rule of naturalization' and numerous laws have from time to time been enacted for that purpose, which have been supplemented in a few states by state laws having special application. The federal statutes permit naturalization by any court of record in the United States having common-law jurisdiction and a seal and clerk, except the police court of the District of Columbia, and nearly all these courts exercise this important function. It results that where so many courts of such varying grades have jurisdiction there is a lack of uniformity in the rules applied in conferring naturalization. Some courts are strict and others lax. An alien who may secure naturalization in one place might be denied it in another and the intent of the constitutional provision is in fact defeated. Furthermore, the certificates of naturalization issued by the courts differ widely in wording and appearance and when they are frequently used in foreign countries are frequently subject to suspicion.

There should be a comprehensive revision of the naturalization laws. The courts having power to naturalize should be definitely named by national authority; the testimony upon which naturalization may be conferred should be definitely prescribed; publication of impending naturalization applications should be required in advance of their hearing in court; the form and wording of all certificates issued should be uniform throughout the country and the courts should be required to make returns to the secretary of state at stated periods of all naturalizations conferred.

Not only are the laws relating to naturalization now defective, but those relating to citizenship of the United States ought also to be made the subject of scientific inquiry with a view to probable further legislation. By what acts expatriation may be assumed to have been accomplished, how long an American citizen may reside abroad and receive the protection of our passport, whether any degree of protection should be extended to one who has made the declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, but has not secured naturalization, are questions of serious import, involving personal rights and often producing friction between this government and foreign governments. Yet upon these questions our laws are silent. I recommend that an examination be made into the subjects of citizenship, expatriation and protection of Americans abroad with a view to appropriate legislation.

The power of the government to protect the integrity of the elections of its own officials is inherent and has been recognized and affirmed by repeated declarations of the Supreme court. There is no enemy of free government more dangerous and none so insidious as the corruption of the electorate. No one defends or excuses corruption and it would seem to follow that none would oppose vigorous measures to eradicate it. I recommend the enactment of a law directed against bribery and corruption in federal elections. The details of such a law may be safely left to the wise discretion of the congress, but it should go as far as under the constitution it is possible to go and should include severe penalties against him who gives or receives a bribe intended to influence his act or opinion as an elector; and provisions for the publication not only of the expenditures for nomination and elections of all candidates but also of all contributions received and expenditures made by political committees.

THE LAW'S DELAYS.

No subject is better worthy the attention of the congress than that portion of the report of the attorney-general dealing with the long delays and the great obstruction to justice experienced in the cases of Beavers, Green and Gaynor, and Benson. Were these isolated and special cases I should not call your attention to them; but the difficulties encountered as regards these men who have been indicted for criminal practices are not exceptional; they are precisely similar in kind to what occurs again and again in the case of criminals who have sufficient means to enable them to take advantage of a system of procedure which has grown up in the federal courts and which amounts in effect to making the law easy of enforcement against the man who has no money and difficult of enforcement, even to the point of sometimes securing immunity, as regards the man who has money. In criminal cases the writ of the United States should run throughout its borders. The wheels of justice should not be clogged, as they have been clogged in the cases above mentioned, where it has proved absolutely impossible to bring the accused to the place appointed by the constitution for his trial. Of recent years there has been grave and increasing complaint of the difficulty of bringing to justice those criminals whose criminality, instead of being against one person in the republic, is against all persons in the republic, because it is against the republic itself. Under any circumstance and from the very nature of the case it is often exceedingly difficult to secure proper punishment of those who have been guilty of wrongdoing against the government. By the time the offender can be brought into court the popular wrath against him has generally subsided; and there is in most instances very slight danger indeed of any prejudice existing in the minds of the jury against him. At present the interests of the innocent man are amply safeguarded; but the interests of the government—that is, the interests of honest administration; that is, the interests of the people—are not recognized as they should be. No subject better warrants the attention of the congress. Indeed, no subject better warrants the attention of the bench and bar throughout the United States.

LAWS FOR ALASKA.

Alaska, like all our territorial acquisitions, has proved resourceful beyond the expectations of those who made the purchase. It has become the home of many hardy, industrious and thrifty American citizens. Towns of a permanent character have been built. The extent of its wealth in minerals, timber, fisheries and agriculture, while great, is probably not comprehended yet in any just measure by our people. We do know, however, that from a very small beginning its products have grown until they are a steady and material contribution to the wealth of the nation. Owing to the immensity of Alaska and its location in the far north, it is a difficult matter to provide many things essential to its growth and to the happiness and comfort of its people by private enterprise alone. It should, therefore, receive reasonable aid from the government. The government has already done excellent work for Alaska in laying cables and building telegraph lines. This work has been done in the most economical and efficient way by the signal corps of the army.

In some respects it has outgrown its present laws, while in others those laws have been found to be inadequate. In order to obtain information upon which I could rely I caused an official of the department of justice in whose judgment I have confidence to visit Alaska during the past summer for the purpose of ascertaining how government is administered there and what legislation is actually needed at present. A statement of the conditions found to exist, together with some recommendations and the reasons therefor, in which I strongly concur, will be found in the annual report of the attorney-general. In some instances I feel that the legislation suggested is so imperatively needed that I am moved briefly to emphasize the attorney-general's proposals.

Under the code of Alaska as it now stands many purely administrative powers and duties, including by far the most important, devolve upon the district judges or upon the clerks of the District court acting under the direction of the judges, while the governor, upon whom these powers and duties should logically fall, has nothing specific to do except to make annual reports, issue Thanksgiving day proclamations and appoint Indian policemen and notaries public. I believe it essential to good government in Alaska, and therefore recommend, that the congress divest the district judges and the clerks of their courts of the administrative or executive functions that they now exercise and cast them upon the governor. This would not be an innovation; it would simply conform the government of Alaska to fundamental principles, making the governorship a real instead of a merely nominal office and leaving the judges free to give their entire attention to their judicial duties and at the same time removing them from a great deal of the strife that now embarrasses the judicial office in Alaska.

I also recommend that the salaries of the district judges and district attorneys in Alaska be increased so as to make them equal to those received by corresponding officers in the United States after deducting the difference in the cost of living; that the district attorneys should be prohibited from engaging in private practice; that United States commissioners be appointed by the governor of the territory instead of by the district judges and that a fixed salary be provided for them to take the place of the discredited "fee system," which should be abolished in all offices; that a mounted constabulary be created to police the territory outside the limits of incorporated towns—a vast section now wholly without police protection; and that some provision be made at least to lessen the oppressive delays and costs that now attend the prosecution of appeals from the District court of Alaska. There should be a division of the existing judicial districts and an increase in the number of judges. Alaska should have a delegate in the congress. Where possible the congress should aid in the construction of needed wagon roads. Additional lighthouses should be provided. In my judgment it is especially important to aid in such manner as seems just and feasible in the construction of a trunk line of railway to connect the Gulf of Alaska with the Yukon river through American territory. This would be most beneficial to the development of the resources of the territory and to the comfort and welfare of its people.

Salmon hatcheries should be established in many different streams so as to secure the preservation of this valuable food fish. Salmon fisheries and canneries should be prohibited on certain of the rivers where the mass of those Indians dwell who live almost exclusively on fish.

The Alaskan natives are kindly, intelligent, anxious to learn and willing to work. Those who have come under the influence of civilization, even for a limited period, have proved their capability of becoming self-supporting, self-respecting citizens and ask only for the just enforcement of law and intelligent instruction and supervision. Others, living in more remote regions, primitive, simple hunters and fisher folk, who know only the life of the woods and the waters, are daily being confronted with twentieth-century civilization with all of its complexities. Their country is being overrun by strangers, the game slaughtered and driven away, the streams depleted of fish and hitherto unknown and fatal diseases brought to them, all of which combine to produce a state of abject poverty and want which must result in their extinction. Action in their interest is demanded by every consideration of justice and humanity.

The needs of these people are:

The abolition of the present fee system, whereby the native is degraded, imposed upon and taught the injustice of law.

The establishment of hospitals at central points so that contagious diseases that are brought to them continually by incoming whites may be localized and not allowed to become epidemic, to spread death and destitution over great areas.

The development of the educational system in the form of practical training in such industries as will assure the Indians self-support under the changed conditions in which they will have to live.

The duties of the office of the governor should be extended to include the supervision of Indian affairs, with necessary assistants in different districts. He should be provided with the means and the power to protect and advise the native people, to furnish medical treatment in time of epidemics and to extend material relief in periods of famine and extreme destitution.

The Alaskan natives should be given the right to acquire, hold and dispose of property upon the same conditions as given our inhabitants, and the privilege of citizenship should be given to such as may be able to meet certain definite requirements.

In Hawaii the congress should give the governor power to remove all the officials appointed under him. The harbor of Honolulu should be dredged. The marine-hospital service should be empowered to study leprosy in the islands. I ask special consideration for the report and recommendation of the governor of Porto Rico.

In treating of our foreign policy and of the attitude that this great nation should assume in the world at large, it is absolutely necessary to consider the army and the navy, and the congress, through which the thought of the nation finds its expression, should keep ever vividly in mind the fundamental fact that it is impossible to treat our foreign policy, whether this policy takes shape in the effort to secure justice for others or justice for ourselves, save as conditioned upon the attitude we are willing to take toward our army, and especially toward our navy. It is not merely unwise, it is contemptible, for a nation, as for an individual, to use high-sounding language to proclaim its purposes or to take positions which are ridiculous if unsupported by potential force and then to refuse to provide this force. If there is no intention of providing and of keeping the force necessary to back up a strong attitude, then it is far better not to assume such an attitude.

FOREIGN POLICY.

The steady aim of this nation, as of all enlightened nations, should be to strive to bring ever nearer the day when there shall prevail throughout the world the peace of justice. There are kinds of peace which are highly undesirable, which are in the long run as destructive as any war. Tyrants and oppressors have many times made a wilderness and called it peace. Many times peoples who were slothful or timid or shortsighted, who had been enervated by ease or by luxury, or misled by false teachings, have shrunk in unmanly fashion from doing duty that was stern and that needed self-sacrifice and have sought to hide from their own minds their shortcomings, their ignoble motives, by calling them love of peace. The peace of tyrannous terror, the peace of craven weakness, the peace of injustice, all these should be shunned as we shun unrighteous war. The goal to set before us as a nation, the goal which should be set before all mankind, is the attainment of the peace of justice, of the peace which comes when each nation is not merely safeguarded in its own rights, but scrupulously recognizes and performs its duty toward others. Generally peace tells for righteousness, but if there is conflict between the two, then our fealty is due first to the cause of righteousness. Unrighteous wars are common and unrighteous peace is rare; but both should be shunned. The right of freedom and the responsibility for the exercise of that right cannot be divorced. One of our great poets has well and finely said that freedom is not a gift that tarries long in the hands of cowards. Neither does it tarry long in the hands of those too slothful, too dishonest or too unintelligent to exercise it. The eternal vigilance which is the price of liberty must be exercised, sometimes to guard against outside foes; although, of course, far more often to guard against our own selfish or thoughtless shortcomings.

If these self-evident truths are kept before us, and only if they are so kept before us, we shall have a clear idea of what our foreign policy in its larger aspects should be. It is our duty to remember that a nation has no more right to do injustice to another nation, strong or weak, than an individual has to do injustice to another individual; that the same moral law applies in one case as in the other. But we must also remember that it is as much the duty of the nation to guard its own rights and its own interests as it is the duty of the individual so to do. Within the nation the individual has now delegated this right to the state; that is, to the representative of all the individuals, and it is a maxim of the law that for every wrong there is a remedy. But in international law we have not advanced by any means as far as we have advanced in municipal law. There is as yet no judicial way of enforcing a right in international law. When one nation wrongs another, or wrongs many others, there is no tribunal before which the wrongdoer can be brought. Either it is necessary supinely to acquiesce in the wrong, and thus put a premium upon brutality and aggression, or else it is necessary for the aggrieved nation valiantly to stand up for its rights. Until some method is devised by which there shall be a degree of international control over offending nations it would be a wicked thing for the most civilized powers, for those with most sense of international obligations and with keenest and most generous appreciation of the difference between right and wrong, to disarm. If the great civilized nations of the present day should completely disarm, the result would mean an immediate recrudescence of barbarism in one form or another. Under any circumstances a sufficient armament would have to be kept up to serve the purposes of international police, and until international cohesion and the sense of international duties and rights are far more advanced than at present, a nation desirous both of securing respect for itself and of doing good to others must have a force adequate for the work which it feels is allotted to it as its part of the general world duty. Therefore it follows that a self-respecting, just and far-seeing nation should on the one hand endeavor by every means to aid in the development of the various movements which tend to provide substitutes for war, which tend to render nations in their actions toward one another, and indeed toward their own peoples, more responsive to the general sentiment of humane and civilized mankind, and on the other hand that it should keep prepared, while scrupulously avoiding wrongdoing itself, to repel any wrong, and in exceptional cases to take action which in a more advanced stage of international relations would come under the head of the exercise of the international police power. A great free people owes it to itself and to all mankind not to sink into helplessness before the powers of evil.

HAGUE CONFERENCE.

We are in every way endeavoring to help on, with cordial good will, every movement which will tend to bring us into more friendly relations with the rest of mankind. In pursuance of this policy I shall shortly lay before the senate treaties of arbitration with all powers which are willing to enter into these treaties with us. It is not possible at this period of the world's development to agree to arbitrate all matters, but there are many matters of possible difference between us and other nations which can be thus arbitrated. Furthermore, at the request of the Interparliamentary Union, an eminent body composed of practical statesmen from all countries, I have asked the powers to join with this government in a second Hague conference, at which it is hoped that the work already so happily begun at The Hague may be carried some steps further toward completion. This carries out the desire expressed by the first Hague conference itself.

It is not true that the United States feels any land hunger or enterprizes any projects as regards the other nations of the western hemisphere save such as are for their welfare. All that this country desires is to see the neighboring countries stable, orderly and prosperous. Any country whose people conduct themselves well can count upon our hearty friendship. If a nation shows that it knows how to act with reasonable efficiency and decency in social and political matters, if it keeps order and pays its obligations, it need fear no interference from the United States. Chronic wrongdoing, or an impotence which results in a general loosening of the ties of civilized society, may in America, as elsewhere, ultimately require intervention by some civilized nation, and in the western hemisphere the adherence of the United States to the Monroe doctrine may force the United States, however reluctantly, in flagrant cases of such wrongdoing or impotence, to the exercise of an international police power. If every country washed by the Caribbean sea would show the progress in stable and just civilization which with the aid of the Platt amendment Cuba has shown since our troops left the islands, and which so many of the republics in both Americas are constantly and brilliantly showing, all question of interference by this nation with their affairs would be at an end. Our interests and those of our southern neighbors are in reality identical. They have great natural riches, and if within their borders the reign of law and justice obtains prosperity is sure to come to them. While they thus obey the primary laws of civilized society they may rest assured that they will be treated by us in a spirit of cordial and helpful sympathy. We would interfere with them only in the last resort, and then only if it became evident that their inability or unwillingness to do justice at home and abroad had violated the rights of the United States or had invited foreign aggression to the detriment of the entire body of American nations. It is a mere truism to say that every nation, whether in America or anywhere else, which desires to maintain its freedom, its independence, must ultimately realize that the right of such independence cannot be separated from the responsibility of making good use of it.

In asserting the Monroe doctrine, in taking such steps as we have taken in regard to Cuba, Venezuela and Panama and endeavoring to circumscribe the theater of war in the far east and to secure the open door in China we have acted in our own interest as well as in the interest of humanity at large. There are, however, cases in which, while our own interests are not greatly involved, strong appeal is made to our sympathies. Ordinarily it is very much wiser and more useful for us to concern ourselves with striving for our own moral and material betterment here at home than to concern ourselves with trying to better the condition of things in other nations. We have plenty of sins of our own to war against, and under ordinary circumstances we can do more for the general uplifting of humanity by striving with heart and soul to put a stop to civic corruption, to brutal lawlessness and violent race prejudices here at home than by passing resolutions about wrongdoing elsewhere. Nevertheless there are occasional crimes committed on so vast a scale and of such peculiar horror as to make us doubt whether it is not our manifest duty to endeavor at least to show our disapproval of the deed and our sympathy with those who have suffered by it. The cases must be extreme in which such a course is justifiable. There must be no effort made to remove the mote from our brother's eye if we refuse to remove the beam from our own.

ARMED INTERFERENCE.

But in extreme cases action may be justifiable and proper. What form the action shall take must depend upon the circumstances of the case; that is, upon the degree of the atrocity and upon our power to remedy it. The cases in which we could interfere by force of arms as we interfered to put a stop to intolerable conditions in Cuba are necessarily very few. Yet it is not to be expected that a people like ours, which in spite of certain very obvious shortcomings nevertheless as a whole shows by its consistent practice its belief in the principles of civil and religious liberty and of orderly freedom, a people among whom even the worst crime, like the crime of lynching, is never more than sporadic, so that individuals and not classes are molested in their fundamental rights—it is inevitable that such a nation should desire eagerly to give expression to its horror on an occasion like that of the massacre of the Jews in Kishenev, or when it witnesses such systematic and long-extended cruelty and oppression as the cruelty and oppression of which the Armenians have been the victims, and which have won for them the indignant pity of the civilized world.

Even where it is not possible to secure in other nations the observance of the principles which we accept as axiomatic, it is necessary for us firmly to insist upon the rights of our own citizens without regard to their creed or race, without regard to whether they were born here or born abroad. It has proved very difficult to secure from Russia the right for our Jewish fellow citizens to receive passports and travel through Russian territory. Such conduct is not only unjust and irritating toward us, but it is difficult to see its wisdom from Russia's standpoint. No conceivable good is accomplished by it. If an American Jew or an American Christian misbehaves himself in Russia he can at once be driven out, but the ordinary American Jew, like the ordinary American Christian, would behave just about as he behaves here—that is, behave as any good citizen ought to behave—and where this is the case it is a wrong against which we are entitled to protest to refuse him his passport without regard to his conduct and character, merely on racial and religious grounds. In Turkey our difficulties arise less from the way in which our citizens are sometimes treated than from the indignation inevitably excited in seeing such fearful misrule as has been witnessed both in Armenia and Macedonia.

THE NAVY.

The strong arm of the government in enforcing respect for its just rights in international matters is the navy of the United States. I most earnestly recommend that there be no halt in the work of upbuilding the American navy. There is no more patriotic duty before us as a people than to keep the navy adequate to the needs of this country's position. We have undertaken to build the Isthmian canal. We have undertaken to secure for ourselves our just share in the trade of the orient. We have undertaken to protect our citizens from improper treatment in foreign lands. We continue steadily to insist on the application of the Monroe doctrine to the western hemisphere. Unless our attitude in these and all similar matters is to be a mere boastful sham we cannot afford to abandon our naval programme. Our voice is now potent for peace, and is so potent because we are not afraid of war. But our protestations upon behalf of peace would neither receive nor deserve the slightest attention if we were impotent to make them good.

The war which now unfortunately rages in the far east has emphasized in striking fashion the new possibilities of naval warfare. The lessons taught are both strategic and tactical, and are political as well as military. The experiences of the war have shown in conclusive fashion that while sea-going and sea-keeping torpedo destroyers are indispensable, and fast lightly armed and armored cruisers very useful, yet that the main reliance the main standby, in any navy worthy the name must be the great battleships, heavily armored and heavily gunned. Not a Russian or Japanese battleship has been sunk by a torpedo boat or by gunfire, while among the less protected ships cruiser after cruiser has been destroyed whenever the hostile squadrons have got within range of one another's weapons. There will always be a large field of usefulness for cruisers, especially of the more formidable type. We need to increase the number of torpedo-boat destroyers, paying less heed to their having a knot or two extra speed than to their capacity to keep the seas for weeks and, if necessary, for months at a time. It is wise to build submarine torpedo boats, as under certain circumstances they might be very useful. But most of all we need to continue building our fleet of battleships, or ships so powerfully armed that they can inflict the maximum of damage upon our opponents, and so well protected that they can suffer a severe hammering in return without fatal impairment of their ability to fight and maneuver.

Of course ample means must be provided for enabling the personnel of the navy to be brought to the highest point of efficiency. Our great fighting ships and torpedo boats must be ceaselessly trained and maneuvered in squadrons. The officers and men can only learn their trade thoroughly by ceaseless practice on the high seas. In the event of war it would be far better to have no ships at all than to have ships of a poor and ineffective type, or ships which, however good, were yet manned by untrained and unskilled crews. The best of officers and men in a poor ship could do nothing against fairly good opponents, and on the other hand a modern warship is useless unless the officers and men aboard her have become adepts in their duties. The marksmanship in our navy has improved in an extraordinary degree during the last three years, and on the whole the types of our battleships are improving, but much remains to be done. Sooner or later we shall have to provide for some method by which there will be promotions for merit as well as for seniority, or else retirement of all those who after a certain age have not advanced beyond a certain grade, while no effort must be spared to make the service attractive to the enlisted men in order that they may be kept as long as possible in it. Reservation public schools should be provided wherever there are navy yards.

Within the last three years the United States has set an example in disarmament where disarmament was proper. By law our army is fixed at a maximum of 100,000 and a minimum of 60,000 men. When there was insurrection in the Philippines we kept the army at the maximum. Peace came in the Philippines, and now our army has been reduced to the minimum at which it is possible to keep it with due regard to its efficiency. The guns now mounted require 28,000 men if the coast fortifications are to be adequately manned. Relatively to the nation it is not now so large as the police force of New York or Chicago relatively to the population of either city. We need more officers; there are not enough to perform the regular army work. It is very important that the officers of the army should be accustomed to handle their men in masses, as it is also important that the national guard of the several states should be accustomed to actual field maneuvering, especially in connection with the regulars. For this reason we are to be congratulated upon the success of the field maneuvers at Manassas last fall, maneuvers in which a larger number of regulars and national guard took part than was ever before assembled together in time of peace.

No other civilized nation has, relatively to its population, such a diminutive army as ours, and while the army is so small we are not to be excused if we fail to keep it at a very high grade of proficiency. It must be incessantly practiced, the standard for the enlisted men should be kept very high, while at the same time the service should be made as attractive as possible, and the standard for the officers should be kept even higher—which, as regards the upper ranks, can best be done by introducing some system of selection and rejection into the promotions. We should be able, in the event of some sudden emergency, to put into the field one first-class army corps, which should be, as a whole, at least the equal of any body of troops of like number belonging to any other nation.

Great progress has been made in protecting our coasts by adequate fortifications with sufficient guns. We should, however, pay much more heed than at present to the development of an extensive system of floating mines for use in all our more important harbors. These mines have been proved to be a most formidable safeguard against hostile fleets.

I earnestly call the attention of the congress to the need of amending the existing law relating to the award of congressional medals of honor in the navy so as to provide that they may be awarded to commissioned officers and warrant officers as well as to enlisted men. These justly prized medals are given in the army alike to the officers and the enlisted men, and it is most unjust that the commissioned officers and warrant officers of the navy should not in this respect have the same rights as their brethren in the army and as the enlisted men of the navy.

THE PHILIPPINES.

In the Philippine islands there has been during the last year a continuation of the steady progress which has obtained ever since our troops definitely got the upper hand of the insurgents. The Philippine people, or, to speak more accurately, the many tribes, and even races, sundered from one another more or less sharply, who go to make up the people of the Philippine islands, contain many elements of good, and some elements which we have a right to hope stand for progress. At present they are utterly incapable of existing in independence at all or of building up a civilization of their own. I firmly believe that we can help them to rise higher and higher in the scale of civilization and of capacity for self-government, and I most earnestly hope that in the end they will be able to stand, if not entirely alone, yet in some such relation to the United States as Cuba now stands. This end is not yet in sight, and it may be indefinitely postponed if our people are foolish enough to turn the attention of the Filipinos away from the problems of achieving moral and material prosperity, of working for a stable, orderly and just government, and toward foolish and dangerous intrigues for a complete independence for which they are as yet totally unfit.

On the other hand, our people must keep steadily before their minds the fact that the justification for our stay in the Philippines must ultimately rest chiefly upon the good we are able to do in the islands. I do not overlook the fact that in the development of our interests in the Pacific ocean and along its coast the Philippines have played and will play an important part, and that our interests have been served in more than one way by the possession of the islands. But our chief reason for continuing to hold them must be that we ought in good faith to try to do our share of the world's work, and this particular piece of work has been imposed upon us by the results of the war with Spain. The problem presented to us in the Philippine islands is akin to, but not exactly like, the problems presented to the other great civilized powers which have possessions in the orient. There are points of resemblance in our work to the work which is being done by the British in India and Egypt, by the French in Algiers, by the Dutch in Java, by the Russians in Turkestan, by the Japanese in Formosa; but more distinctly than any of these powers we are endeavoring to develop the natives themselves so that they shall take an ever-increasing share in their own government, and as far as prudent we are already admitting their representatives to a governmental equality with our own. There are commissioners, judges and governors in the islands who are Filipinos and who have exactly the same share in the government of the islands as have their colleagues who are Americans, while in the lower ranks, of course, the great majority of the public servants are Filipinos.

Within two years we shall be trying the experiment of an elective lower house in the Philippine legislature. It may be that the Filipinos will misuse this legislature, and they certainly will misuse it if they are misled by foolish persons here at home into starting an agitation for their own independence or into any factious or improper action. In such case they will do themselves no good and will stop for the time being all further effort to advance them and give them a greater share in their own government. But if they act with wisdom and self-restraint, if they show that they are capable of electing a legislature which in its turn is capable of taking a sane and efficient part in the actual work of government, they can rest assured that a full and increasing measure of recognition will be given them. Above all they should remember that their prime needs are moral and industrial, not political. It is a good thing to try the experiment of giving them a legislature, but it is a far better thing to give them schools, good roads, railroads which will enable them to get their products to market, honest courts, an honest and efficient constabulary and all that tends to produce order, peace, fair dealing as between man and man, and habits of intelligent industry and thrift. If they are safeguarded against oppression, and if their real wants, material and spiritual, are studied intelligently and in a spirit of friendly sympathy, much more good will be done them than by any effort to give them political power, though this effort may in its own proper time and place be proper enough.

Meanwhile our own people should remember that there is need for the highest standard of conduct among the Americans sent to the Philippine islands, not only among the public servants but among the private individuals who go to them. It is because I feel this so deeply that in the administration of these islands I have positively refused to permit any discrimination whatsoever for political reasons, and have insisted that in choosing the public servants consideration should be paid solely to the worth of the men chosen and to the needs of the islands. There is no higher body of men in our public service than we have in the Philippine islands under Gov. Wright and his associates. So far as possible these men should be given a free hand and their suggestions should receive the hearty backing both of the executive and of the congress. There is need of a vigilant and disinterested support of our public servants in the Philippines by good citizens here in the United States. Unfortunately hitherto those of our people here at home who have specially claimed to be the champions of the Filipinos have in reality been their worst enemies. This will continue to be the case as long as they strive to make the Filipinos independent and stop all industrial development of the islands by crying out against the laws which would bring it, on the ground that the capitalists must not "exploit" the islands. Such proceedings are not only unwise but are most harmful to the Filipinos, who do not need independence at all, but who do need good laws, good public servants and the industrial development that can only come if the investment of American and foreign capital in the islands is favored in all legitimate ways.

Every measure taken concerning the islands should be taken primarily with a view to their advantage. We should certainly give them lower tariff rates on their exports to the United States; if this is not done it will be a wrong to extend our shipping laws to them. I earnestly hope for the immediate enactment into law of the legislation now pending to encourage American capital to seek investment in the islands in railroads, in factories, in plantations and in lumbering and mining.

HEIR TO RUSSIAN THRONE BORN.

On the 12th day of August, 1904, a son was born to the czar and czarina of Russia. He was named Alexis and given the title of grand duke. Aug. 15 Emperor Nicholas issued a manifesto determining the order of succession to the throne. In the event of the emperor dying before the czarowitz shall have attained his majority the emperor's brother, Grand Duke Michael, is to become regent, the empress assuming the guardianship of the czarowitz.

Aug. 24 the czar issued another manifesto in which he granted a general amnesty to all political offenders except those charged with murder, abolished corporal punishment among the rural classes and set apart a fund of $1,500,000 for the landless people of Finland. Alexis was christened the same day this manifesto was issued.

THE RUSSO-JAPANESE CONFLICT.

War between Japan and Russia broke out Feb. 8, 1904, and when this edition of The Daily News Almanac and Year Book went to press it was still in progress. The immediate cause was the failure of Russia to evacuate Manchuria in accordance with treaty stipulations, but the trouble really originated in 1895. Then Russia, with the concurrence of France and Germany, prevented Japan from acquiring the Liaotung peninsula and Port Arthur as part of the war indemnity from China. Preparation for the present struggle was immediately begun. Russia was apparently determined to retain permanent possession of Port Arthur and possibly of the whole of Manchuria. Japan considered the situation intolerable, seeing in it a menace to her national existence. Long-continued negotiations proved fruitless and on the 6th of February, 1904, diplomatic relations were severed. The story of the war, in chronological form, follows:

Feb. 8.—Hostilities begun by Japanese. Russian warships at Port Arthur attacked by torpedo boats and badly damaged.

Feb. 9.—Second attack on fleet in Port Arthur made by Japanese. The battleship Poltava and several cruisers badly damaged. The Russian cruisers Variag and Korietz torpedoed at Chemulpo, Korea. First Japanese army began landing at Chemulpo.

Feb. 10.—War declared by Russia.

Feb. 11.—War formally declared by Japan. Alexieff appointed to command Russian land and sea forces in the far east.

Feb. 12.—Russian torpedo transport Yenisel blown up by striking mine near Port Arthur. Ninety-five lives lost.

Feb. 13.—Russian cruiser Boyarin blown up by mine.

Feb. 24.—Attempt made by Japanese to block the entrance to Port Arthur by sinking old ships in the channel; attempt renewed March 26 and May 3; not successful.

March 17.—Russian torpedo boat Skorri blown up at Port Arthur by mine.

April 13.—Russian battleship Petropavlovsk sunk by mine off Port Arthur. Admiral Makaroff, the artist Verestchagin and 525 officers and men lost. Russian torpedo boat destroyer Bezstrashni sunk by Japanese destroyers.

April 26.—Japanese transport Kinshiu Maru with 131 soldiers aboard sunk by Russian torpedo boats.

BATTLE OF THE YALU.

May 1.—The Yalu river crossed by the first Japanese army under Gen. Kuroki in the vicinity of Wiju and Antung. The Russians, 21,500 strong, under Gens. Sassa-litch and Kashtalinsky, defeated and driven back with a loss of 3,196 officers and men, of whom 1,390 were killed. The Japanese lost five officers and 218 men killed and thirty-three officers and 783 men wounded. They captured twenty-one guns from the Russians.

May 5.—The second and third Japanese armies landed on the Liaotung peninsula in the vicinity of Pitsewo and Kinchow bay.

May 12.—Piers at Dalny blown up by the Russians.

May 14.—Japanese dispatch boat Miyako destroyed by a mine in Kerr bay.

May 15.—Japanese battleship Hatsusee sunk by a mine and more than 400 of the crew drowned. The Japanese cruiser Yoshino sunk in collision with the Kasuga; 200 lives lost.

May 23.—Russian cruiser Bogatyr stranded on the rocks near Vladivostok.

May 21-26.—Kinchow captured by the Japanese and Nanshan hill taken by storm. Russians left 704 dead on the field of battle and abandoned seventy-eight guns. Japanese, who were commanded by Gen. Oku, reported to have lost 3,500 men in killed and wounded.

May 30.—Dalny occupied by Gen. Oku and investment of Port Arthur completed. Gen. Stoessel in command of the fortress.

June 7.—Samaja captured by the Japanese. BATTLE OF VAFANGOW.

June 14.—Two Japanese divisions numbering about 30,000 men attacked and defeated the Russians at Vafangow, or Tellissu, north of Polantien. Russians left 1,854 dead on the field. Japanese lost 217 killed and 903 wounded. Victors captured sixteen guns, forty-six wagons and 958 rifles.

June 16.—Russian fleet returned to Vladivostok after sinking three Japanese transports.

June 20.—Bombardment of Port Arthur from land side begun. Gen. Nogi in command of besieging force.

June 23.—Naval battle off Port Arthur. Admiral Togo reported victory.

June 26.—Motien and other mountain passes southeast of Liaoyang occupied by the Japanese under Gens. Oku and Kuroki. Russians under Gen. Kuropatkin defeated in severe skirmishes.

July 8.—Kaiping captured by Gen. Oku.

July 13.—Raid on British and other merchant steamers begun by the Petersburg and Smolensk of the Russian Black sea volunteer fleet. The Malacca and other ships seized; subsequently released and the raid discontinued.

July 25.—Newchwang evacuated by the Russians. British steamer Knight Commander sunk by Vladivostok fleet. Russians defeated at Tatchekiao.

Aug. 3.—Haicheng evacuated by the Russians.

Aug. 8.—Outer works of Port Arthur attacked; heavy losses reported in a series of battles. (No accurate accounts of the fighting at Port Arthur at this time or subsequently can be given. Information as to dates, places of attack, numbers engaged and losses has been withheld by the Japanese and no reliable reports have been secured from the besieged.)

RUSSIAN FLEETS DEFEATED.

Aug. 10.—The Russian fleet in Port Arthur, commanded by Admiral Witthoft, emerged from Port Arthur and was met by Admiral Togo's squadron off Gusan rock. After a six-hour battle the Japanese were victorious, driving most of the enemy's ships back to Port Arthur. Admiral Witthoft was killed and his flagship, the Czarewitch, compelled to flee to the German port of Tsingchow in a disabled condition. The cruiser Askold escaped to Shanghai, where it was dismantled.

The cruiser Novik also sailed to Shanghai but left that port and attempted to reach Vladivostok. The torpedo boat destroyer Ryeshitelni entered Chefu harbor but was seized at night by the Japanese and carried away. Admiral Togo lost 179 men, but no ships.

Aug. 14—The Japanese squadron under Admiral Kamimura met the Vladivostok fleet off the Tsu Islands in the Korea strait, sunk the cruiser Rurik after a five-hour battle and compelled the cruisers Rossia and Gromovoi to withdraw in a badly damaged condition. His own loss was slight. The Japanese saved 600 of the Rurik's crew. The Gromovoi and Rossia had 138 men killed and 321 wounded.

Aug. 21—The cruiser Novik was attacked by the Japanese cruisers Chitose and Tsushima off the island of Sakhalin and driven ashore in the harbor of Korsakovsk.

BATTLE OF LIAOYANG.

Aug. 26-Sept. 4—Gen. Kuropatkin compelled to evacuate Liao-yang after nine days of continuous fighting. Three Japanese armies under Gens. Kuroki, Oku and Nodzu, with Field Marshal Oyama in supreme command, attacked the Russians from the south and east and to prevent being outflanked Gen. Kuropatkin retreated toward Mukden. Russians lost two generals, 256 officers and 21,800 men; the Japanese, 17,539 officers and men killed or wounded. About 200,000 men were reported to have been engaged on each side.

Sept. 11—Russian armed vessel Lena arrived at San Francisco. Ordered to remain there until the end of the war. Russian Baltic sea fleet sailed from Cronstadt to Libau en route to the east.

Sept. 24—Gen. Orloff dismissed from Russian army for disobedience of orders at Liao-yang.

Oct. 11—Gen. Kuropatkin assumed the offensive and advanced toward the Japanese army north of Liao-yang.

BATTLE OF SHAHKE RIVER.

Oct. 12-19—Russian advance checked by Japanese after a series of bloody battles between Yentai and Shahke along the Port Arthur railroad. Nearly 500,000 men engaged. Japanese casualties 15,879 officers and men killed or wounded. Russian losses officially reported to be 55,868 wounded and 12,000 killed. Japanese claimed to have buried 13,330 of the enemy and to have captured 709 prisoners.

Oct. 23—Russian Baltic sea fleet on its way to the east fired on a fleet of British fishing vessels in the North sea, sinking one and killing two men. Russian officers claimed to have been attacked by torpedo boats.

Oct. 25—Gen. Kuropatkin given command of all the Russian forces in the far east.

Oct. 28—North sea affair referred by agreement to The Hague arbitration tribunal.

Nov. 15—Russian torpedo boat destroyer Rastoropy arrived at Chefu with dispatches. Vessel blown up by its own crew.

Nov. 30—Japanese captured and held 203-Meter hill, an important part of the Port Arthur defenses.

NAVAL GUNNERY RECORDS.

Owing to the fact that the conditions and results of target firing by ships of war are carefully kept secret, especially by foreign navy departments, it is not possible to make comparisons of any value. It is believed, however, that the gunners of the United States are second to none and that some of their performances are unrivaled. The following were all made in 1904 and are claimed to be world's records:

13-INCH GUNS.

Wisconsin—10 shots, 9 hits in 5 minutes 45 seconds; distance, 1,600 yards; ship moving at rate of six knots per hour; turret record, 36 shots, 32 hits.

Alabama—10 shots, 8 hits in 5 minutes 45 seconds; 8 shots, 8 hits, same time.

Illinois—11 shots, 9 hits; turret, 39 shots, 29 hits.

12-INCH GUNS.

Iowa—11 shots, 11 hits; turret, 42 shots, 34 hits.

Missouri (by day)—4 shots, 4 hits; distance, 2,500 yards; ship moving at rate of 12 knots an hour; by night under same conditions, same record.

Texas—11 hits in 10 minutes.

8-INCH GUNS.

Kearsarge—10 shots, 10 hits in 5 minutes.

6-INCH GUNS.

Texas—4 shots, 4 hits by day and 6 shots and 6 hits by night; distance, 6,000 yards. Maine—9 shots, 9 hits in 1 minute; average for battery of 16 guns, 5 hits per gun per minute.

BRITISH RECORDS.

Venerable—12-inch gun, 9 rounds, 9 hits in 3 minutes. (July, 1904.)

Ocean—6-inch gun, 9 shots, 9 hits in 1 minute. (1902.)

Terrible—6-inch guns, 104 shots, 80 hits; percentage of hits, 76.8.

No reliable figures from any of the other navies are available.

COTTON PRODUCTION OF THE UNITED STATES.

Preliminary returns Dec. 5, 1904, to the chief of the bureau of statistics of the department of agriculture indicated a total production of cotton in the United States in the year 1904-1905 amounting to 12,162,700 bales. Round bales were included in this estimate and reduced to their equivalent in square bales. The estimate did not include linters.

The average weight of bales as reported from ports and interior markets was unusually high. It seemed likely that it would be somewhat reduced before the close of the season, but from the indications at the time it did not appear probable that it would fall below 500 pounds net. No closer estimate of average weight could be made at the time.

The area picked, or to be picked, was estimated at 30,053,700 acres, a reduction of 1,676,600 acres, or 5.3 per cent, from the acreage estimated as planted.

The estimated production in bales by states was as follows:

Alabama.....	1,278,900	N. Carolina.....	609,000
Arkansas.....	832,700	Oklahoma.....	246,000
Florida.....	77,200	S. Carolina.....	1,099,700

BRITISH EXPEDITION INTO TIBET.

Early in the spring of 1904 a strong British expedition under Col. Younghusband crossed the Indo-Tibetan border for the purpose of enforcing certain trade treaties which the authorities at Lassa had failed to carry out. The Tibetans offered resistance and battles took place at Tuna, Gyangtse and other places. The most serious encounter was that at Gyangtse, July 6, when 7,000 Tibetans were killed, wounded or taken prisoners. The British entered Lassa the first week in August and compelled the authorities to come to terms.

*Includes scattering votes in a few cases. †Unofficial.

In Maryland the electoral vote was split, the democrats getting seven and the republicans one, but the republican elector chosen had 51 more votes than the highest elector on the democratic ticket.

In Pennsylvania the independent vote of 2,563 is included in the Parker vote.

The electoral vote of each state in the elections of 1896, 1900 and 1904 will be found on page 282.

Other data relating to previous presidential elections will be found on page 359.

All of the votes given in the above table are official except that for the state of Washington, which is unofficial, but probably very nearly correct. The canvass of the vote in the state had not been completed when this edition of The Daily News Almanac and Year Book went to press.

In all cases the vote for the elector on each ticket receiving the highest number of votes has been used.

THE LOUISIANA PURCHASE EXPOSITION.

The Louisiana purchase exposition at St. Louis, Mo., opened April 30, 1904, and closed Dec. 1. The attendance was good, though not up to expectations. In the matter of exhibits the fair was second to none, but financially it was a failure. This had been anticipated by the promoters of the enterprise and no disappointment was expressed. Following is an official statement of the attendance by months:

April, one day.....	187,793
May, twenty-six days.....	1,001,391
June, twenty-six days.....	2,124,836
July, twenty-seven days.....	2,343,557
August, twenty-seven days.....	3,088,743
September, twenty-six days.....	3,651,873
October, twenty-seven days.....	3,622,329
November, twenty-six days.....	2,517,450
December, one day.....	203,101
Total, 187 days.....	18,741,073

INHERITANCE TAX IN ILLINOIS.

The Illinois law taxing gifts, legacies and inheritances was passed by the legislature in 1895 and amended in 1901. Its constitutionality was contested, but the United States Supreme court in a decision rendered Jan. 19, 1903, held it to be valid.

Under the provisions of this law all property, real, personal and mixed, which shall pass by will or by the intestate laws of the state from any resident of the state or any one whose property is in this state to any person or persons is subject to a tax at the following rates: When the beneficial interests to any property or income therefrom shall pass to any father, mother, husband, wife, child, brother, sister, wife or widow of the son or the husband of the daughter, or any adopted child or children, or to any lineal descendant born in lawful wedlock, the rate of tax shall be $1 on every $100 of the clear market value of such property received by each person and at the same rate for any less amount, provided that any estate which may be valued at less than $20,000 shall not be subject to any such tax; and the tax is to be levied in the above cases only upon the excess of $20,000 received by each person.

When the property passes to any uncle, aunt, niece, nephew or any lineal descendant of the same the rate shall be $2 on every $100 in excess of $2,000.

In all other cases the rate shall be as follows: On each and every $100 of the clear market value of all property and at the same rate for any less amount; on all estates of over $10,000 and not exceeding $20,000, $4; on all estates over $20,000 and not exceeding $50,000, $5, and on all estates over $50,000, $6; provided, that an estate in the above case which may be valued at a less sum than $500 shall not be subject to any tax.

ILLINOIS STATE CONVENTIONS IN 1904.

REPUBLICAN.

Held in Springfield May 12-June 3; recess May 20-31.

Number of Delegates—1,502.

Necessary to a Choice—752.

Chairman—Joseph G. Cannon.

The candidates for governor were Richard Yates, Charles S. Deneen, Frank O. Lowden, Howland J. Hamlin, Vespasian Warner, Lawrence Y. Sherman and J. H. Pierce. Mr. Deneen was nominated on the seventy-ninth ballot after all the other candidates except Mr. Lowden had withdrawn in his favor. The highest vote received by each candidate before the decisive ballot was as follows:

Yates, 1st ballot, 507 votes.
Lowden, 73d ballot, 631 votes.
Deneen, 37th ballot, 445 votes.
Hamlin, 23d ballot, 148 votes.
Warner, 54th ballot, 55 votes.
Sherman, 1st ballot, 87 votes.
Pierce, 17th ballot, 34 votes.

The following table shows the first and last ballots and those of the others in which the greatest changes took place:

Ballots.	Yates	Lowden	Deneen	Hamlin	Warner	Sherman	Pierce
1.....	507	354	386	121	45	87	..
17.....	485	407	379	110	35	51	34

73.....	362	631	345	70	29	40	24
78.....	405	532	365	102	28	45	24
79.....	1	522½	957½	..	21	..	..

On the final ballot Mr. Lowden received 197½ votes from Cook county to 320½ for Deneen. The counties that voted for him to the last were Bond, Boone, Clinton, DeKalb, Dupage, Jackson, Johnson, Kane, Kankakee, LaSalle, Lake, Lee, Marion, McHenry, Ogle, Perry, Pulaski, Putnam, Richland, Rock Island, Stephenson and Will.

The nominees of the convention were: For governor, Charles S. Deneen; for lieutenant-governor, Lawrence Y. Sherman; for state treasurer, Len Small; for attorney-general, William H. Stead; for secretary of state, James A. Rose; for auditor, James S. McCullough; for university trustees, Dr. Charles W. Davison, W. L. Abbott and Mary E. Busey.

The platform indorsed Roosevelt for president and R. R. Hitt for vice-president. It reaffirmed loyalty to the gold standard, the protective tariff and Philippine policy. It favored a new charter for Chicago, a state civil-service law and a compulsory primary election law.

DEMOCRATIC.

Held in Springfield, June 13-14.

Number of Delegates—1,341.

Necessary to a Choice—671.

Chairman—Frank J. Quinn.

The following nominations were made without a complete ballot being taken in any case: For governor, Lawrence B. Stringer; for lieutenant-governor, Thomas J. Ferns; for secretary of state, Frank E. Dooling; for state treasurer, Charles B. Thomas; for auditor, R. E. Spangler; for attorney-general, Albert Watson; for university trustees, Mrs. Hannah G. Solomon, Theodore C. Loehr and F. B. Merrill.

The convention by a vote of 936 to 382 instructed the delegates to the democratic national convention to vote for William R. Hearst for president. The platform denounced republican corruption, extravagance, favoritism and misrule and the failure of the party in power to prosecute the trusts and reduce the tariff. It favored a direct primary election law in the state, a new system of auditing public accounts, a reduction of fees and salaries, a revision of the corporation law of the state, a state civil-service law, suffrage for women, a new charter for Chicago and the direct election of United States senators by the people.

SOCIALIST.

Held in Peoria April 17.

Number of Delegates—250.

Chairman—E. H. Lindgren.

Nominations—For governor, John Collins; for lieutenant-governor, A. R. Brower; for treasurer, A. S. Tibbitts; for secretary of state, Peyton Boswell; for attorney-general, Samuel Block; for auditor, Albert Elsemann; for university trustees, Mrs. Gertrude B. Hunt, May W. Simms and W. S. Dalton.

PROHIBITION.

Held in Springfield May 25-26.

Number of Delegates—1,200.

Chairman—O. W. Stewart.

Nominees—For governor, Robert H. Patton; for lieutenant-governor, Marion Gallup; for secretary of state, George W. Woolsey; for attorney-general, Eugene W. Chafin; for treasurer, J. Ross Hanna; for auditor, Frank P. Joy; for university trustees, Mrs. Lucie B. Tyng, Edgar S. Nethercut and Miss Marie C. Brehm.

The platform advocated prohibition as the solution of the liquor problem, denounced the assessment of officeholders for political funds and favored the referendum, direct primaries, state civil service, public ownership of public utilities, state boards of control, good roads, woman suffrage and a new charter for Chicago.

CONTINENTAL.

Held in Chicago Sept. 13.

Number of Delegates—25.

Nominees—For governor, A. G. Specht; for lieutenant-governor, W. B. Kenney; for secretary of state, Dr. R. C. Coy; for attorney-general, D. W. Procter; for auditor, E. Cheney.

GARNISHMENT LAW OF ILLINOIS.

Section 14 of the act of 1872 as amended in 1897 and 1901 declares: "The wages for services of a wage-earner who is the head of a family and residing with the same, to the amount of fifteen (15) dollars per week, shall be exempt from garnishment. All above the sum of fifteen (15) dollars per week shall be liable to garnishment."

Employers are obliged to pay wages amounting to $15 or less, notwithstanding the service of a writ of garnishment, providing the person to whom wages are due makes affidavit that he is the head of a family and is living with the same.

WORK OF THE CHICAGO POLICE.

In 1903 the Chicago police made 77,314 arrests, recovered $392,181.63 worth of stolen or lost property, assisted 17,974 sick and injured persons, restored 2,964 children to their parents, attended 4,744 fires, gave lodging to 9,892 persons and furnished 124,195 free meals, besides performing many other duties. In the course of their work three policemen were killed and 249 injured.

The public library is free to all residents of the city. Books may be borrowed for home reading either at the main building downtown or at any of the various delivery stations. The only requirement is that the borrower must furnish a certificate signed by a property owner guaranteeing the library against loss.

At the close of the library year, May 31, 1904, the public library contained 290,277 volumes. The aggregate circulation for the year was 1,721,186 volumes, which does not include the use of books kept on the open shelves nor the periodicals and newspapers used in the reading rooms. Of the books circulated 662,896 were issued from the delivery stations.

TAXATION IN CHICAGO.

List of the eleven boards making annual levies within the city limits:

1. STATE TAX—For state purposes. The governor, auditor and treasurer constitute the board which ascertains the rate per cent required to produce the amount of taxes levied by the general assembly. "The state school tax" is levied in the same manner. The rate for all state purposes varies from 50 to 60 cents on the $100 assessed valuation.
2. COUNTY TAX—The county board levies the taxes for all county purposes, the aggregate of which is limited to 75 cents on the $100.
3. CITY TAX—The city council, acting with the mayor, levies the taxes for all city purposes, which is limited to $2 on the $100.
4. SCHOOL TAX—The city council and the mayor make a separate levy for this purpose, which is limited to $2.50 on the $100.
5. LIBRARY TAX—The city council and the mayor make a separate levy for this purpose. The levy is 10 cents on the $100.
6. SANITARY DISTRICT—The tax is levied by the board of trustees.

7. SOUTH PARK SYSTEM—The south park commissioners levy for park purposes in the towns of South Chicago, Hyde Park and Lake.
8. WEST PARK SYSTEM—The West Chicago park commissioners levy for park purposes in the town of West Chicago.
9. LINCOLN PARK—The Lincoln park commissioners are not "corporate authorities," the Lincoln park act not having been adopted by popular vote. The levy for Lincoln park is made by the county treasurer, acting as ex-officio supervisor.
10. RIDGE PARK—A small park district in Rogers Park, organized under the law providing for local park districts by popular vote. The board of five commissioners levies for the district.
11. THE NORTH SHORE PARK DISTRICT—Organized the same as Ridge Park.

By an act of the legislature approved May 11, 1901, and by the vote of the people at the spring election in 1902 the townships lying within the limits of Chicago were consolidated and the powers of the town boards transferred to the city council. This reduced the taxing boards in Chicago from eighteen to eleven as above.

CHICAGO'S NEW CHARTER MOVEMENT.

The movement for securing a new charter for Chicago was begun at a convention held in the city council chamber Oct. 28, 1902. It was composed of delegates representing the Civic federation, city council, Chicago Bar association, board of trade, Union League club and other organizations. Committees were appointed and at a meeting held Dec. 15 a draft of an amendment to the state constitution providing for various changes in the government of Chicago was adopted. This was brought before the legislature in the form of a joint resolution which after amendment was passed by the house and senate April 22, 1903. The resolution follows:

Resolved, by the house of representatives of the state of Illinois, the senate concurring therein, That there shall be submitted to the electors of this state for adoption or rejection at the next election of members of the general assembly a proposition to amend the constitution of this state as follows:

Resolved, That article 4 of the constitution of this state be amended by adding thereto a section to be numbered and known as section 34 and reading as follows, to wit:

Section 34. The general assembly shall have power, subject to the conditions and limitations hereinafter contained, to pass any law (local, special or general) providing a scheme or charter of local municipal government for the territory now or hereafter embraced within the limits of the city of Chicago. The law or laws so passed may provide for consolidating (in whole or in part) in the municipal government of the city of Chicago the powers now vested in the city, board of education, township, park and other local governments and authorities having jurisdiction confined to or within said territory or any part thereof and for the assumption by the city of Chicago of the debts and liabilities (in whole or in part) of the governments or corporate authorities whose functions within its territory shall be vested in said city of Chicago, and may authorize said city in the event of its becoming liable for the indebtedness of two or more of the existing municipal corporations lying wholly within said city of Chicago to become indebted to an amount (including its existing indebtedness and the indebtedness of all municipal corporations lying wholly within the limits of said city and said city's proportionate share of the indebtedness of said county and sanitary district, which share shall be determined in such manner as the general assembly shall prescribe), in the aggregate not exceeding 5 per centum of the full value of all property within its limits as ascertained by the last assessment either for state or municipal purposes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness; but no new bonded indebtedness other than for funding purposes shall be incurred until the proposition therefor shall be consented to by a majority of the legal voters of said city voting on the question at any election, general, municipal or special; and it may provide for the assessment of property and the levy and collection of taxes within said city for corporate purposes in accordance with the principles of equality and uniformity prescribed by this constitution; and may abolish all offices the function of which shall be otherwise provided for; and may provide for the annexation of territory to or disconnection of territory from said city of Chicago by the consent of a majority of the legal voters (voting on the question at any election, general, municipal or special) of the said city and of a majority of the voters of such territory voting on the question at any election, general, municipal or special; and in case the general assembly shall create municipal courts in the city of Chicago it may abolish the offices of justices of the peace, police magistrates and constables in and for that territory within said city, and may limit the jurisdiction of justices of the peace in the territory of said county of Cook outside of said city to that territory, and in such case the jurisdiction and practice of said municipal courts shall be such as the general assembly shall prescribe; and the general assembly may pass all laws which it may deem requisite to effectually provide a complete system of local municipal government in and for the city of Chicago.

No law based upon this amendment to the constitution affecting the municipal government of the city of Chicago shall take effect until such law shall be consented to by a majority of the legal voters of said city voting on the question at any election, general, municipal or special; and no local or special law based upon this amendment affecting specially any part of the city of Chicago shall take effect until consented to by a majority of the legal voters of such part of said city voting on the question at any election, municipal or special. Nothing in this section contained shall be construed to repeal, amend or affect section 4 of article 11 of the constitution of this state.

As will be seen by referring to the election returns the above proposition was approved by the voters of Illinois and the legislature empowered to pass a law or laws providing a scheme or charter of local municipal government for Chicago. Steps were taken immediately after the November election of 1904 to take advantage of the resolution above quoted and the following were appointed a committee to take the lead in framing the new charter: John P. Wilson, chairman; Judge M. F. Tuley, Judge Francis Adams, John S. Miller, B. A. Eckhart, B. E. Sunny and Mayor Carter H. Harrison.

THE SILK PRODUCTION OF THE WORLD.

The Silk Merchants' Association of Lyons, France, has published some statistics on the silk production of the world. According to these, which do not include the quantities of silk worked up in Japan and China, the world's production of silk in 1903 amounted to 39,980,820 pounds, the smallest output recorded for the past five years, as is shown in the following statement of the world's production:

	Pounds.
1903.....	39,981,000
1902.....	41,368,000
1901.....	42,393,000
1900.....	40,724,000
1899.....	41,498,000

In comparison with the production during the nineties, silk production shows an increase during later years, but this increase is principally in Asia and the Levant.

The Autographic Register . . .

is a loss-preventer and labor-saver. There is virtually no expense connected with its use, because it pays not only for itself, but a handsome profit besides, with the money which it saves. The money which it thus saves is clear profit, because it would otherwise be entirely lost.

You Will Be Surprised

To know how many wants in your business and home life can be supplied quickly and cheaply by little "want ads" in The Daily News.

If you want a maid or man, cook, girl for general housework, laundress, nurse, seamstress, stenographer, bookkeeper, skilled or unskilled labor of any kind; if you want to rent a room, house or flat; if you want to buy or sell a farm, city real estate, a horse or carriage, furniture, machinery or anything else; if you have lost your dog, watch, purse or valuable papers; in fact, if you want anything that another human being can supply, you are more likely to get it through little "want ads" in The Daily News than in any other way. Try it.

If you live in Chicago or its suburbs and have a telephone of your own you may telephone your "want ads" to The Daily News at any time and a bill for the same will be sent to you later. If you wish to employ help of any kind telephone your want to The Daily News before 11:30 a. m. and you will most likely have as many applicants as you desire in the afternoon. Advertisements received after 11:30 a. m. will be inserted in all editions of the following day.

TELEPHONE CENTRAL 483.

If you have no telephone your "want ads" can be left at any of our 600 branch offices (usually drug stores) throughout the city and suburbs.

Fifteen telephones in the office of The Daily News are used for receiving "want ads," and as many as 1,000 separate advertisements have been received in a single day.

If you do not live in Chicago your wants may be sent to us by mail or telegraph. Hundreds of advertisements are received in this manner from people with wants in all parts of the United States and foreign countries. You will find the cost for this service nominal and the results very satisfactory. For the convenience of people not living in Chicago we are pleased to open accounts for "want ads" sent by mail or telegraph.

If you do not wish your name and address to appear in an advertisement you can have all replies sent to a box number, which we will supply, in care of The Daily News, and all such replies will be promptly forwarded to you by mail or express.

The Best Printers Use the Best

TYPE

It is Superior Copper-Mixed Type
Cast on Barnhart's Lining System

Superior Copper-Mixed Type is, first and last, the hardest, toughest, most accurate, lightest, finest finished, most artistic, most durable type made. So say our customers; so said the award committee at the Chicago World's Fair.

The Barnhart Lining System—the system that's Point-Line, Point-Set, Point-Body—the system that cuts out kerned descenders the press will break—the system with perfectly graded sizes—the system allowing the largest use of two-point leads in justifying different sizes together. Ask us about this.

Superior Copper-Mixed Type gives you the greatest value for your money. It costs no more than other type; but it's worth lots more.

OLD RESIDENTS OF CHICAGO.

(Dec. 1, 1904.)

In the following list of men and women who have lived in the city or its suburbs for fifty-four years or more there are doubtless many omissions, though an effort has been made to make it as complete as possible. The names have been obtained from William H. Gale, Max Stern, John D. Murphy, H. C. Kelly, the Chicago Historical society and many other sources, but the dates of arrival in Chicago and ages have in almost every instance been furnished by the old residents themselves. Additions to this list, which will be continued in future editions of this publication, will be gladly received. Names marked with a * are those of persons born in Chicago or Cook county. Ages are given in parentheses:

THE AUTOPLATE

That The Chicago Daily News should now make its plates with the time and labor saving aid of the AUTOPLATE is almost a matter of course

The leading newspaper owners of the world are agreed that the AUTOPLATE is as necessary to their equipment as the typesetting machines.

It economizes not in one department only, but in three.

It saves time, and therefore money, in the pressroom and the mailing room as well as in the stereotyping room.

It makes better plates at less cost than the hand stereotyper.

To be without the AUTOPLATE is to be seriously handicapped in the newspaper race for supremacy.

RAILROAD TRACK ELEVATION IN CHICAGO.

[By John J. O'Neill, expert on track elevation.]

Ordinances have been passed by the city council and accepted by the railroad companies for the elevation of their roadbeds and tracks from May 23, 1892, to Dec. 31, 1904, covering the following amount of work:

Total number of miles of main tracks to be elevated, 138.1.

Total number of miles of all tracks to be elevated, 710.

Total number of subways to be constructed, 537.

Total estimated cost of the entire work, $44,240,250.

The amount of elevation that has been done from May 23, 1892, to Dec. 31, 1904, is as follows:

Total number of miles of main tracks elevated, 91.79.

Total number of miles of all tracks elevated, 447.95.

Total number of subways constructed, 362.

Total estimated cost of work done, $23,802,250.

Leaving work to be done under all the ordinances that have been passed from May 23, 1892, to Dec. 31, 1904, as follows:

Total number of miles of main tracks to be elevated, 46.21.

Total number of miles of all tracks to be elevated, 262.

Total number of subways to be constructed, 172.

Total estimated cost of work to be completed, $15,438,000.

Ordinances have been prepared and presented to the city council during the year 1904 which will undoubtedly pass the council before or shortly after Jan. 1, 1905, for the following amount of work:

Number of miles of main track, 17.25.

Number of miles of all tracks, 50.5.

Actual number of subways to be constructed, 83.

Estimated cost of work, $4,450,000.

The ordinances for this work which it is supposed will pass and be accepted will make a grand total of $48,690,250. The cost and expense of all of this work has to be paid for by the railroad companies interested.

What the Head of the Greatest World's Fair Says:

"On behalf of the Executive Committee of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company, and in accordance with the formal action of such committee, I am afforded much pleasure in tendering to the Gunning System the thanks of the Exposition Management for the valuable assistance and co-operation it has given.

"We note your suggestion relative to further publicity and shall endeavor to profit by it. Permit me to add that the generous manner in which your organization is aiding us in disseminating useful knowledge regarding the Exposition reflects great credit upon the public spirit and patriotism of its officers.

"With renewed assurances of appreciation and best wishes, I remain, Very truly yours,

TABLE OF CONTENTS

OF FIRST TWENTY VOLUMES (1885 TO 1904 INCLUSIVE) OF THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS ALMANAC AND YEAR BOOK.

NOTE—The figures following the year are the page numbers of that volume.

Back numbers of THE DAILY NEWS ALMANAC are available for every year since 1890 with the exception of the issue of 1897.

The first five issues—for the years 1885, 1886, 1887, 1888 and 1889—are bound in one volume, half morocco, library style. This volume is sold only to purchasers of complete sets of the almanac. A complete set embraces the library volume and a cloth-bound issue for each succeeding year. In figuring the price for complete set, add $1.50 for the library volume to the sum total for the issues of succeeding years at 50 cents each. Orders should be addressed to THE DAILY NEWS, 123 5th avenue, Chicago.

R. HOE & Co.'s

NEW COMBINATION SUPPLEMENT PRESS

This machine is designed to meet the demands of newspapers requiring a simple, efficient and moderate-priced Stereotype Perfecting Press for 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 page papers. It gives a running speed per hour of

10,000 8, 10 or 12 page papers, with all the leaves inset, pasted if desired, and the papers delivered folded and counted. The 8, 10 and 12 page papers are produced from a single set of plates.

Similar machines are also made to print 16-page papers, as well as the other products mentioned above.
